Ten local children take Red Cross test

Campkin's Inn was a beehive of activity last Wednesday afternoon as ten local children tried out for their junior and intermediate badges in Red Cross Water Safety.

On hand to test the youngsters was Sue Fleming of Oshawa, the area supervisor for Red Cross. Helping Sue was Kim Clarke, formerly of Madoc and now of Toronto, who returned this summer to instruct the junior, intermediate and some beginner groups in swimming.

During a morning session, at which Kim acted as examiner, 13 children in the pre-beginner category passed their water safety examination.

Also in the morning, 19 children in the 'tadpole' category were tested.

Those taking part in the junior level of testing during the afternoon were Rob Matchett, Paul Asselstine, Gregor Stickwood, Krista Bancroft and Janet Blackburn.

The intermediate swimmers who were tested included Kristi Bjorndahl, Dawn Wiggins, Arlene Brown, Tim Willemssen and George Davidson.

In order to pass their test, the juniors had to prove they were proficient in an oral test of water safety and demonstrate their ability in a reaching-assist rescue, artificial respiration, the deep dive, treading water, drown proofing and performing a 50 meter swim doing the crawl or side stroke as well as 50 meters in the elementary backstroke.

Beyond the level of competency shown by the juniors, the intermediates had to

We're on the move!

Sign painter Gary Brown is shown above putting the finishing touches on the new sign on the window of the Madoc Review Newspaper office at 21 St. Lawrence Street East. The newspaper moved into its new office last week in order to have more space for its expanding operation.

After more than 60 years at its previous location, the Madoc Review Newspaper has moved.

The move, made necessary by the rapid growth of the weekly paper since it was taken over by Cembal Publications Ltd. in 1975, is to 21 St. Lawrence Street East just north of the New Era Antique Shop.

In commenting on the move, which took effect last Friday, Joseph Cembal, owner of the tabloid paper which serves most of Centre Hastings, said that the relocation to larger quarters was necessary to enable the paper to best serve its approximately 2,000 subscribers in the area.

"We're constantly expanding our operation and I feel this move will provide better working conditions for our staff, as well as provide a more comfortable surrounding in which to serve our customers," he said.

The newspaper's present staff which includes Vincent Durant as editor, Jean Asselstine and Pauline Harris as office manager and Ken Andrews as advertising manager, will continue to serve the public from the new Madoc office, he said.

Jean and Pauline, who share the responsibility for taking new and renewed subscriptions, handling most of the classified advertising, and answering customers' questions, are pleased at the more than threefold increase in space in which they will be working.

Jean, who has lived in Madoc for more than ten years, will also continue to write her very popular column, "Around the Village". She can be reached during the day at the newspaper's number, which hasn't changed, 473-4476, or in the evening at home, and would like to remind her many contacts to let her know when out of town visitors come home to Madoc for the holidays.

Pauline, who is a native of Queensboro, will be handling the office during the afternoons.

Ken Andrews will be working out of the Madoc office several days each week. He would like to remind advertisers that any of the office staff will be pleased to help them out on matters relating to advertising in the paper.

Manpower office has successful summer

The Canada Manpower Centre for Students, which operated in the Centre Hastings Secondary School each Wednesday from June 22 to July 27 was successful in finding employment for 18 students, it was reported this week.

The Centre, which served Marmora, Tweed and Madoc, found jobs for unemployed students in such areas as farm laboring, waitressing, and babysitting.

As well, many local businesses received visits from the local placement officer, Jennifer Staveley, and learned more about the various hiring plans available through the federally-sponsored Student Employment Centre.

Approximately 145 students registered with the Centre, reported Miss Staveley, with a majority of his high school students under 18 years of age.

Within the whole district, headquartered in Belleville, there were 2139 students who registered with the summer placement service. Of these 1074 found work, with 780 being placed in regular employment and 294 placed in casual work. Regular employment is considered anything which lasts more than one week, while casual work is usually of less than a week duration.

Of the students registering within the county, 988 were female and 1151 male, the Centre reported.

Besides the centre's offices in Madoc and Belleville, a satellite office was set up in Bancroft which was open Wednesday and Thursday during the June 22 to July 28 period.

Thirty of the 70 registrants at the Bancroft office found employment, it was reported.

The majority of the jobs found for the Bancroft area students were in the small contractor and retail service industries. Homeowners also supplied a large proportion of the 30 jobs, it was reported.

Drew Gunsolus, the Student Placement Office at the Bancroft Office, said that, considering past years' performances at the office, "it would appear that the student summer job search continues to be a viable and desirable project in the northern area (of Hastings County)."

In summing up the activities in Hastings County for the summer of '77, Jennifer Staveley said that student employment should not be looked upon as a summer-only project. She stated that employers should be encouraged to seek student help year round on a part-time basis, particularly at Christmas and during 'sale' times.

Miss Staveley pointed out that students wishing to secure part-time work during the school year should register at the Manpower Office in Belleville.

Two ordained at Conference

The annual conference of the Wesleyan Church (former Wesleyan Methodist and Pilgrim Holiness Churches) convened on the Silver Lake Campground at Maberly, Ontario, July 20-24. Dr. Melvin H. Snyder, General Superintendent, was in the chair. He was assisted by the Superintendent of the Central Canada District, Dr. J.S.A. Spearman of Belleville.

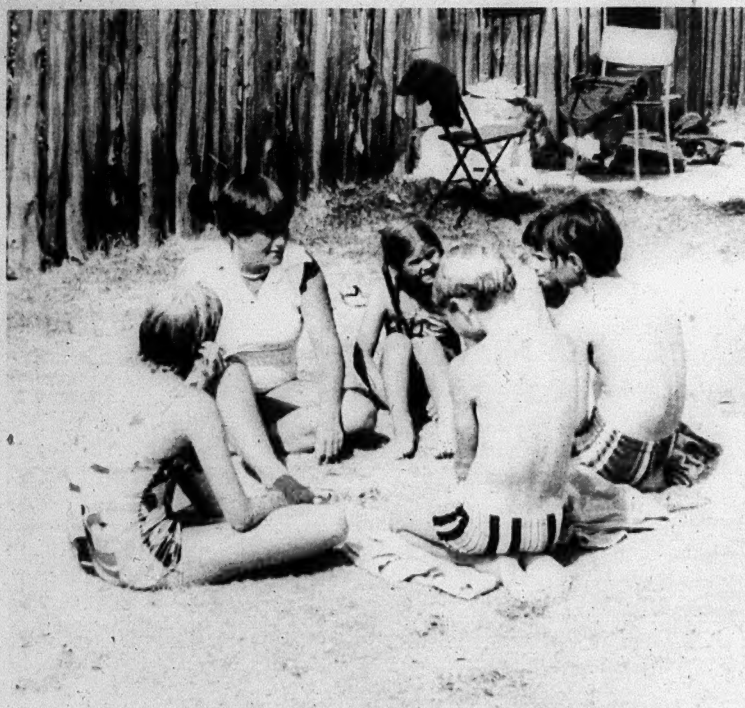

Music for the conference was supplied by Rev. and Mrs. Larry Mack of Madoc and the group "His Likeness" from Bethany Bible College.

A new Assistant Superintendent was elected, Rev. Murray McKnight of Brockville. Rev. Fred Irish, of Odessa was re-elected Secretary and Miss Eileen Baker, of Toronto, Treasurer.

Greetings were conveyed to the Conference from the sister denomination The Free Methodist Church, by Rev. J. W. Stonehouse of Carleton Place.

Two young ministers ordained to the ministry were Handford Branscombe, of Trenton and Mel Munchinsky of Roblin. In the ordination service Sunday morning Dr.

Madoc man dies in accident

A well known and highly respected Madoc man was killed as the result of an accident on Highway 7 just east of the 'Flinton' Road turnoff last Wednesday evening.

Randall Bradd Downey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Downey was driver of the 1970 Ford vehicle which went out of control and left the highway before overturning in the south ditch along the roadway.

A passenger in the Downey vehicle,

Scott A. Nickle, 18, suffered major injuries in the mishap and was taken to the Belleville General Hospital. Both Mr. Downey and his passenger were returning from Kaladar where they had been working for Earl Wartman, a Madoc contractor.

Mr. Downey, 22, was a graduate of Trent University. Damage to the vehicle amounted to $2,500 according to the police.

No charges were laid by the Ontario Provincial Police in the accident.

Letters to the editor

Reader says beer a No-No in Madoc

To the Editor:

As a former resident of Madoc, I look forward to receiving the home paper each week and read about the various happenings of Madoc and surrounding area.

Living in a big city, as I have for the past twenty-seven years, one misses the friendliness and closeness of the smaller community such as Madoc.

However it did sadden my heart as I read about the Kinsmen Summerfest and to see the emphasis that was put on the beer tent. Three times in a few paragraphs and a picture you mention drinking beer. In my youth in Madoc this was a no-no!

Now it seems this is all people live for. To people who remember me, this letter will seem strange but as the world today says "I have seen the light", and I quote from God's word, the Bible, 2 Corinthians 5:17 "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature, old things are passed away, behold, all things become new."

We say our young people are terrible today but sorry to say it is the older people setting the example in the wrong way for them.

I wonder if some evangelist came to Madoc and set up a tent for gospel meetings, if the service clubs would be as eager to help as they were at the recent Summerfest?

Again I thank you for having the paper come into my home and also allowing me to write a letter to the editor.

Yours truly,
Grant Lewis

Tossing Christians to lions no longer practical: reader

The editor, Madoc Review

The news media this week brought us perhaps an expected announcement of the four to five billion dollar nuclear station slated for Newcastle.

It seems Ontario Hydro and AECL have exempted themselves from any conclusions reached by the Porter commission enquiry, into energy policies for Ontario which is still in process.

We in Ontario have followed Quebec Hydro's lead; when they commenced construction of the James Bay project some two years before its environmental impact study terminated.

This then is the new game in the political ball park, since tossing Christians to the lions is no longer practical or legal, when the government encounters a dissident group, (mostly politically leaning to the left) we appoint an investigative body to hold public forum's. In this case all the anti-nuclear groups can let off steam without interfering with those all-too-important decisions already made in the board rooms of government.

All too often men with the integrity of Mr. Porter manage to be conned into refereeing these charades and many concerned people spend time and money going through the motions, in order that the government cannot point to a vacuum as showing no contest. (Unfortunately, seldom is there any change in policy as a result).

To quote a booklet issued by Energy Mines and Resources, "Why pay for flashy wasteful packaging?"

Well once again the Ontario taxpayer bought the Big Blue Machine opulent in its flashy wasteful covering.

Gun Law concerns Ellis

Jack Ellis, MP Hastings, is concerned that the proposed gun control legislation before the House of Commons has not been sufficiently debated.

Writing in his newsletter to constituents, Keeping in Touch, the Conservative member said that he felt "Justice Minister Ron Basford wanted his controversial Bill passed as quickly as possible, and severely limited debate time on the important areas covered in Bill C-51 by incorporating them into one single Bill."

Ellis went on to say that the "two important parts of this Bill are Gun Control and Wiretapping, which could have been better handled and more thoroughly debated if introduced separately."

Originally introduced into the Commons during the last session, the Gun Control legislation, then known as Bill C-83, died on the Order Paper, mainly through the opposition arguments against it.

Much of the original Bill, along with some of the recommendations of the opposition parties, are contained in the new legislation, Bill C-51.

According to Ellis, the most significant aspects of the new Bill are:

"(1) A gun registration procedure. Under Bill C-51, this is called a firearms acquisition certificate (FAC). It does not need two guarantors, as in Bill C-83. For existing gun owners, they will not be required to obtain an acquisition certificate, unless they decide to buy or acquire an additional firearm. This certificate will apply to all gun owners including hunters, farmers and ranchers. It would cost $10.00 and be valid for five years;

"(2) Firearm acquisition certificates would be required in the sale or transfer of any firearm whether private or by a dealer;

"(3) People with a record of violent crimes may not own or be in possession of a firearm;

"(4) Firearms can be seized from a dwelling by a Police Officer who must later justify this action in a Court of Law. Such a seizure may take place in the likely event that a firearm is about to be used in an illegal or dangerous manner;

"(5) Bona Fide gun collectors registered with local Law Enforcement agencies will not be affected, provided their collections consist of antique or non-restricted weapons;

"(6) Under no circumstances will anyone under 16 years of age be able to buy a gun. Only under adult supervision may a person under 16 years fire a gun."

DEPRESSION GLASS

This colourful glass is one of the most popular collectables today. Just a few years ago it was referred to as dime store junk glass. Now it is one of the largest fields in antique collecting. Many books have been written about it; some dealers stock only this glass; at least two museums have been built to house large collections; and more and more people are buying it to decorate their homes.

Collectors and dealers have given the name "Depression Glass" to the mass produced, machine made glass of the late 1920's and 30's. The new technique of machine pressed glass produced huge volumes of glass affordable to all during the Great Depression. Color was everywhere - pinks, blues, greens, deep tones of cobalt, burgundy, amethyst, plus frosted colors, milk glass, and opaques.

Most items were also made in clear glass, but in very small quantities compared with the abundance of colored glass made.

Clear Depression Glass is a sleeper on the market today. No doubt, it will become more popular and more popular and more expensive in the years ahead.

The elaborate patterns used to decorate Depression Glass were not simply decorative, they were also used to cover the imperfections of the cheaply made machine glass. Many pieces will have dents, ripples and rough mold lines, but nevertheless are considered to be in mint condition.

Theaters, service stations, cereal companies and others used this colorful glass to promote their products and services. Even today, you will hear people refer to this glass as "Oatmeal Glass" because so much of it was packed as a premium in boxes of oatmeal.

And how many remember going to the movies on Wednesday night to get their free piece of glass?

Cheap glass was everywhere in a rainbow of color with intricate and pleasing designs. Perhaps this helped to relieve the dull, gray days of the hard life during the depression.

Sandra McPhee Stout, one of the leading authorities in the field of Depression Glass, says that it is still impossible at this late date to identify all the patterns made during the depression era. Yet, she has devoted a lifetime to studying this glass, and has written three books on the subject. She is still uncovering new patterns every year.

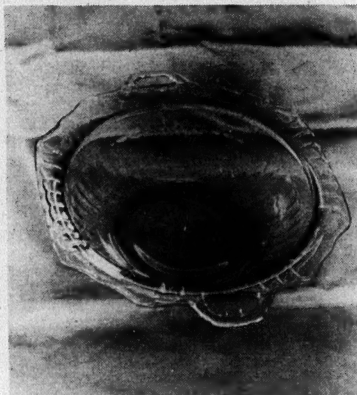

The 'new' find is one of the things that makes collecting Depression Glass exciting. It is one of the most interesting fields for the person who is just beginning to collect antiques.

It is possible to collect a complete dinner set in many of the patterns.

One of the trade catalogues listed the

Crunch!

Sometimes it doesn't pay to get your car repainted. Or at least that's how Larry Devolin feels following an incident outside his house last Sunday evening. Larry had recently purchased a 1971 Oldsmobile and had spent over $400 having the body repaired and a new paint job done on it. Then Sunday evening, around nine o'clock, he heard a crunch and went outside to find that Harry Woodcock of Belleville had bashed into the back of his newly painted car. The results of the accident, according to the Ontario Provincial Police, were $300 damage to the Woodcock vehicle and $150 damage to the Devolin car. Mr. Woodcock was charged by the OPP under section 83 of the Highway Traffic Act with dangerous driving.

Men once thought that stars were tiny lights on the inner side of a great, hollow globe.

Small boat skippers should always file a "float plan" says the Canada Safety Council.

The "float plan" is simple. Tell your yacht club, a neighbour or a relative where your boating trip is taking you, what general course you will follow, and when you expect to arrive. If you become lost the person in charge of your plan will be able to give search and rescue authorities a "fix" on your location.

27 YRS. AGO - 1950

While a large crowd gasped and shouted directions, Charlie Murphy, dare-devil parachutist, of Belleville, floating earthward narrowly missed hydro wires and automobiles in executing a safe landing between a row of parked cars at Crystal Beach on Sunday afternoon, July 9th. Murphy, who was blindfolded, jumped from 3,000 feet and fell 1,000 feet before opening his chute. He intended landing on the water but was carried by a strong wind over the land. He emerged from the jump with a badly bruised shoulder in what he claims was the toughest jump of his career.

Led by County Director Wilfred Phillips and District Director Stanley Moorcroft, twenty-eight lodges from Centre Hastings celebrated the 260th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne and marched in the traditional July 12th Celebration, held at Madoc. The event was staged by Cooper L.O.L. No. 253 and Copper United Church. Members of the L.O.L. dressed in their full regalia and accompanied by members of the L.O.B.A., dressed in white dresses, wearing large straw hats or carrying bright umbrellas made a colourful spectacle as the parade made its way from Madoc Fair Grounds to Elgin St., along Durham St. to St. Lawrence St. and back to the fair grounds. At the grounds a crowd of over 2,000 paid admissions and listened to stirring addresses, watched a softball game between Madoc and Cooper and renewed old acquaintances. At noon and in the evening the ladies of Cooper United Church served hundreds of meals, while the hot weather made ice cream and cold drinks in great demand throughout the entire day. This most successful celebration was brought to a close with a dance held on the grounds in the evening. Music was furnished by Geo. Wiley's orchestra.

Mr. Moore passed a brilliant examination, taking first-class honours and being awarded the silver medal in a very superior class of students. There are three cheese factories in Madoc Township that for volume of business done, as well as general efficiency will, we think, compare favourably with anything in this section of country. These are the Allen Settlement, Golden and Alexandria, the cheesemakers being respectively, Messrs. Chas. W. Thompson, Elliot Thompson and Thomas H. Thompson. One day lately the amount of milk received was as follows:—Allen Settlement, 35,300 lbs., Golden, 35,000 lbs., Alexandria, 29,600 lbs. This is a record that the Messrs. Thompson Brothers may well be proud of.

Every farmer should see the new patent bag-holder now being offered for sale by Mr. W.W. Hudgins, of this village. It is pronounced one of the most practical and useful inventions offered to the public for some time. Mr. Hudgins, the patentee, has a large number of the bag-holders now on hand, and will personally superintend the sales for the present.

Plowing match set for Kingston

The International Plowing Match still has over two months to go before the gates open on the Greenlees Bros. farm not far from Kingston. But already, several firsts have been arranged to make the show more interesting and convenient.

For the first time since sod was turned at the original event in 1913, the show will be opened by a woman. Flora MacDonald, MP for Kingston and the Islands has accepted the invitation to officiate at ceremonies on Tues., Sept. 27. The five day event runs to Sat., Oct. 1.

Another innovation is a six street plan for the tented city. The popularity of the plowing match over the past few years among rural and urban people alike has led to demands for a more spacious plan for the fully-serviced "community" which rises on the site. It is felt that six slightly shorter streets, rather than five longer ones, will improve convenience for everyone concerned from utilities, exhibitors and caterers, to the general public attending the show.

A third first is the introduction of a special traffic committee. Representatives of the Ontario Provincial Police, the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, the county engineer and township road superintendent are meeting with members of the Ontario Plowman's Association and the Frontenac County local committee to survey the road situation in the vicinity of the site. The committee is preparing routings, road closings, emergency routes and contingency plans to ensure that the expected crowds get to and from the site near Joyceville with minimal traffic problems. Once at the site, the gate and parking committees will organize admission, parking and transportation to tented city from the lots.

Final preparations are underway now to make the 1977 International Plowing Match a memorable event in this year's agricultural events calendar.

Remember when Durham Street looked like this? The picture was taken near Naylor's Garage in 1938 or 1939. The 'B-A' gas pumps on the right belong to the garage.

Come to Church this Sunday

During the summer months, we are suspending the weekly guest articles by clergymen in the Madoc area.

Instead, we will be presenting in this column several informed articles touching everyday life in a Christian society.

In September we will resume the guest articles by local clergymen.

Unity must come from the heart

There are a lot of people caught in the middle by the question of Quebec independence.

There are those in Quebec who feel isolated from the rest of Canada, who are deeply hurt when their language is booed at a hockey game in Toronto, but who don't really want to take the irrevocable step of cutting their ties with the rest of the country.

And there are those in English Canada who dislike the way bilingualism and biculturalism have been implemented and who worry about what appear to them unnecessary concessions to the French Canadians, but who would be devastated by a Canada without Quebec.

These people are not the convinced separatists who wish to leave regardless of the possibilities for change.

Nor are they the rabid Anglophones who think Canada would be better off without Quebec.

These are the people who are looking for serious reasons to keep Canada one nation and who are willing to recognize the reality that the present arrangement of Confederation is inadequate to meet the aspirations of Quebecers and also the aspirations of many non-Quebecers, especially in the Western provinces.

We clearly need a revised and up-to-date constitution which could draw people together, but there has to be a grander vision than the one we are generally presented with. First, there has to be something that will convince Quebecers that there is a better alternative in Canada.

Second, assurance is needed that western and Atlantic Province people, too, can be comfortable in this country.

That vision will not come from cost-benefit proposals or economic balance sheets. The country will survive into the next century only if we feel it should; if we have an emotional dimension - a tie of spirit that makes Canada special in our lives and in the lives of our children.

The fight for unity will not be won with economics, it will be won when we realize that Quebec is part of our definition of Canada and that Canada is part of Quebec's definition of itself.

Unity comes from the heart and the soul, not from sneering or namecalling and not from the provincial and federal treasuries.

Two poems "Three Monkeys sat in a coconut tree" and "Shooting Season" were read. Mrs. Velma Johns read the minutes and Correspondence.

Thank you notes were read from the Bateman family and the McIntosh family. Sorry to hear Mrs. Allan McCoy is in hospital, but glad to know she is improving.

New medical reference for libraries

The Ontario Medical Association 1977 Schedule of Fees has been sent to public libraries to give the public immediate access to information about the cost of medical services. According to the OMA president, Dr. Lazarus Loeb, each year the Association receives numerous enquiries from people who are genuinely interested in obtaining more information about doctor's fees.

Dr. Loeb said, "Many people would like to ask their doctor about the cost of medical services but are frequently too embarrassed to discuss the subject." He encouraged patients to talk to their doctor about medical costs. Dr. Loeb said that when people look for any other services they automatically ask for a cost estimate. "Since OHIP sends payment directly to the doctor some patients think the information is privileged, while others take medical care for granted and consider that all health services are free, which of course they are not," Dr. Loeb said.

The OMA Schedule of Fees lists recommended charges for professional services rendered by physicians. OHIP payment is 10 per cent less than the listed fee. Although it is a complex reference book with technical components and medical terminology, the Association recognizes the need for patients to have access to information about some of the costs of health care.

Ontario residents can now find answers to their questions about doctor's fees on their local public library reference shelf.

Around Queensboro

rake is their helper, Joe Hayton. The man with the suit on has been identified as a Mr. McCoy, who was visiting the factory. Apparently the building to the right in the photo, behind the factory, was used to keep pigs brought in by the local farmers. The pigs were fed by the cheesemaker with the whey from the cheese. We are grateful to Mrs. Pauline Dudgeon of Madoc for the use of the above photo.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lynn, Robbie and Jeffrey of Grafton spent a few days with Mrs. Will Lynn. They spent Tuesday visiting Lanark Kitten Mills.

A miscellaneous shower was held on Friday evening for Mrs. Glen Lewis (nee Rose Ann Laton) who was married some time ago. The shower was held in the Queensboro W.I. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Holmes and Dean of Trenton visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holmes on Sunday. They all called on Mr. and Mrs. Claude Keene, Cooper, in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rollins and Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson attended the Rollins reunion held in Plainfield Community Hall on Sunday.

Mrs. Bill Luukko, Mary, Jill and Andrew of Toronto spent a few days recently with Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holmes also Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ash, Madoc, visited Mrs. Thos. Ash in Green Acres Nursing Home, Trenton, on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Franklin spent a few days this week with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Franklin at their cottage on Trent River.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walker visited Mrs. Audrey Dafoe, Tweed, while Mrs. Alex Clarke visited Mr. and Mrs. Ken Walker, Tweed on Wednesday evening.

Another sidewalk sale

Browsers and buyers bartered and bargained during the sidewalk sale held in Madoc on July 22 and 23. The Businessmen's Association was so impressed by the turnout and response to the event that they are planning another later this month.

Amateur artists head for local library

Beginning and experienced painters alike will welcome the arrival in town of a special collection of books that deal with problem-solving for the artist.

In announcing this news, librarian Reta Spurring said, "Madoc Public Library is very fortunate to receive such an attractive and helpful group of books from the Lake Ontario Regional Library System's deposit collection. Every possible medium and technique is fully covered and a host of problems all artists encounter are dealt with and explained."

The books will be available for some months to come and artists are urged to take full advantage of this special opportunity, she said.

Nuclear energy is mainly responsible for its 60 per cent rate hike over the last two years.

At this point, for anyone who still gives a dam please send for and read a publication by Pollution Probe Ottawa, entitled "The Nuke Book" which carries many facts conveniently left out of AECL's glossy folders.

In reply to the cheap power theory, I quote Mr. Amory Lovins, Science Council of Canada, 1976, who suggests the true cost of Nuclear Power could be as high as $5,000 per kwh. Even one half that would be over twice the cost claimed by Ontario Hydro.

Compare this with NASA's estimates for the first industry produced wind generators similar to their 100 kwh unit at Sandusky Ohio at only $1,000 per kwh.

Even if the cost of alternate forms of non-polluting energy were higher initially, the cost of clean-ups and pollution attributed to conventional fueled stations will have to sooner or later be paid for; far outweighing any small capital costs difference, not counting the loss of clean air and water.

This is not to say that wind power is a total answer, we need to use solar power for heating homes where possible, but we must look for alternatives.

We should also conserve more, even if it means driving one ton of car at 30 miles per hour instead of two tons at 15 mph.

The returnable beer bottle so successfully used by the breweries should by now have shown the way to the Liquor Control Board, the Milk Marketing Board, Coke, Wilsons, etc.

An Ontario Task Force showed that returnable bottles generate more jobs, cost less to both the producer and consumer, eliminates countless tons of garbage and save at least 50 per cent of the electricity used by producers.

Maybe it is too much too hope for all our problems to be solved with the brilliance of the ice cream cone, but nuclear stations and reprocessing plants now rumoured for Victoria County instead of Mt. Moria are not the answer.

Yours truly,
Paul Whittaker

Reader calls local TV 'commercial-saturated garbage'

The editor,

The following is a copy of a letter recently sent to Jack Ellis, MP:
Dear Mr. Ellis,

My MPP, Clarke T. Rollins, has I believe, sent you a copy of a letter wrote to him earlier this year concerning television stations in our region.

I wish to register a strong complaint about the standard of programmes we receive from stations which masquerade as CBC-affiliates, namely CHEX-TV, Peterborough and CKWS-TV, Kingston.

For the past several years they have refused to carry certain CBC network programmes (particularly on Thursdays from 2100 to 2300 - when they usually air US-produced, violence-oriented, commercial-saturated garbage).

Is it not about time that the Quinte area had its own CBC repeater station - affiliated to either the CBC station in Toronto or Ottawa? Then persons like myself, who are denied access to full CBC programming - for which I am paying, thorough federal taxes - will receive equal treatment.

I believe that the CBC has recently built a French language TV repeater station in the area - this is a good thing - but there are a lot more Anglophones in the area who are not yet being properly served.

Also, we do not have access to a CBC radio station in the area, I wanted to view (and listen to) the Sunday Pops Concert this week (which was scheduled on CBC-FM Stereo) but none of the local stations appeared to carry it.

The CBC is doing a fine job in the programmes it puts out on radio and TV (despite the Prime Minister's views!) - unfortunately you have to be living close to a major metropolis (or in the far north) to re-receive full benefit of either.

Perhaps the time has come for all TV owners to purchase a licence - so that CBC can be more adequately funded and reach all Canadians - whether they live in Montreal, Moosonee, or Madoc!

I trust that when the House reconvenes you can investigate the possibilities of a rebroadcast station for CBC-TV and/or radio in the Quinte Area.

Sincerely yours,
David M. Handly

Naturalists seek water standards

"Ontario has failed to enact water protection standards which have any legal meaning," a problem fundamental to Great Lakes water quality protection. So says the Federation of Ontario Naturalists (FON) in a just-released submission to the International Joint Commission.

FON describes progress in the Great Lakes cleanup as "wildly mixed." The organization is sharply critical of "simply shameful tardiness" of the US in the area of waste treatment. It is despicable, says FON, that our joint lakes are still being treated as enormous sewers.

But the organization cautions that Canadian Authorities have "not shown a decisiveness to solve the 'hot spots' which dot our shoreline."

Among its major points, the submission: - accuses the Ontario Government of foot-dragging in implementing Environmental Assessment; - claims that Ontario has yet to satisfactorily tackle the Province's worst polluting industry - pulp and paper; - seeks action to save several Great Lakes fishes in imminent jeopardy of extinction.

"Progress to date has been erratic and has yet to achieve even one of the five general water quality objectives," says FON. "Until the framework of illegally finding standards, environmental assessment and landuse planning are in place, then long term water quality protection cannot be assured."

Representing 12,000 members and a further 46 federated natural history and conservation organizations, the Federation is an independent non-profit organization which promotes the appreciation, study and conservation of wildlife and natural areas throughout Ontario.

Tractor rollovers take high toll on Ontario farms

Tractor rollovers account for the highest number of farm machinery-related fatalities in Ontario.

"Many of these fatalities could be prevented by the safety-conscious use of equipment," says Michael Miller, consultant for the Farm Safety Association of Ontario.

Last year, tractor rollovers accounted for 15 farm fatalities (28 per cent of the total fatalities). Other tractor-related fatalities caused four farm deaths last year.

Sideways tractor rollovers are the major cause of fatalities. To avoid them, set wheels at the widest possible setting for the job, lock brake pedals together before high speed travel, and match the speed to operating conditions and loads.

Mr. Miller suggests using engine braking when going downhill and slow speeds for turning.

"It is important to avoid crossing steep slopes, if possible. Watch for depressions on the downhill side and bumps on the uphill side."

He advised operators to turn downhill, not uphill, if stability becomes a problem.

Stay as far away as possible from ditches and rivers, as the banks are steep. To help maintain stability, keep the front end loader as low as possible during transport.

Rearward tractor rollovers, although less frequent than sideways rollovers, are almost always fatal, says Mr. Miller.

"The tractor can hit the ground in less than 1½ seconds after the front wheels begin rising."

To prevent backward rollovers use weights to increase the tractor's stability. It is important never to hitch a load higher than the tractor drawbar.

Start a forward motion slowly and change speed gradually. If possible, avoid backing downhill.

Always drive around ditches. Should the machine be stuck in the mud try to back out first. Mr. Miller says that if backing out fails the safest bet is to pull the machine out with another tractor.

Another thing that makes it popular today is that prices are still reasonable for most pieces. However, some of the patterns and colours are already beginning

Cheese factories toured by English group

some of the representatives of the cheese marketing industry in England during their tour of the Eldorado Cheese Cooperative.

Canada produces some of the finest grades of cheddar cheese in the world. And Canada's cheese is marketed on a world-wide basis.

Realizing the positive impact which Canada's cheese exports have on the domestic economy and our balance of trade, the government recently invited seven representatives of the cheese marketing industry in England to inspect some of the manufacturer's plants here.

The inspection group toured the various cheese plants in the area, including the Eldorado Cheese Cooperative just north of Madoc, during the week of July 13.

Three representatives from the Milk Marketing Board; Allen Ketcheson, Lorne Hurd and Arnold Johnson, accompanied the group from England on their bus tour of the area.

Also accompanying the group were Allan Christianson from the Department of Trade and Commerce in Ottawa and Bill Derry of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture's Milk Industry Branch.

Snyder spoke from Isaiah 6 on "The Four Essentials Of The Making Of A Prophet." He maintained as the early preachers did "the right of the prophet to say 'Thus saith the Lord.'"

A unique feature on Thursday evening was a multi-media presentation showing the accomplishments of the general church during the last quadrennium. At this meeting on church extension, three pioneer projects on foot this year were outlined.

The educational institutions for the Northeastern Area were represented by Rev. Elmer Drury, from United Wesleyan College, Allentown, Pa.; Dr. George Huff from Houghton College, Houghton, N.Y., and Mrs. Vivian Cowan from Bethany Bible College, Sussex, N.B.

The Women's Missionary Convention, which ran concurrently, was conducted by the WMS Director, Miss Marie Evatt, from the church headquarters in Marion, Indiana. She brought a stirring message Sunday afternoon asking for rededication.

Other visitors from headquarters were Rev. D. Wayne Brown, Rev. Howard B. Castle and Dr. John Storey. Layman Storey, who manages the ministers' pension fund, is becoming known as "Mr. Pensions." To attend the conference, Dr. Storey flew his private plane to nearby Perth.

Saturday was devoted to S.S. workshops, a youth convention and rally.

On the farm front

4-H Members attended a Judging Seminar at the Farm of Ted Ray, RR2, Roslin.

Sponsored by the Hastings Holstein Club, the purpose was to acquaint members with judging.

Bob Burkitt was the official judge for the dairy classes, Holsteins from the Ray herd, and Ayrshires from the Elmvilla herd of Gerald Tummon.

Neil Reavie brought a class of Herefords for the beef section, and was the official judge.

Swine were provided by Harold Harris of Madoc, and field crops from the Agricultural office.

Lunch was provided by the Holstein Club for the forty 4-H members and guests.

The July meeting of the Madoc 4-H Calf Club was held at the farm of Raeburn Robinson, Eldorado on July 14. Dave Foley, our club leader gave a type demonstration on judging dairy cattle. A class of Holstein cows was judged by all of the members present.

Lunch was then served by the Robinson family to conclude the meeting.

We have invited the Stirling 4-H Calf Club to our next meeting.

The Achievement Day for the South Hastings 4-H Veterinary Science Club was held on July 14, hosted by leaders Dr. Clare and Evelyn Craig.

Each member submitted their project to the leaders and after a refreshing swim, supper was served.

The president, Peggy Morton, thanked Clare for his assistance during the club year, and for hosting the Achievement Day.

The Hastings 4-H Livestock Judging Club meeting was held on July 19 at the Legion Hall in Stirling.

The leader, Russell Hagerman, introduced the guest speaker, Doug Farrell of RR2, Roslin.

Doug discussed the grading system for swine, and gave some general comments on judging.

Forage - king of livestock feeds

By W.D. TIPPER,
AGRICULTURAL REPRESENTATIVE

In the last three years increased feed costs have dramatically changed the pattern of crop production. Our corn production program had reached an optimum level for the time being. It became apparent that the main thrust had to be in forage. What we are really looking at is the production of home grown protein. We are all aware of the high levels of protein that can be got out of legumes by early cutting and proper storage. The same can be said for grasses because forages are grasses and legumes.

No crop just happens. Good forage stands as a result of good seed selection, good fertility, good management. The end product is what we convert to milk and meat. The returns there are what we actually see in dollars and cents value in forages.

Speaking of good fertility, Neil Moore, Soils & Crops Specialist, writes from Lindsay about fertilizing the forage crop. "Your forage crop can produce high yields per acre providing you fertilize it properly."

Start by taking a soil test. Acid soils, pH 6.0 or less, should be limed the year before seeding at rates indicated by the test. If the magnesium reading is 100 or less, dolomitic limestone should be used.

A band placement of a high phosphate fertilizer about 2 inches directly below the seed is recommended for rapid seedling growth and better stand. Band seeding can be accomplished by drilling the fertilizer through the furrow opener and dropping the forage seed on the soil surface directly behind the furrow opener. Higher rates of phosphate should be applied where the soil test indicates. Additional phosphorus in the spring or with potassium in August or early September. Potassium is particularly important on sandy or loamy soils. Spreading manure on snow may cause an ice pack to form under the manure and smother the legumes.

Stands which contain less than 50 per cent legumes and also contain brome, orchard or timothy grass, require nitrogen. The nitrogen should be applied as early in the spring as possible. Apply no more than 150 pounds per acre at one time to avoid possible nitrate toxicity. If more than 100 pounds of total nitrogen per acre is required, apply up to 50 pounds per acre in late August or early September. This later summer application stimulates tillering and early spring growth of the grasses.

Looking at what actually is being done in Hastings County, I talked to Art Palmateer of Tweed about this program.

In 1976 on a 15 acre field he fertilized as soon as the first cut of hay was off. Fertilizer used was 0-20-20 at 250 lbs. per acre. After the 2nd cut he had a total of 3,000 bales off the 15 acres. This year applied another 250 lbs. per acre of 0-20-20 but this went on in early spring. It is going to be interesting to see the end result. Here we have two different types of year and two different times of fertilizer application. We'll follow this one to get figures later in the year.

The Township of Wollaston has received a cheque in the amount of $29,000. to assist with housing repairs to eligible applicants.

Settler's cabin recycled at mill

Originally a settler's cabin, the re-assembled structure recently moved to the O'Hara Mill historic site will be used as a smithy. The cedar logs, some of them more than 150 years old, were found to be in good condition, according to the contractor who dismantled the cabin and moved it to the Mill site.

First it was beer and pop bottles, then newsprint, and now logs - nothing, it seems, escapes the modern trend towards re-cycling the old.

This time, it's the logs of the old - some estimate more than 150 years - settler's cabin which until recently sat at the Sheffield Township Moira River Conservation Association site south of Kaladar.

Old logs

Originally the old cedar logs were part of a settler's cabin somewhere in Hastings County. No one is sure of the cabin's exact location, but last year the MRCA decided that where it should go would be among the other historical artifacts and buildings which populate the O'Hara Mill historic site three miles north of Madoc.

The MCRA contracted Doug Whiteman of Flinton to dismantle and truck the former cabin to the O'Hara site, a distance of some 40 miles. Once on the site, Whiteman and his helpers re-assembled the cabin, to be used now as a smithy.

The workmen hired by Whiteman; Harvey Andrew, Jim Whiteman (brother of the contractor) and Donald Freeburn, all of Flinton, are finishing up the caulking of the walls of the re-assembled cabin.

Insulation

To fill in the chinks between the logs the men are using fibreglass insulation and cement. However, Donald Freeburn remembers the days when he worked in living accommodations made of logs and animal waste was used for the caulking. Maybe recycling isn't as new as one would think!

It's expected that the new smithy will be open to the public sometime in the fall of this year.

Plowing match expects good showing in ladies' class

This year's Ladies Program is expected to be the largest and the best in the history of the International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Show.

To accommodate visitors, two huge tents will be erected in the tented city, each having a seating capacity of 550 people. A highly skilled master of ceremonies will be in charge each day to provide continuity to the shows and create a friendly atmosphere.

The show will commence each morning at 10 a.m. with music and song. This part of the program will be provided by local school choirs.

Further entertainment of this nature will be provided periodically throughout the daily programs by provincially recognized talent groups. Frontenac is fortunate in having several of these groups in or near the county. They include the Gadabouts, Sweet Adelines, Parr Christie Singers, Barbershop Quartet all of Kingston and the Swinging Sixties of Gananoque.

But music and song is only a small part of each day's activities. The programs will include all sorts of demonstrations, using a combination of expert personnel and local talent.

A small sampling of the numerous presentations would include: An Oriental Cooking school, New Ways with old standbys (squash and beans), Panasonic microwave ovens demonstrations, men's and women's modern fashion show, the occasional yesteryear fashion show, flowers and things (possibilities with flowers of every season) and many, many more. Every hour of every day will be exciting and interesting.

One very special event taking place, Fri, Sept. 30 from noon until 2 p.m. will be the production of a CBC farm broadcast under the direction of Barbara Peacock.

In addition to the programs being presented in the two theatre tents, two more tents will be erected for crafts. One will house the facilities used in the actual process of spinning and weaving, rug hooking, quilt making, chair caning, furniture repairing and many other highly interesting home crafts.

The other tent will be used entirely for products sales. It is expected that a generous and varied supply of crafts will be available for purchase by visitors. A brief listing includes paintings, petit point, jewelry, skating supplies, dolls, candles, plus many others.

This large and impressive women's program is being arranged under the capable chairmanship of Mrs. Gerald (Frances) Greenlees, a farm wife and community leader. It promises to be a great show and Mrs. Greenlees says: "Don't forget to mention, we have dozens of prizes to give away".

BP Canada tries to teach road safety

During 1975, 9,263 children under the age of 14 were involved in traffic accidents in Ontario and 133 of them died as a result.

Recognizing the need to reduce this tragic loss of young lives, BP Canada, in co-operation with the Ontario and Quebec Safety Leagues, has launched a unique road safety campaign designed for children in the particularly vulnerable five-to-nine age group. It is intended to teach primary-grade children the fundamentals of road safety in as attractive and exciting a way as possible.

The BP Canada Road Safety Show utilizes a full range of equipment or - to use the theatrical term - props, including a miniaturized car, ice cream truck, police motorcycle, bicycle and traffic lights and signs to stage a 40-minute play. It demands the active involvement and participation of the children and many of them are used to play pedestrians and drivers in the show.

Elmer the Safety Elephant, much to the delight of the children, is also on-stage to guide the kids in the demonstration of his safety rules. Of course, most of the children are familiar with Elmer through their more formal road safety education and they always greet his appearance with enthusiastic applause.

The directors of the show, Jocelyne Dougherty and Yves Boudreau enjoy taking part in this unique venture. Jocelyne is a graduate of the University of Montreal and has taught elementary school. The vivacious young lady has appeared with several amateur theatre groups in her native city and puts her theatrical talents to good use with the Road Safety Show.

Before he joined the touring BP 'company', Yves worked with children as a swimming instructor. Both Yves and Jocelyne are bilingual and can present the show in either language with ease.

Jocelyne notes that their young audiences are eager to participate. The problem comes in selecting which of the children they will - or can - use.

"We can only use a small child in the car for example", she said, "but frequently it's a taller, heavier child who is determined to drive it... and that can create a problem."

So far, she says, they have always managed to smooth over the situation and persuade the child to assist in another scene.

With all those children and the equipment on stage, the team has to be watching everything.

"We have only had one accident", Yves laughingly recalls. "An over-enthusiastic junior policeman really gunned the tiny motorcycle and crashed into the ice cream truck. No one was hurt, fortunately, and we quickly turned it into part of the play".

BP Canada looks at the project in terms of several years.

"Response from schools has been overwhelming", Jocelyne points out.

The couple began their tour in May this year. During the summer months they accept invitations to appear at community centres, shopping malls and parks. Then in September, it's back to the schools.

The BP Canada Road Safety Show will be performing daily at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, from August 17 to 25 (inclusive). The show can be seen at Kids Place, at the side of the Arts and Crafts Building, one block south of the Dufferin Street entrance to the CNE.

Several local children dove into the action last Wednesday as the Red Cross held its junior and intermediate examinations at Campkin's swimming pool south of Madoc.

Swimming pools ever increasing in popularity

Every year thousands of Canadians are installing backyard swimming pools. And, in sultry summer weather, during a long day at the office or a hard day around the house, what could be more pleasant than to look forward to a cool dip in the backyard swimming pool?

But, invigorating as a swim can be, home swimming pools present certain hazards unless special precautions are taken.

In North America every year, thousands of children and adults are treated for injuries associated with both above-ground and in-ground swimming pools and a number of people have drowned in home swimming pools.

The major accident patterns are: 1, falling on slippery walkways, decks, diving boards or ladders; 2, striking the bottom or sides of the pool while diving or sliding; 3, drowning while swimming alone or without adult supervision; 4, striking protruding water pipes, ladders or other objects in the pool.

The construction of the pool and the surrounding area is important to the safety of its users.

Non-slip materials on the deck, diving boards and ladders should be used...but if these are not cleaned regularly, water will collect and algae will begin to grow making them slippery. The steps of ladders should be at least three inches deep.

Sudden drops in the depth of the pool should be avoided and safe diving areas should be indicated with a different colour on the pool bottom as well as by painted numbers at the edge of the pool indicating the water depth at various points.

All water pipes should be flush with the walls and the bottom of the pool.

Electrical systems should be installed by licensed electricians and in accordance with recognized standards for safety published by the Canadian Standards Association (CSA).

Diving boards should not be used in pools with inadequate depths. Although the recommended depth is 8½ feet, the method and skill of the diver is really what determines the safe depth. When diving, the individual should go straight off the end of the board.

Although standards for water depths under slides have not been established, a slide should never be put in the shallow end of the pool where a person sliding headfirst could hit the bottom and be seriously injured. When sliding it's much wiser to use the "sitting down, legs first position".

A safety float line should be placed across the pool where the bottom slope begins to deepen (approximately at the five-foot level).

Essential rescue devices and first aid equipment should be handy at the pool...a floatable shepherd's crook could be especially useful.

Most municipalities have regulations for safe pool construction and these should be checked thoroughly.

Swimming is fun and good exercise. With safe construction, good maintenance and adherence to safety rules, a backyard pool can make those sweltering days in summer a little cooler and a little happier.

A busy season for provincial parks

Summer is officially here and with it comes the ever increasing use of provincial park facilities. The five parks in the Lindsay District, Darlington, near Bowmanville; Serpent Mounds, on Rice Lake near Keene; Mark S. Burnham, on the outskirts of Peterborough; Emily, just north of Orillia; and Balsam Lake, west of Coburn, are experiencing another busy season. The unusually dry and warm weather in May and June resulted in an increase of over 13,000 camper nights at the district parks this year in comparison to the same time period last season. This represents an increase of over 21 per cent.

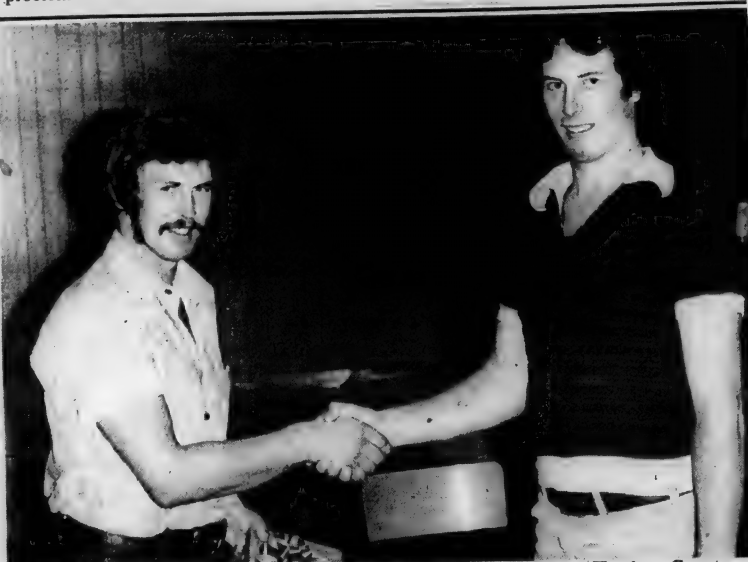

There has also been an increase of 17 per cent in sales of daily vehicle permits this year which represents over 152,000 visitors to Lindsay District parks. This increase puts extra strains on park facilities and staff at times but we enjoy the popularity of the parks and welcome you. Should you be planning a camping trip we recommend an early start, if possible, as traffic usually hits its peak at parks in this District between 6:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. on Friday evenings. To prevent disappointment in finding your favourite campground full, it is to your benefit to contact the Provincial Park Vacancy Office, at 1-416-967-0427 between 9:00 a.m. and 9:00 p.m., June 15 to September 5 for an up-to-date vacancy report.

Many radio stations also carry reports on campsite vacancies during the weekends. We wish to remind you these reports are only for vacancies in provincial parks and the many private parks in the area where your trip is planned should be considered as an alternative.

Increased park use unfortunately brings with it an increase in rowdiness and vandalism in our provincial parks. In an on-going program to reduce this major problem, twelve park wardens appointed in the Lindsay District received special training through the co-operation of the Ontario Police College. Under the Provincial Parks Act, these officers have all the powers of the Ontario Provincial Police within a provincial park. Unfortunately they have found it necessary to use these powers exceedingly more often this year than in previous years.

There has been an increase this year of over 60 per cent in acts of rowdiness and vandalism in some district parks. This has resulted in over 190 charges being laid for various violations under Provincial Statutes and the Criminal Code. This represents an increase of over 79 per cent. With the park users co-operation and assistance, the problems caused by a minority of park visitors will be drastically reduced. If during your park visit, you or your family notice anything unusual or are disturbed by other park users, please report the incident as soon as possible to the park staff. Most parks maintain 24 hour office service, seven days a week during the peak summer season. Your identity will always be kept confidential and your assistance will enable park staff to control the problem when it arises.

been visiting farms in Hastings County as part of an exchange program operated between Scotland and Canada since 1951.

From Scotland to Hastings

From the highlands of Scotland to the highlands of Hastings County, David Irving has enjoyed his whirlwind tour-de-force in an effort to find out more about the thing in life he already knows best - farming.

Irving, who arrived in Ontario on July 17 and in Hastings County on July 17, is a representative of the Scottish Association of Young Farmers' Club.

Before winding up his visit to our county last week, Irving stayed one week each at the farms of Gerald Eggleton of Thurlow Township and Allan Lott of Roslin.

In Scotland Irving operates, with his father and brothers, a 400-acre beef farm. He is glad at the opportunity to get some insight into dairy farming offered by his visit to the Eggleton farm, he said.

The program under which Irving made his visit to Canada was started in 1951 by the Scottish Association of Young Farmers. The program this year sponsored ten farmers from the United Kingdom - four each from England and Scotland, and two from Northern Ireland - on visits to Canada.

Following a reception in his honor in Thurlow last Thursday evening Irving moved on to his next stop in the Toronto area. Later he hopes to spend some time in Western Canada visiting relatives before returning to his home in Scotland.

While most of the spectators at the Trent River Regatta Saturday afternoon watched from the government docks, a few had a more appropriate view of the boat races, canoe jousting and water skiing demonstrations held during the day. The annual regatta is sponsored by the hamlet's rod and gun club and concludes with a baseball game between the villagers and the cottagers.

Forest fire season in Ontario has been quieter than predicted

To date, the forest fire season in Ontario has been much quieter than predicted, except for a flare-up in the spring, Natural Resources Minister Frank S. Miller said today.

"The reasons are a recent return to normal weather patterns, and the success of extra efforts made early in the year to beef up the province's forest fire fighting system," he said.

Because of a prolonged drought of more than two years, the 1977 fire season was expected to be even worse than last year's record-breaking season. But several weeks ago, rainfall patterns returned to normal and that has brought about a return to a normal fire season," Mr. Miller said.

But the fires in the spring, he said, had been as bad as predicted -- "even a little heavier than we had expected."

On July 15, exactly half way through the 1977 fire season, 1,604 forest fires had been reported throughout Ontario and 19 were still burning. On that date last year, 1,584 fires had been recorded and 64 were burning.

Normally, Ontario experiences 1,200 to 1,300 fires during the entire season, which runs from April 1 to October 31.

Mr. Miller stated that "the Ministry's one-year $7 million 'enhancement' program has enabled firefighters to deal more effectively with fires as they have started.

"But", he warned, "any eight to ten-day period anywhere in the province without rain could result in a large number of new fires with control problems similar to last year."

The $7 million in additional funds allocated to forest fire prevention and suppression -- on top of the basic allocation of $14 million -- was spent on improving aircraft detection systems, a public campaign to prevent fires, hiring additional trained firefighters, improving training programs and contracting extra helicopters and water-dropping aircraft for the critical period of the fire season.

"With our additional resources, our extra crews and equipment, we were able to continue to move more quickly to control fires before they became large," Mr. Miller said.

"The approach used in this year's operation has been to concentrate on initial attack," he said. "The idea has been to get there quickly and keep the fires small."

"So far it's working."

Because of the return to a normal summer fire season, the Minister added, the Ministry hopes that part of the extra funds allocated to the enhancement program can be returned to the Provincial Treasury.

Ministry officials are now analyzing where, and how much, money can be saved because of the return to a normal fire season, he said.

Mr. Miller expressed his appreciation of those members of the public who have exercised caution with fire and smoking materials in Ontario's woodlands this year.

But, he cautioned, the potential danger is still great for the rest of the 1977 fire season.

"I must urge Ontarians who work or play in the province's forests to continue to be as careful as possible with fire, he said.

Scottish world festival tattoo to return

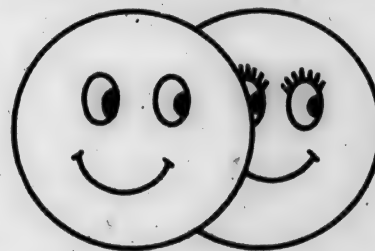

The skirl of the world's finest bagpipers and the swirl of thousands of kilts will feature the return of the widely acclaimed Scottish World Festival Tattoo to Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition, August 18 to 21.

Toasted as the world's greatest spectacle of Scottish glory and pageantry, the Scottish World Festival will bring together close to a thousand of the finest pipers and drummers from Scotland, England, Northern Ireland, the United States and Canada.

Taking part in the Toronto Tattoo will be such "Masters of Piping" from the British Isles as Edinburgh Police, Dysart and Dundonald, Glasgow Skye, Shotts and Dykehead Caledonia, Red Hackle, St. Patrick's Donaghmore, Muirhead and Sons, Polkemmet Colliery, Ayr Society, Bucksburn and District and Robert Armstrong Memorial.

Also flying to Canada will be such famous British army pipe bands as the Brigade of Gurkhas, Royal Scots Dragoon Guards and Royal Highland Fusiliers. They will be joined by the City of Dunedin Pipes and Drums from Florida, the Triumph Pipe Band of Vancouver plus the Metro Toronto Police, Toronto Scottish Regiment and 48th Highlanders of Canada pipe bands -- all in all, the greatest concentration of the world's finest bagpipers.

Council to investigate noise pollution

The issue of noisy teenage groups hooping it up on Durham Street after midnight was discussed at the August meeting of Madoc Village Council.

Following up on complaints received by Council, it was decided that the Clerk of the Village, Marilyn French, should check into the curfew by-laws in force in Madoc.

Mrs. French was also asked to check with the Ontario Provincial Police regarding enforcement of the by-laws and their regulations.

The matter of excessive noise within the village has become a major concern for residents of the Village as well as visitors to the area.

VISITORS UPSET

One such visitor interviewed by this newspaper reported that the noise on a recent Friday evening reminded her of "downtown Montreal - at rush hour!"

Another visitor expressed shock at the difference between Madoc during the summer as compared with the winter months. She found the village to be much quieter in winter.

Indeed, one recent Saturday evening, a car laid a strip of rubber from the intersection of St. Lawrence and Durham Streets all the way up past the LOL Hall. The intersection was filled with acrid black smoke for more than three minutes following the tire-burning scene.

"Idiot", was the comment which the performance received from one passerby who had witnessed the incident.

Calling for tougher enforcement of speeding regulations within the Village, many residents have expressed fear for the safety of their children.

Other areas in addition to Durham Street where noise and automobile speeding has become prevalent in the past few months include the area near the intersection of Rollins and St. Lawrence Streets and the straight stretch of road past the Kiwanis Centre.

"It's ridiculous", commented one passerby last week as he witnessed yet another tire-burning scene reminiscent of a Hell's Angel's movie.

SEEK SOLUTION

But how do you solve the problem? That seems to be the key point to which many residents are turning their attention.

One suggestion which has been suggested is the use of speed bumps in the road near intersections and on straight stretches of road within the Village.

Such bumps, a couple of inches high, are scarcely felt when crossed at less than 30 miles per hour.

However, anything more than the speed limit will make it very uncomfortable for even the most stout-kindred Evel Knievel.

Subscription drive underway

In an effort to maximize the readership of the Madoc Review Newspaper, a special subscription campaign is being carried out this week in the Centre Hastings area.

Spearheading the campaign is Michael Mann, an employee of one of the sister newspapers of the Madoc Review, the Heritage, in Amherstview, Ontario.

Mr. Mann has had wide experience in business and newspapers, having worked for the Toronto Star and the government of Ontario before going to the Heritage.

During the weeklong drive, Mr. Mann will also be establishing new outlets for the Review in the area north of Madoc.

"We owe it to our advertisers", said Joseph Cembal, owner of the Madoc Review Newspaper, in commenting on the year old fossils on display in Madoc last Wednesday. The touring museum was parked outside the Library from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Mr. Sawley, a former woodcutter who worked during 1957 and 1958 for the Faraday Uranium Mine near Bancroft, said that he found the exhibits 'fascinating'.

Museummobile visits Centre Hastings

by VINCENT DURANT

Ontario residents are being given a glimpse of the past they have never known through the efforts of the Royal Ontario Museum's Museummobile, a travelling showcase of artifacts and fossils.

The converted GMC bus, driven by Museummobile Interpreter Tom Linderloos, made a tour of the Centre Hastings Region last week, stopping at Marmora on Tuesday and Tweed and Madoc on Wednesday.

Inside the bus fossils from the Ordovician Period of Ontario's history, lasting approximately from 500 million to 650 million years ago, are displayed in glass cases.

It was during the Ordovician Period in the history that Ontario was a sparkling tropical sea bordered by the bare, barren rocks of the Canadian Shield, explains Mr.

Linderloos, whose job it is to keep the bus rolling throughout Ontario from the beginning of April to the middle of December each year.

During the winter months he will be travelling in a van from school to school, setting up demonstrations with portable showcases of fossils.

One of the main attractions in the Museummobile is the small movie screens which are projected movies of the various fishes, plants and animals which the fossils represent.

In one of the movies an idea of the dominant Ordovician life form, the torpedo-shaped nautiloid molluscs, is given by showing their modern, look-alike descendants, the squids. This particular species of the squid, Loligo opalescens, mates en masse. The male, which has dark tentacles, grasps the female and pushes her, tentacles first, into the egg masses to deposit more eggs. Most of the squids die soon after and are littered all over the sea floor, much as fossil nautiloids are found in the rocks of southern Ontario.

Nautiloid shells twelve feet long have been found - such nautiloids were the giant squids of the Ordovician Period.

Mr. Linderloos, who taught public school in Toronto before being hired by the Royal Ontario Museum, said that the turnout for the Museummobile's tour through Centre Hastings has been quite enthusiastic.

Project sought

A grant of $2,000 to the Centennial Committee for a 1978 Heritage Project was approved by the Village Council at their regular monthly meeting held on Aug. 1.

The Heritage Project, which will be partially funded by a grant from the Ontario Government, has not yet been decided upon yet, according to Committee Chairman Doug Pigden.

One of the suggested projects which the Committee might wish to carry out as a lasting memento to the Village's 100th anniversary was the refurbishing of the former Village Hall - now used by the Baptist Church, as a museum to house the many artifacts denoting the rich history of Madoc.

Presently many of the antiques and historical books, pictures, etc. from Madoc's past are finding their way into museums in larger centres such as Belleville.

At a meeting several months ago, the Centennial Committee heard from some of the long-time Madoc residents that the basement of the old Village Hall was the first jailhouse in this area. It was this information, along with the prospect of having a permanent museum within the village, which sparked much interest in the idea on the part of the Committee members.

The Heritage Project will be discussed further at an upcoming meeting of the Centennial Committee.

push to bring the weekly tabloid to the areas north of the Village.

"Many of the shoppers who come to Madoc are from the area north of here," he said, "and I feel it would help the local merchants if their weekly specials are getting to the people up there."

As for the news from those areas, he expressed a hope that news columns such as those now used for Queensboro, Huntingdon and Hazzards Corners, could be established on a weekly basis for such places as Cooper, Coe Hill, Gilmour and other communities to the north of Madoc.

"We've overcome our space problems," he said in speaking of the recent move to the Review's offices to their larger quarters at 21 St. Lawrence St. East, "and now is the time to expand the service we can offer our readers and advertisers."

Arena demolition approved

At the August meeting of Village Council, it was decided that the old Madoc arena should be torn down.

The motion to have the 48 year old structure, which was condemned by the Ontario Government more than one year ago because its roof was found to be unsafe, was made by Deputy-Reeve Tom Deline.

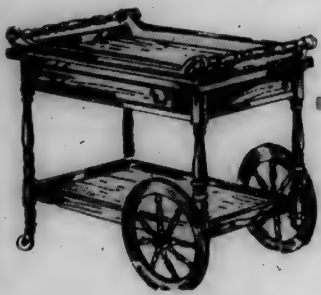

Since the time the old arena was condemned a new community centre located at the fairgrounds just north of Madoc, was built. The new building was officially opened during the 1977 Winter Carnival last February.

Council decided that the old arena would be "torn down and removed from the site within a time period to be (later) specified." The motion went on to state that "the site should be left in a presentable state to be established by the Village lawyer, and that the property be held by the Village for future consideration."

Councillor Daryl Kramp seconded the motion to have the structure removed.

Following the meeting, Marilyn French, the Secretary-Treasurer for the Village said that the Village lawyer would be asked to draw up tender specifications to be advertised in the near future. From the responses to the tender call it is hoped that a suitable contractor can be found to carry out the demolition work on the old structure.

The salvageable wood and other materials contained in the building will be netted against the cost of the Village for the demolition work, and will be carted away by appointed hired contractor, she said.

A GLANCE AT FURNITURE

Man's interest in furniture as a means of beautifying his home and giving him pleasure as well as comfort was awakened late in the Renaissance. For many years after the end of the Middle Ages, the house and its furniture remained austere medieval.

The earliest furniture to survive (not exclusively in museums) is from that age referred to as the Tudor Period. Chests especially have survived; large boxes have always been made in quantity for dry storage.

In Tudor times these same boxes served as seats, tables and even beds.

In fact, in the early Tudor Period the box or chest was about the only furniture to be found in the home; both in the manor house and the worker's cottage.

Almost all were made of oak. The same chest used to store the mountains of bed covers of the period doubled as a table for the mid-afternoon meal, and at night served as a platform on which to sleep. Smaller chests or boxes doubled as seats. It was only in the mid-Tudor period that chest started the slow process of becoming a chesterfield.

From these simple beginnings came the furniture that we use and collect today.

Furniture today is known by the period in which it was developed.

There are basically six periods that are of interest to us: (1) Tudor Period (1485-1603); (2) Stuart Period (1603-1714); (3) Georgian Period (1714-1800); (4) Regency Period (1800-1830); (5) Victorian Period (1830-1901); and (6) Edwardian Period (1901-1925). Of course, each of the broad categories had many sub-periods, e.g. Queen Anne, Chippendale, Windsor, Empire, etc.

Of greatest interest to the antique collector today are the Victorian and Edwardian periods. The rather simple-lined furniture of the early Victorian Period is very popular. Most Empire furniture is veneered with plumed mahogany, burl walnut or patterned rosewood.

Contrary to the belief of some that all antique furniture was made of solid wood, much of the beautiful furniture of the past was veneered.

When the exotic woods of the New

someone thought to put a back on these boxes to begin the evolution of the chair as we know it today.

During the latter part of the reign of Henry VIII and the entire reign of Elizabeth I, commerce expanded to include all of Europe and the Near East. With increased communications, a new awareness began to show itself in furniture. The influence of Italian furniture began to show itself in style and taste. Carved ornaments were added to the plain oak chest, pillows were placed against the wall and the long verticle to the floor for easy storage.

World reached the furniture makers, there was a great rush to walnut, mahogany, and rosewood. When the maker realized that some parts of the tree made more attractive furniture than other parts, he began to slice the selected part very thin and used it to cover the face of the piece of furniture. Thus began the use of veneer that continues today.

The mid-Victorian Period was a re-action against anything plain or straight. It was during this era that the elaborately carved and curved furniture made its appearance. There was no motif that wasn't used to decorated furniture; flowers, leaves, urns, medallions, and sometimes faces and human forms. This period was short-lived. The heavily carved rococo furniture grew tiring and was discarded. Yet, today it is sought after and considered to be one of the most desirable forms of the Victorian Age.

Antique Alley

This bureau is a fine example of Canadian furniture from the first half of the

As a reaction against the heavily decorated furniture, the rather severe lines again made their appearance. Rosewood, mahogany, and walnut was rejected by the buyers of the late Victorian and Edwardian age. Oak became the wood of the day. The quarter-sawn and mission oak seen in so many homes today came from this period.

In the weeks ahead, we will break down this broad history of furniture and discuss the sub-periods that are of interest to the collector and reader.

In response to a reader's letter:

As of March 31, 1977, the customs tariff for importation of antiques was amended from 100 years to 50 years. Amendment 69315-1 permits an article made at least 50 years prior to import date to pass duty-free.

The old method of certification has been cancelled, a review is being made to determine what method will now be used.

Probably the best method to use until Ottawa issues a definite policy is to have the seller certify that the article was produced no later than 1927.

Conference hears of environment danger at Silver Lake

by C.E. STAIRS

MABERLY - The issue of the environmental protection of Silver Lake was brought to the fore at the recent district conference of the Wesleyan Church held at Maberly. The conference grounds are located on Silver Lake.

Representatives were present from the Silver Lake and Area Environment Protection Association. They provided all delegates with printed information and solicited the support of the conference. Conference response was strong and positive.

Throughout the summer, the Wesleyans carry on a camp program here for various age groups. The camp assets are in figures of hundreds of thousands. At the same time, many privately-owned cottages are situated on the grounds.

Speakers revealed an immediate problem at Silver Lake. A private developer, Silver Lake Estates, plans to subject the area to the influx of 210 summer dwellings at the west end of the lake and south of the highway. The Protection Association sees this as "a serious threat to the environment endangering the water quality of the lake, possibly lowering the level of the lake and severely affecting our wild-life - our herons, our loons, our fish and other rare species."

The Conference responded with a motion

The "float plan" is simple. Tell your yacht club, a neighbour or a relative where your boating trip is taking you, what general course you will follow, and when you expect to arrive. If you become lost the person in charge of your plan will be able to give search and rescue authorities a "fix" on your location.

Reduce population say Anglicans

CALGARY, Alta. - Poverty in Canada and throughout the world will be eliminated only by a planned reduction of population and an increase in production, says the national task force on the economy of the Anglican Church of Canada.

In a lengthy report to the 28th general synod, meeting here in August, the committee urges the church to support measures which would bring about in Canada a "drastic change in the composition of output in favor of those goods and services needed by the poor, and a much more nearly equal distribution of income and wealth."

The task force, whose members include three economists, two parish priests, a businessman and a housewife, was formed in 1973 with instructions to pay special attention to the part that a guaranteed annual income for all Canadians might play in bringing about a more equitable society in Canada.

More radical measures than a guaranteed annual income are needed to eliminate poverty and social injustice, the report says, but the task force recommended such a program for what it termed "several excellent reasons."

Among its reasons were that a Guaranteed Annual Income (GAI) would remove the stigma of "welfare" from its recipients and that it would be an automatic stabilizer of the economy. A decline in national income during a recession would be offset by "the existence of a fairly high floor income for all households in the economy."

Also, the report said, a GAI would replace what it termed the existing haphazard and heterogeneous systems of governmental welfare and social services.

It estimated the cost of a plan that would provide a family of four $5,300 a year at about $1.5 billion which the nation could well afford to bear.

The task force also advocated universal health care, universal sickness and disability insurance and measures to provide better education to the poor.

The task force made other comments and suggestions.

Of inheritance taxes:

"The task force is painfully aware that in the actual circumstances of present-day Canada there are very severe limits to the ability of taxation to equalize wealth..."

"It is probable that a drastic improvement in Canada's tax laws would occasion a brain-drain and a flight of capital, which could only be stopped by a great enlargement in the power of the state over persons and property."

"The question must therefore arise as to which is the greater good: more equality with less freedom, or less equality with more freedom?"

Of monopolies:

"There is probably not a great deal that can be done to reduce monopoly power in Canada by means of traditional, U.S.-type trust-busting legislation..."

"We advocate rather that Canadian industry be exposed more fully to world competition by the gradual lowering of all import duties..."

"We do not believe that Canada would be reduced to a nation of miners, loggers, fishermen and welfare recipients, as some extreme nationalists fear."

Of marketing boards:

"If it is desired for reasons of social justice to improve the relative position of a particular group of producers, this is more efficiently and more equitably achieved by means of simple transfer payments out of general income-tax revenue."

Of advertising:

"A conscious repudiation that 'more' means 'better' and an affirmation that Small is Beautiful and Enough is Enough would liberate Canadians from their bondage to the advertising industry and allow them to enjoy what they actually

Old car rides again

The 1940 Dodge automobile show above isn't ready for the scrap heap, not by a long shot! The car, previously owned by the late George West of Madoc, was recently sold by his son, Ken West, to Audrey Genereaux who plans to use it to drive to work and around town. Mr. West, shown at the far right in the photo, said that he didn't drive the car much himself, but rather kept it stored in the garage of his daughter, Lamorne West, on Wellington Street.

Of foreign aid:

"The present trickle of foreign aid for economic development is in large measure a subsidy to Canadian industry (including agriculture)."

"It also has the effect of maintaining the existing multi-national corporate structure of production and distribution, bolstering the power of corrupt and tyrannical governments and discouraging the modernization of food production."

Cost of poverty:

"The direct cost of poverty in Canada, through inefficiency and lost output, has been estimated by the Economic Council at about six per cent of potential gross national product (that is, between $11 billion and $12 billion in 1976). When the indirect costs of potential social tension and unrest are allowed for, the total may be very much greater."

Lawn care is summer-long job

The best defence against hairy chinch bugs that feed on Ontario lawns is a summer-long offense to keep them under control.

Professor M.K. Sears, Ontario Agricultural College entomologist, says good summer weather could result in greater evidence of chinch bugs this year.

"It's impossible to eradicate the bugs, but we can knock them down for a year or so."

Chinch bugs turn lawns brown by sucking nutrients from the stems of grass.

Chinch bugs winter in garden bugs or under cedar hedges and lawn trees. Damages to lawns occurs first near these sites, as adults spread away from their winter homes each spring to lay eggs.

Dr. Sears says the worst damage usually begins in July when hot, dry weather coincides with the maturation of red-colored nymphs throughout the lawn.

"Early July is the time to treat for chinch bugs. If there aren't any chinch bugs in the lawn by then, there won't be any."

Party held

The Senior Citizens of 47 Wellington Street, Madoc, held a surprise birthday party for their superintendent, Mrs. Lena Langevin, on the evening of August 2.

After a short visiting period, Mrs. Marjorie Mitchell read the address and Mrs. Rose Runnalls presented Lena with a gift of money.

Lena thanked everyone for the gift, and said that the party was a complete surprise to her.

A dainty lunch brought the evening to a close.

Purina ettes take three

The ettes took the second game of their series with the Peterborough team by a score of 6 to 1. Jane Bailey had a home run and a single, with other hits going to Kathy Lee, who had a double and a single, and Sandra Fleming with a double.

Singles in the game went to Julie Hunter, Suzanne Jackett, Bonnie Arnold, Debbie Bateman and Charlotte Bigelow.

The win gave the Purina-ettes the series in two straight games.

On Saturday night, July 30, in Belleville, the ettes had to come from behind in the sixth to edge out the Bombers 4-3. It was, to say the least, quite an exciting game.

Cathy Lee was the outstanding player in the contest, hitting a triple and a single. As well, she made good plays in the fielding department for the squad. She made the final out of the game - a ball which was destined for home run fame were it not for her expertise.

Other hits in the game went to Joan Campbell, Bonnie Arnold, Jane Bailey, Sharon Lessard, Vickie Fulcher and Rosanne Chapman.

Sunday afternoon, July 31, the Purina-ettes wrapped up their series with the Bombers, taking the game by a score of 4-3.

The ettes were held to all singles in the game. Hitting for the local team were Charlotte Bigelow, Vickie Fulcher, Suzanne Jackett, Sharon Lessard, Jane Bailey, Bonnie Arnold and Sandra Flemming. Sandra also picked up both the pitching wins over the Bombers for the ettes.

In their four games to date in their series, the Purina-ettes have allowed only ten runs by the opposition.

The fan support for all of their games has been very good, and the girls attribute much of their success to the many people who turned out to cheer them to victory.

flowers and candelabras with glowing candles formed a pretty setting for the wedding.

Rev. Frank DeVries of Sunderland performed the double ring ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Stan Fife and soloist was George Timms, with guitar accompaniment.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of quiana jersey and Swiss embroidered lace. The fitted empire waisted bodice featured a v-neckline which was edged with lace and continued around the waist to the back and fell into a chapel train. Her three-tiered illusion veil was appliqued with flowers and caught to a Juliet cap of quiana jersey and lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, double orchids and baby's breath.

Maid of honor, Karen Elliott, friend of the bride, wore a quiana jersey empire styled dress in melon with v-neckline, split cape sleeves, straight skirt topped with three-quarter length tunic. She wore a melon shade picture hat and carried a nosegay of white daisies, melon mums and baby's breath.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harder

Bridesmaids, Nancy Fife, cousin of the bride, Karen Harder, sister of the groom, and Mary Sagriff, friend of the bride, all wore similar gowns and hats. Flower girls Sherry Fife, niece of the bride, and Lori-Ann Coxwell, cousin of the bride, wore floor length printed melon dresses and carried baskets of daisies and baby's breath.

Ron Thomson was the best man and ushers were Dave Gannini, Brian Lee all friends of the groom and Paul Fife, brother of the bride. All male attendants wore cinnamon coloured tuxedos with melon ruffled shirts and boutonnières of white carnations.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Norwood town hall catered to by the Hastings St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church ladies. Dianna Jones played quiet dinner music while guests were arriving.

Receiving, the bride's mother wore a gown of printed chiffon over green taffeta with attached cape and white accessories land, Port Perry, Hastings and Westwood. Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Harder was given showers by Karen Elliott, Joan Forde, Virginia Lynch, Leona Moore, the office girls of CIA, Peterborough, Ann Grose, Helen Wanless and Linda Walsh.

Snider-Carman marriage

The home of Mrs. Ida Snider of RR3, Havelock was the scene for the recent lawn wedding of Ida Snider, at whose home the wedding took place, to Ross Carman, Marmora. The wedding took place Sat., July 30.

Rev. R. Peacock performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a light blue polyester dress suit with red roses and matching accessories.

The groom wore a light blue suit with matching accessories.

The part of the bridesmaid was performed by the groom's daughter Fay Cateau, Toronto. She wore a multi-colored dress with a corsage of yellow and white flowers and matching accessories.

Best man was Tom Wiley, RR3, Havelock, son-in-law of the bride. He wore a beige suit with matching accessories.

While the couple were signing the register, Debra Wiley RR3, Havelock, granddaughter of the bride, played "How Great Thou Art" on the accordion.

About 40 guests were present.

After the register was signed Debra played "Are You Mine" on the accordion.

A buffet lunch was supplied at the home of Ida Snider after the wedding. Roy Varty, Havelock returned the blessing.

The couple received many gifts and wishes for their future happiness.

Harold Varty, RR3, Havelock, son-in-law of the bride, was master of ceremonies and different members of the families paid tribute to the bride and groom.

After the lunch everyone joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

Afterwards a train of cars led by the wedding car travelled from Havelock through Marmora to the groom's home where the bride and groom spent their wedding night.

They left Sun., July 31 for their honeymoon to Toronto, Niagara Falls and other places.

NORWOOD - At the August meeting of the village council, a motion was passed to allow the transfer of the G. A. Brethen Coliseum and access to the parking area to the village of Norwood. As in the past, the Norwood Agriculture Society will be granted use of the Coliseum during fair time and also to any agricultural-oriented event that might be held during the year. It's been a busy summer for govt. minister

For most people, summer is vacation time or the dog days. But not for Natural Resources Minister Frank S. Miller. He'll be off visiting the widely scattered operations of his Ministry during much of August, and a good part of September, too.

"This is my first chance to take a good look at what we're doing in the field, some of the logging, mining and park areas we are responsible for, and to meet the Ministry field staff who do the job on the front lines," the Minister said.

Mr. Miller's tour began Tues., Aug. 2 with a two-day visit to southwestern Ontario where he was to meet Natural Resources staff at Chatham and Wingham, as well as visit Point Farms Park and the Port Albert Fishway in the Goderich area; the Hullet Wildlife area, and two provincial parks -- Inverhuron and McGregor Point.

On Sat., Aug. 6, the Minister begins a 13-day tour of northern Ontario, ranging from Vermillion Bay and Red Lake in the northwest to Thunder Bay and Kapuskasing in the east.

"The tour will allow me to overfly various logging areas, mine sites and fire-affected areas, meet regional and district staff of the Ministry on their home grounds, and see wood-processing mills, wild rice harvesting, provincial parks such as Kakabeka Falls, Sibley, Neys and Rainbow Falls. I'll also stop in at Junior Ranger camps in the Lake Superior area," Mr. Miller said.

"During my first six months as Natural Resources Minister, I've had occasion to visit several places in the Province for specific reasons, but this is the first time I'll be able to do a thorough tour. Looking at the schedule, just the lineup of the stops alone evokes a feeling of the Ontario that most southerners rarely see -- such as Atikaki, Red Lake, Kenora, Fort Frances, Dryden, Ignace, Mattabi, Sioux Lookout, Pickle Lake, Spruce Falls, Guilfoyle Lake, Manitowadge, White River, Terrace Bay, Nipigon and Kapuskasing."

At Ignace on Aug. 10, Mr. Miller will participate in a sod-turning ceremony for a new Natural Resources district office building, with two cabinet colleagues, Management Board chairman James Auld and Northern Affairs Minister Leo Bernier.

"After a break of a couple of weeks, I plan to carry on the tour after Labor Day. The second-phase itinerary isn't fixed yet but it's my hope that by late September, I'll have been able to get a first-hand look at the large part of the immense geographical areas and numerous facilities in which my Ministry carries out its complex resource management responsibilities," Mr. Miller said.

The Natural Resources Minister will be accompanied by Deputy Minister Dr. J.K. Reynolds on his tour.

Ontario 4-H program

Nine Ontario 4-H club members broadened their knowledge of Canada during the 15th Annual 4-H Interprovincial Exchange Program.

The 1977 program, which ran from July 11 to 25, involved 90 4-H club members from across Canada.

Nine representatives were selected from each province to spend two weeks in another province. Each delegate stayed with two 4-H families during his or her stay in the host province.

To be eligible for the exchange program, the delegates had to be more than 16 years old and have completed two years of 4-H club work.

Ontario 4-H members who participated in the exchange program were: Lynn Mills of RR3, Tara, Bruce County visiting New Brunswick; Beth Campbell of RR1, Iona Station, Elgin County visiting Nova Scotia; Charles Bennett of RR4, Kemptville, Grenville County visiting Alberta; Kathy Bennett of RR1, Gorrie, Huron County visiting Quebec; Dianne Jackson of RR1, Wyoming, Lambton County visiting Prince Edward Island; Janet Maloney of RR9, Peterborough, Peterborough County visiting Newfoundland; Ralph LeRoy of RR1, Eugene, Prescott County visiting Manitoba; Martha Rorabeck of RR1, Milford, Prince Edward County visiting Saskatchewan; and Sherran Poupore of RR1, Thornloe, Temiskaming District visiting British Columbia.

The purpose of the program, organized by the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs and sponsored by the Royal Bank of Canada, is to allow 4-H club members to experience customs and lifestyles in other provinces.

4-H clubs in Ontario are operated by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. More than 24,000 rural young people aged 12 to 26 years participate in 4-H agricultural and homemaking club activities in the province.

Tasty ideas for lunch

In the mood for baking? Holland Cheese adds a unique flavour to this quick-and-easy to make cheese-nut bread.

CHEESE-NUT BREAD

2 cups all purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
1 cup shredded imported Holland Edam or Gouda
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup milk
1 egg

Mix flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together. Cut butter into dry ingredients. Stir in shredded imported Holland Edam or Gouda and walnuts. Beat milk and egg together. Add all at once to flour mixture. Stir together quickly just to moisten dry ingredients. Spoon into greased 9 x 5 x 3 inch loaf pan. Bake at 400°F for 35-40 minutes. Makes 1 loaf.

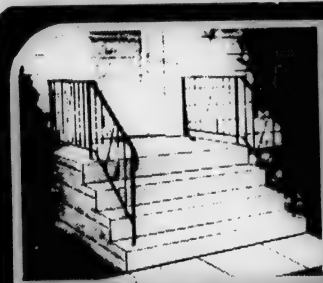

For a light lunch add this spinach salad. The Holland cheese and crisp bacon will give you the protein needed to make this a well-balanced meal.

GOUDA SPINACH SALAD

4 slices side bacon, crisply cooked
1 cup raw spinach
8 mushrooms, sliced thin
1 cup thinly sliced green onion
1 cup shredded imported Gouda (4 oz.)
1/4 cup vegetable oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 small clove garlic, finely chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Pinch of pepper

Crisply cook bacon; drain on paper towelling; crumble and toss with Gouda in small bowl. Reserve. Rinse and dry spinach in large salad bowl, top with mushrooms, green onions and bacon and cheese mixture. Combine vegetable oil, lemon juice, garlic, salt, mustard and pepper in a small jar with a tight fitting lid. Shake well. Pour over salad. Toss well. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Machines Steal Jobs

A long time ago, when governments faced high unemployment, they resorted to make-work programs. Dams were built, roads laid, streets cleaned, and ditches dug. It seemed to work, too; North America made-worked itself right out of the Great Depression.

Today, when faced with high unemployment, governments take a different approach: they give subsidies to companies which increase their capital investments. The technique enjoys considerable support from economists (which, right away, should make us suspicious) and the major business interests. Unfortunately, it has a drawback. Quite simply, it has shown no signs of working.

In fact, capital investment incentives appear to have a very negative effect on employment. For instance, a multi-million dollar oil refinery was recently completed, in part because of government tax incentives. The new plant is so highly automated that it requires only two workers per shift instead of dozens. And that's one reason why unemployment is up.

Oddly enough, our government economists have yet to realize that capital investment incentives are responsible for aggravating unemployment and inflation, two areas which government might be expected to find interesting.

The unemployment aspect is obvious. When machines are made artificially cheaper than manpower, machines will be used instead of workers. And, since there are no government subsidies for additional workers that correspond to subsidies for added capital, machinery is cheaper — after subsidies — than manpower for industry.

But the economic impact gets worse. Because higher wages are paid to the smaller group of workers who tend the machines, all workers in the economy try to get equally high wages. So the workers who remain employed force their wages up to artificial levels.

Not all of our modern inflation is caused by government incentives for capital investment. But some inflation arises that way.

The Canadian Federation of Independent Business has been studying capital subsidies and finds the subject alarming. Ideally, it concludes, all capital subsidies would be wiped out, eliminating the unrealistic difference in prices between labour and capital. But the world is far from ideal and, as long as the United States provides subsidies, Canada must follow suit. And that's why job tax credits are being proposed by the Federation as one solution to our employment and inflation problems.

A job tax credit would give a subsidy to employers for every new job created. The cost of the program would be offset by savings in unemployment insurance and welfare payments.

Ottawa has not recognized the potential merit of job tax credits. The bureaucrats would evidently rather provide more work for machines.

The zaniest baseball holdout probably was George "Rube" Ellis, crack St. Louis outfielder, back in 1908. Ellis refused to sign his contract until he got what he was holding out for — $2.50 — to buy a new fielder's glove!

Youngsters visit Hastings County farms

Carolyn KleinGebbinck, Beth Nanniga, Grant Kent, Terry Matthews, Russell Law, and David Cleghorn. They arrived here on August 12 and will be returning home, with their host 4-H'ers, today.

Six 4-H members from Wellington County have been having fun, seeing the country, learning about agriculture and making new friends in Hastings County during the past week.

The six members came to Hastings on a 4-H exchange arranged by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food offices in Stirling and Fergus.

Carolyn KleinGebbinck, 15, is from Fergus and is the guest of Bev Stein, 16, of Eldorado. Carolyn is actively involved on their family dairy farm, where they milk Holstein cattle.

From Mount Forest is Beth Nanniga, age 15. Beth is the house guest of Cheryl Morton, RR1, Stirling. Beth is also from a dairy farm with Holstein cattle.

Another guest is Grant Kent, 16, from Fergus. Grant is from a dairy farm where fifty Jersey cows are milked. His father and older brother are operating the farm in partnership. The Kent farm also has a small swine operation. Grant is the guest of Dayle Harris of RR2, Madoc.

Visiting Craig Robinson of RR1, Eldorado is Terry Matthews, 18, of Rockwood where his family milks purebred Jersey cattle.

Russell Law of Puslinch is visiting Bob Ray of RR2, Roslin. Russell, 18, is from a dairy farm with Holstein cattle.

David Cleghorn, 15, is the guest of Kevin Sills, 15, of RR2, Roslin. David is from the Guelph area where his family operates a dairy farm with purebred Holstein cattle.

The visitors arrived on August 12 and will be returning home on August 17. Their 4-H hosts in Hastings will be returning with them to visit Wellington County for five days.

Man burned in accident

Bruce Paul Campbell of Sharbot Lake was taken to the Belleville General Hospital following a car fire last Thursday on Highway 7 just east of Madoc.

Mr. Campbell, 19, was moving his family possessions to Hamilton, and was towing a trailer behind his 1974 Buick at the time of the accident. His wife and one-year-old son, who were also in the vehicle at the time of the mishap, were not injured.

The fire was believed caused by a short circuit in the wire connecting the lights on the trailer to the car's electrical system.

The driver was apparently burned by ignited gasoline from the car's tank. He was first taken to the Madoc Medical Centre and then to the Belleville hospital.

Mr. Campbell's injuries consisted of second degree burns to his face, arms and neck.

Damage in the accident was estimated by the investigating office for the Ontario provincial Police's Madoc detachment at $1,000. The fire was quickly extinguished by members of the Madoc Volunteer Fire Department.

Grant announced

Clarke Rolins, MPP for Hastings-Peterborough recently announced the approval of three projects through the Ministry of Natural Resources under the Conservation Authorities Act for the Moira River Conservation Authority.

The O'Hara Mill Conservation area has been granted $5,700.00.

The Plainfield and Price Conservation areas and Thurlow wildlife area has been granted $9,600.00.

Firemen from the Madoc Volunteer Fire Department peer into the charred trunk of a 1974 Buick LeSabre which caught fire just east of Madoc on Highway 7 last Thursday afternoon. The fire, which was quickly extinguished by the firemen, caused burns to the face, arms and neck of the driver of the vehicle, Bruce Campbell of Sharbot Lake.

Ten projects approved

The Ministry of Culture and Recreation has approved 10 more Wintario Grants for projects in Hastings - Peterborough.

The Huntingdon, Madoc and Rawdon Townships Public Library Boards will each receive a grant of $2,000. to purchase Canadian books.

The township of Herschel will receive up to $43,125. towards the purchase of a building for use as a community centre, along with 16 acres for development as an athletic field.

The Tweed Chamber of Commerce will receive $2,500. towards the cost of celebrations in honour of the Queen's Silver Jubilee.

The Madoc Memorial Library will receive $1,105. for shelving, furniture and equipment.

Former resident performs at competition

Ken Bronson, son of Mrs. Thomas Bronson and formerly from the Madoc-Tweed area, was one of the 105-man chorus from Scarborough representing Ontario at the 39th annual convention of the Barber Shop Quartet Society of America's convention in Philadelphia.

Mr. Bronson was accompanied to Philadelphia for the July 4 to 9 convention by his wife, the former Marlene Carswell of Madoc.

Under the direction of Ray Danley, the Chorus from Scarborough placed first in the Competition, thus becoming the only Canadian chorus to do so in the Society's history.

Their performance of "Keep Your Sunny Side Up" and "Who'll Dry Your Tears" was judged tops in all categories, upstaging 14 other choruses in the finals chosen from more than 400 chapters of the society in Canada and the USA.

Stirling to host competition

Three young ladies will be vying for the honor of Hastings County Dairy Princess at the Stirling Fair on Friday, Aug. 19, at 7:30 p.m.

The annual event is sponsored by the Hastings County Milk Committee.

Louise Lott, of RR 2, Roslin, is one of the competitors. She is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Lott, and is sixteen years of age. The Lott family have a farm of 350 acres as well as a herd of Guernsey and Holstein cattle.

Another contestant is Tina Jongenotter, also sixteen years of age. Tina is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Jongenotter of RR1, Foxboro. They milk forty Holstein cows and have 400 acres of farm land.

From the Madoc area is Dayle Bateman. Dayle is seventeen, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burrell Bateman. They have 35 Holstein cows milking and have 300 acres of farmland.

The girls will be judged on the basis of a personal interview with a panel of judges and a short public address on any aspect of the dairy industry. A milking demonstration will be given, but will not be judged.

Letters to the editor

Education for cyclists proposed by reader

The Editor,

Having read your article entitled "More Bikes on Road then Ever" I would like to make a few comments on the purchase of a bicycle.

The bicycle, contrary to the feelings of many, is not a toy but a vehicle, and should be treated as such. The Ontario Traffic Act has always defined the bicycle as a vehicle, and covered the bicycle and its rider with the same rules, regulations, and responsibilities as automobiles and their drivers.

Since this is the case, a parent must ask the question, "Am I willing and able to teach my child the proper way to ride a bicycle?"

This question must be dealt with before the purchase of the machine. Based on sound evidence from Holland that properly educated cyclists lead to safer automobile operators, it is only common sense that a child should be properly taught about the rules of the road before and after the purchase of the bicycle. The legacy of this road awareness will stay with him all his life.

While most parents are proud to see their child steer his first, wobbly, unassisted ride, many feel that their assistance to their child is then over.

Not so!

The child should be taught the proper hand signals for turns and stopping. The child should be taught each and every traffic sign so that he will do what is expected of him. A responsible parent will ride with the child often to make sure that the child does understand the rules of the road, the operation of his machine, and the recognition of road hazards that may or may not be sign posted.

For example, a child should be taught about the hazards of curbs, slitted storm sewer gratings, and of automobile drivers getting out of cars without looking.

Because a young child usually has little knowledge about the maintenance of his bicycle, the parent must take responsibility for the mechanical fitness of the machine. The parent must check the machine every week for wear and tear, and must attend to problems as they occur; not after they accumulate to make the cycle completely unsafe.

As the child's mind grows, the responsible parent should teach the child all of the basic maintenance procedures, allowing the child to do them himself, with the parent acting as inspector. In time, a rider is developed who sees that his safety depends on his own skills with his mind on the machine.

Then when he gets behind the wheel of a car, he will be well on his way to becoming a safe driver.

Now, if a parent is ready to teach cycle safety properly, then the machine should be purchased.

Yours in cycling,
Crichton Harrop

Summer letter from

Moira Cottagers

Association received

As summer comes to our lovely recreational area at Moira Lake, cottagers have a little less to worry about than we expected earlier this year. There may be a mercury contamination in the fish and the weeds may be growing as fast as ever, but at least we seem to be past our immediate concerns regarding a nuclear dump site just north of Madoc at Mount Moriah.

This was the issue of main concern for the M.C. for C.W. Executive Committee this year. At our April 23 Executive Committee meeting, Chairman Don Genge introduced Mr. Leo Simpson of CORP (Citizens Opposing to Radioactive Pollution) who explained the work of their group, something of the hazards of nuclear waste control, and possible devaluation of property in the area due to general citizen uncertainty about health and environment hazards.

CORP has had difficulty in finding unbiased information regarding nuclear waste control and its impact environmentally and sociologically. They find themselves in the midst of a major subject of controversy.

Present indications are that because of local organizations and public protest meetings "the matter has been satisfactorily laid to rest". Mr. J. Ellis, M.P., has said in a letter to the Madoc Review that the site is no longer being considered. Further information of this was stated in the press during June.

This Association was pleased to Canadian-British heritage traced

"The Camera and Dr. Barnardo" is a travelling photographic exhibition, a record of children who passed through homes and villages in England at the turn of the Century, under the auspices of Dr. Thomas John Barnardo's philanthropic society.

Dr. Barnardo headed on of Britain's most successful orphanages, where thousands of destitute children were housed and given some degree of training and education. These homes were the most successful of the juvenile emigration agencies, extending their care for children into Canada, and monitoring their progress.

The Marchmont Home located on West Moira Street in Belleville was a local agency. Miss Ellen Agnes Bilborough of Croyden England was the first volunteer superintendent. The Rev. Robert Wallace assisted her in maintaining this reception centre for hundreds of children until they could be placed with local families. Operation as an orphanage ceased in 1925 and the Dr. Barnardo Homes Organization in England took over the records.

The Marchmont Home had outbuildings to house the horse, cows and chickens. There were gardens, an orchard and a vineyard to support the needs of the occupants of the Home and as well, a chapel to fulfill their spiritual needs.

The Marchmont Home still stands, as well as the chapel, although the chapel has been altered to a private dwelling, and the Home into apartments.

A photographic studio, set up in 1874, was an important part of Barnardo's work, and has since recorded and publicized the work of the organization through photographs and slides. To celebrate its centenary, the National Portrait Gallery in Britain agreed to present "The Camera and Dr. Barnardo", an exhibition of photographs taken between the opening to the studio and Barnardo's death in 1905. A catalogue of the same title accompanies the exhibition.

Miss Lott is from R.R. 2 Roslin, and is one of the three young ladies entered in the competition.

SCHLEGELMILCH CHINA

Many people have been asking about R.S. Prussia R.S. Germany and other marks of the Schlegelmilch family china. The interest in this china continues to increase as people become more aware of the many marks used. The ones shown with this column are only a few, but are the ones found most often today.

In 1861, Endmann Schlegelmilch founded a porcelain factory in Suhl, a part of what was then the Prussian Empire. Because of the white clay found in the area, he was able to make a very fine china that would compete with the best on the market. From the beginning, the most skilled artisans were hired.

Unheard of salaries for that time were offered to attract the top artists of Europe. Thus began the history of what many people consider the most beautiful china ever made.

The first china made was all hand painted.

Instead of using the classical designs so popular with china producers of the nineteenth century, the artists looked around their area for subjects. The love of the German people for their gardens found a new way in which to express itself. The beautiful floral designs that have come to be recognized as the hallmark of Schlegelmilch china were used to decorate the various wares. Even vegetables became works of art in pottery! Who, that has seen the lonely cabbage leaf bowls in R.S. Prussia, can deny that this lovely vegetable can be beautiful?

When the china was marketed, its acceptance was immediate. The demand was so great, especially in the United States and Canada, that production facilities had to be expanded.

A factory was established in Silesa and Tillowitz to meet production needs. The sites were chosen because of the availability of the white clay so necessary for the very delicate yet durable china.

It was evident that some method of decorating would have to be found rather than to continue the slow hand painting process.

Reinhold Schlegelmilch developed a method of transfer painting using a

This process remained a closely guarded secret of the developer. It is difficult today

If you are not thoroughly familiar with Schlegelmilch China, look skeptically at any piece offered as "unmarked" R.S. Prussia or R.S. Germany.

Although the transfer process of decorating continued to be used, certain Attention all community organizations in Ontario.

Canada Works is your federal job creation program in Ontario, and it's ready to help your community organization or municipality serve your fellow citizens. But remember, the deadline for application is August 26.

Once again, you have the opportunity to create jobs and lasting benefits for your community.

If your idea is good, and your group has the will and the expertise to see it through, Canada Works may be able to provide the necessary funding.

Here's how to get things under way. Agree on a project you can all support.

Think it through. How many jobs will it create? How much for salaries and other costs? Who will run the project on a day-to-day basis? Then go to your local Canada Manpower Centre or Job Creation Branch Office and pick up a Canada Works application and "Guide to Applicants." The application is not complicated, but please supply full details and fill it out clearly and accurately.

Please remember that your project, whatever it is, should make use of and add to the skills of the unemployed in your area, helping them to re-enter the work force on a full-time basis.

Canada Works is for your community. Your province. Your country. For all of us. So let's get working on some new ideas.

CORP to meet commission

CORP (Citizens Opposing Radioactive Pollution) has prepared a brief for submission to the Royal Commission on Electric Power Planning on September 27.

The Royal Commission, headed by Dr. Arthur Porter, opened public hearings across the province of Ontario in March, 1975, on a broad spectrum of issues about electric power planning. Among the issues before the Porter Commission are electrical demand, nuclear power, conventional and alternate technologies for generation of electricity, transmission, distribution and land use, financial and economic factors, the total electric power system, public participation, and the decision making process.

Come to Church this Sunday

During the summer months, we are suspending the weekly guest articles by clergymen in the Madoc area.

Instead, we will be presenting in this column several informed articles touching everyday life in a Christian society.

In September we will resume the guest articles by local clergymen.

Compulsory retirement at age 65 is both unfair and wasteful.

For employers, the result is a loss of valuable human skills and reservoirs of experience. Also lost are such priceless by-products of longer life as wisdom and the ability to cope with a whole gamut of practical situations.

It should not be assumed, of course, that everyone reaching the age of 65 wants to go on working. Others may not be capable of doing an effective job.

What, then, are the alternatives to total retirement?

Those who have researched this problem are convinced that it can often be solved by redistributing responsibilities to provide enough work for all age groups. In many cases this may call for senior employees to step down or sideways to new positions. Alternatively they may be assigned to part-time work or serve as consultants. Thousands of people slated to be axed from their jobs at the prevailing age limit would gladly settle for lower pay.

However, if there's no way a person can be retained by his present employer all is not lost. Many gray-haired ex-employees have turned to a second career in a similar or totally different field that might be less

Car stolen

Robbery nets thieves $400

An armed robbery in the early morning hours of August 14 netted four young men $400 when they held up the Whispering Pines Restaurant on Highway 7 west of Madoc.

Police report that the foursome entered the restaurant at approximately 4:10 on Sunday morning, one of them carrying a lever-action rifle.

The attendants at the restaurant, 19-year-old Mark Kitcher and 22-year-old Lois Moorcroft, were ordered to open the cash register.

After robbing the all-night eating spot, the robbers fled in Mr. Kitcher's vehicle, leaving their car which had been stolen earlier in Ottawa in the parking lot.

Constable DeWolfe of the Madoc

Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police is continuing the investigation into the robbery.

At press time it was reported that the police had recovered the car stolen from Mr. Kitcher, but that no arrests had been made in the case.

Methodists attend meet

The sound of music reached the weathered rafters as Rev. Larry Mack of Madoc led the singing to open the annual campmeeting of the Wesleyan Church, Central Canada District, on Sunday evening, July 24, at Maberly, Ontario.

The evening message was delivered by Dr. Victor Hamilton, formerly of Toronto and presently on faculty at Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky. Dr. Hamilton's humor gave an added touch as he dealt with New Testament truth with contemporary language and thought forms.

The daily program offered the campers attractive options, in addition to the morning Bible study and the evening gospel service.

Ustel - Marr wedding

A wedding of interest to Madoc and area residents was held at 4 o'clock Sat., May 28, 1977 at the Armenian Holy Trinity Church, in Toronto, when Judy Elizabeth Marr exchanged wedding vows with Garbus Ustel of Toronto. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Marr formerly of Madoc, now residing in Toronto.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Bishop Aris Shirvanian.

The petite bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven" with Mrs. Kassardjian at the organ. The dark haired bride was lovely in a full length yellow. She wore a Juliet cap with a three tiered silk net veil falling in ripples to the waist. Her bouquet was yellow throated, white Jatfa orchids.

The matron of honour Mrs. Arpi Citak of Toronto wore a full length two piece pastel melon organza skirt and three-quarter length one shouldered, cafton top with matching scarf, trimmed in beige silk.

The bridesmaids were: Miss Joanne Nelson of Elmira, Ontario, cousin of the bride; Miss Sarah Fleming, Ottawa, friend of the bride; Miss Lerna Toussounian, Toronto, cousin of the groom; two of the bridal attendants wore full length sleeveless dresses of pastel melon georgette, with short sheer matching capes; the third bridesmaid's dress, in olive green, was made identical to those of the other attendants. The girls all carried white fugi mum nosegays. The flower girl, Miss Michelle Burnside of Winnipeg, Manitoba, niece of the bride, was dressed in a full length sleeveless pastel yellow

Fertilize hay crops early

by RON PARKER,

Drought conditions coupled with high protein costs, have once again emphasized the importance of quality hay as a livestock feed.

One of the most important considerations in maintaining good yields is to maintain a high level of fertility. High fertility levels will compensate to some degree to low moisture reserves and, of course, are necessary for maximum production.

Stands which are half legume (six or more plants per square foot) should not require nitrogen fertilizer. The objective should be to maintain the legume content which normally requires phosphorous and potash.

If the legumes are less than 25 per cent of the stand, nitrogen should be used to increase the grass yield. An annual broadcast application is recommended for established stands. For grass stands, a maximum of 50 lbs. of actual nitrogen should be applied as early as possible in the spring with the remainder applied after the first cut is off.

A general recommendation for legumes on sandy or sandy loam soil is approximately 400 lbs. of a 0-30-30 fertilizer applied in late August or early September. On clay soils, a 0-20-20 fertilizer at approximately 200 lbs. per acre is recommended. Where stands are predominantly grass, an additional 100 lbs. of nitrogen are recommended.

A more accurate recommendation can be obtained from the results of a soil test. Soil sample kits are available from the Agricultural Offices in Stirling or Bancroft.

Group forming chapter

It is estimated that one out of 1,000 adults in North America have ulcerative colitis and one in 3,000 have some form of Crohn's disease.

A nationwide co-ordinated research program aimed at conquering these chronic intestinal diseases is underway, and a chapter is being formed in the Quinte area which will also take in Centre Hastings.

People in the Madoc and Marmora area who wish to learn more about the formation of the chapter, or who want to obtain literature on the subject of the disease, can do so by contacting Dorothy Gill during the daytime at 613-392-4605, or in the evening by calling Victor Davis at 613-392-4082.

Research in Canada began three years ago in the hopes of finding the cause and cure of inflammatory bowel diseases, particularly Crohn's disease or ileitis and colitis.

The groom chose for his attire a completed off-white double breasted suit, shirt and tie, with a pale yellow rose boutonniere. The best man, Hiram Citok of Toronto, and the ushers Ralph Ustel, Toronto, brother of the groom; Jon Willoughby, Toronto and Al Kolukisayan of Toronto, wore chocolate brown, single breasted gabardine suits, white shirts and co-ordinating striped ties to match, with white carnation boutonnieres.

Following the ceremony the reception was held at the Heintzman House in Thornhill, where the guests were received by the brides mother in a full length dress in pastel turquoise chiffon, with corsage of pale pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother in a full length skirt and shorter jacket in deep tan georgette, with a corsage of gold daisy mums.

The bridal gown and attendants' gowns were couturier designed and made by the groom's mother.

Dental report released

OTTAWA - Emphasis in dental care needs to be placed on fluoridation of water supplies and on nutrition and public education programs, says the Nutrition Canada Dental Report, made public today by Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde.

The major findings of the survey are:
1) Dental caries is the leading cause of tooth loss in persons under 35 years of age. Ninety-six per cent of adults over 19 years of age had dental caries.

2) The percentage of children aged 12-14 years with good teeth, i.e. zero DMF teeth (DMF is the number of decayed, missing and filled permanent teeth) appeared to be unrelated to income.

3) Periodontal disease (a disease of the tissues which support the teeth firmly in the jaws) is the main cause of tooth loss in persons over 30 years of age. About 15 per cent of the adult population had obvious "pockets" of periodontal disease, a condition which was generally worse in men than women.

4) Approximately 40 per cent of adults aged 19 years and over had no teeth in one or both dental arches.

5) A consistent beneficial effect of fluoridation in reducing the prevalence of dental caries was observed in children under 11 years of age.

WI meets at Thompson cottage

Miss Hazel Thompson was hostess for the August meeting of the Queensboro branch of the Women's Institute, at her cottage at Stoco Lake on Wednesday evening, Aug. 10.

The meeting began with a potluck supper enjoyed by everyone.

The business meeting began at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Monte Dennis, second vice-president, in charge.

The roll call, "Bring a product and compose a commercial to sell it", was answered by 13 members and two visitors. There was one child present.

Mrs. Harry Declair, convener of Family and Consumer Affairs, was in charge of the program. She asked each member to tell of some person who had impressed them through the years. She also gave an interesting reading on the topic, "Young people need a model, not a critic".

There were also a couple of contests on comparisons.

Current events were given by each member. The meeting was closed with The Queen.

For their July outing, 18 members of the WI spent an afternoon touring different places of interest in Tweed.

They toured Sawyer and Stoll Lumber Co., visited the Senior Citizens' apartments, COPE, the Gem Stone works, a stained glass shop, and the Wool Shop. They then enjoyed a delicious supper at the Tweedsmuir Hotel.

On the way home they visited the Mary Snyder Art School and the Lester B. Pearson Peace Park near Actinolite, and arrived back home in the early evening.

Belleville Man convicted

James K. Simmons of RR 2, Belleville, was found guilty of careless driving under the Highway Traffic Act in an accident on June 27 which claimed the life of Steven Schultz-Neilsen of Madoc. He was fined $150 and costs as a result of the conviction.

The nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schultz-Neilsen died following an accident, just south of the Village on Highway 62, in which he was struck by the van operated by Mr. Simmons as he was driving his bicycle.

Mr. Simmons was found not guilty on a charge of dangerous driving under the Criminal Code of Canada when he appeared in Madoc Court on Aug. 2.

Charged with arson

Men elect jury trial

Joseph F. Rooney of Madoc and Mark William Ray of Peterborough chose to be tried by judge and jury when they appeared in provincial court in Madoc on August 2.

The men are charged with setting a fire in October, 1975, which destroyed Mr. Rooney's Madoc residence.

A third man charged in the fire, Edmund Alexander Ray of Eldorado, was sentenced to one year in reformatory in June of this year.

Rooney and Ray are scheduled to have their preliminary hearing on October 18, and were released until that time on their own recognizance.

demanding. Yet this road, too, can be rough. So far, few firms are willing to give even part-time work to a recent retiree.

Because senior workers so obviously deserve fairer treatment, it is to be hoped that the federal government's new Human Rights Act (Bill C-25) will include prohibition of age discrimination.

Certainly the future will force a change. Statisticians forecast a sharp rise in the number of senior citizens in Canada over the next 20 years. Thus the national work load will have to be spread over a wider age span. It's not too soon to stop making all 65-year-olds walk the plank by offering them more enlightened and practical alternatives.

High Potency Vitamin E

Sexual Potency Quickly Improves With New 'E-Pill'

NEW YORK, N.Y. (Special) — An amazing new "super-charged" vitamin E-Pill has recently been developed that reportedly "quickly increases and rejuvenates sexual drives and potency for both men and women of all ages. It also makes them feel healthier and more youthful". It is now available to the American public.

The new high potency E-Pill not only seems to increase sexual ability of both sexes but also "actually perks up sexual interest and stimulates a person's desires," according to a spokesman for the manufacturer.

ALSO IMPROVES GENERAL HEALTH

This new, easy-to-take E-Pill contains newly formulated, highly concentrated vitamin E. It tends to quickly build up and strengthen the natural physiological processes of the body that are believed to be basically responsible for its potency, youthfulness, health and long life.

HELPS 4 OUT OF 5 PEOPLE

Indications are that the new E-Pill gives quick and effective results to as high as 4 out of 5 people (80%) who have used it. Some people report no great change but feel the high potency of vitamin E in the pill does quickly make them feel better from a general health standpoint.

Other reports also show it tends to "lessen daily tension and give a more relaxed, happier outlook on life."

NOW AVAILABLE

The use of these high potency (one-a-day) E-Pills is perfectly safe and are now available without prescription from the manufacturer by mail order only. To get your supply, send $6.95 for a 2 week supply, (or $10.95 for a 30 day supply, or $17.95 for a 60 day supply) cash, check or M.O. to: E-Pill, Dept. 516, 447 Merrick Road, Oceanside, N.Y. 11572. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.)

cooperate with concerned citizens of the community and thanks those of our membership who attended public meetings in this regard. As a group we have joined CORP and will continue to monitor any moves that might reactivate the issue.

As requested at our last Annual Meeting we are cooperating with the Ministry of the Environment in making regular weekly tests of the quality of the lake water. This is part of a long range study on algae growth and weed contamination in lakes such as ours. It continues to be important to know how much nutrient is added to the lake each time the content of the Madoc sewage lagoon is released. We look to the Ministry of the Environment staff at Kingston for facts and figures.

The Executive has discussed the feasibility of having a mechanical weed harvesting program in our lake. We have noted harvesting programs in such lakes as Chemung, Canal and Buckhorn, and that the Ministry of the Environment has put out tenders for aquatic weed-harvesting this summer in the Kawartha Lakes. Perhaps we will want to jointly hire a weed-harvester in the future, meanwhile the Ministry strongly recommends each cottage, as far as possible, taking them ashore and weeding them inland for compost of mulch. Sounds like a lot of work but let's not let the millifol weed take over our lake!

As noted in our Winter Newsletter we want to get together with the people of the Moira River Conservation Authority to learn about the control of the water level of the lake. President Don Genge continues to seek an opportunity to bring our Executive into consultation with MRCA so that we will have some answers by the time of our Annual Meeting this summer.

At that time we also hope to have a spokesman from the government explain the implications for each land holder and what is involved in the new County of Hastings Land Use By-Laws. Our special concern here as cottagers is the possible further high density development of presently vacant land around our lake. With existing problems, what we do not need is a greater number of people crowding into an already overburdened recreational area.

Then there is the mercury contamination problem that we as cottagers share with so many other users of Ontario lakes. Recent contact with Gord Mewhiney, President of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers Association tells us of their program to test for mercury contamination in bass, in Environment. This is already underway at selected lakes in Muskoka and the Kawartha's. He has been invited to speak at our Annual Meeting and says he hopes we can help them begin testing by early fall.

As reported in "The Toronto Star" some 180 Ontario lakes are contaminated. A report in that paper on March 4, 1977 stated: "at Moira Lake near Madoc walleye were found to have mercury levels averaging 1.18 p.p.m. At Crowe Lake near Marmora, pike and small mouth bass had mercury levels of 0.7 p.p.m., pike at Stoco Lake had 0.7 p.p.m. and lake trout at Koshlong had mercury levels averaging 1 p.p.m." It should be noted that 0.5 p.p.m. is what is considered an acceptable level and eating fish with mercury contamination to any great extent is dangerous. Again we must work together and with other cottagers and citizens to find the causes of mercury contamination and begin making changes.

Meanwhile, the sun shines bright on the water, the trees grow taller each year, and a lot of fun is found around the 'old lake'. Plan now to join with your summer neighbours at this year's Annual Meeting, to be held on August 20 at Quin-Mo-Lac dining hall at 7:30 p.m. If your boat has lights, come by boat to the Camp dock or by road. Refreshments will be served and we will continue to work together to keep and improve our place of recreation.

Slip monitor for tractors developed

Agricultural engineers have developed an electronic device to monitor tractor drivewheel slip which could save farmers money.

The slip monitor operates from the 12-volt tractor electrical supply, is easily installed and can be read in the field. The monitor could help a tractor operator control drivewheel slip and save money on fuel consumption and tire wear.

Agriculture Canada's Engineering Research Service in Ottawa says the device has proved practical and effective. However, more work must be done before it can be commercially produced and made available to farmers.

Bill Smiley Yarns of the past

By BILL SMILEY

I'm engaged in writing a few yarns for Airforce, the official magazine of the RCAF Association. Naturally, this has brought back a lot of memories, some a bit grim, some pretty hilarious.

As the old mind's eye wandered back, something hit me like a cold douche. Not that I've ever taken a cold douche.

Why were we so keen to get killed? In this age of dropouts, draft dodgers and deserters, it seems incredible that thousands of young Canadian males, back in the Forties, were almost frantic to get into the air force, into air crew, and into a quadron, where the chances were excellent they'd be dead within a couple of months.

From the point of view of common sense, reason, logic, it was not any brighter than the Children's Crusade of the Middle Ages.

Why? Certainly we had no death wish. We had no deep urge to immate ourselves in the breath of the war dragon. We weren't even running to the battlements to protect our homes, our wives and children. Most of us were in school, or just recently out, and didn't have none of them there things.

Oh, we knew we had to "Stop thet bawstard Hitler!" as Churchill once told us on an airfield in Normandy. We knew rather vaguely that we were defending democracy and unemployment against the monsters of totalitarianism and full employment, although it was a bit puzzling that totalitarian Russia was on our side.

We knew joining up was the thing to do, that most of our friends were doing it, that a fellow looked pretty fine in a uniform, that the girls were impressed and the hitch-hiking easier.

But why the air force? And why air crew, where the dice were loaded so heavily?

Did we avoid the army because we didn't want to be exposed to the rude and licentious soldiery and get all dirty and grimy in action? Or the navy because we preferred a fiery grave to a watery one?

I just don't know, but most of my friends, and most of their friends, chose the air force, and were dead keen on getting into air crew

Within a bare few years, most of them were a lot less keen, and many were a lot more dead.

As I recall, it was a real downer for those who failed the tough medical test for air crew. Once chosen, you were filled with despair if you were going for pilot and had to settle for bomb-aimer, just because you were a little cross-eyed.

Once in training, it was a shattering experience to be "washed out" of air crew merely because you had badly bent up one of His Majesty's aircraft by trying to land at 40 feet up, or had wound up 300 miles off course on a cross-country training flight. It was devastating if you wanted to be a fighter pilot and were shipped off to lumbering old bombers.

I have friends who still bear a deep scar on the psyche because they were made flying instructors and spent the rest of the war in Canada. This despite the fact they were chosen as instructors because they were far better pilots than the rest of us.

This despite the fact that many of the pilots they trained were dead, dead, in no time. None of this was any consolation. They still feel they missed something irrecoverable.

Well I know what they missed. They missed the stupidity of senior officers who didn't know whether they were punched or bored. They missed long, deadly dull periods of training, and short, intense moments of sheer terror.

They missed being shot at, physically, by perfect strangers, and shot down, verbally, by people on their own side.

They missed the utter blind confusion of the amateurs in charge of the war. Migawd, those idiots lost an entire wing of Typhoons for a full week.

Nobody, least of all Intelligence, had a clue where it was. I air-hitched all over southern England and northern France before I found the blasted thing, all on my own.

Let's see, have I left anything out? Well maybe I have. First I'll take that back about stupid senior officers. There were plenty of those in Canada, too, so you didn't miss that.

Perhaps you missed the joy of climbing out of your aircraft after an operation, lighting a cigarette, and talking a wild blue streak of relief and let-down.

I guess you missed the glory of heading off for a week's leave in a strange country, loaded with lust, a month's pay in your pocket, and the secret sweetness in your head of knowing that nobody would be shooting at you for seven days.

And, you did, I must admit, miss the girls. Not all of those fumbings in the blackout were frustrating.

But I still say we were all crazy to volunteer, and even vie to be killed. Must write a paper on that some day.

I'm getting fed up to here with all this foofaraw about the CBC not providing proper farm coverage.

A House of Commons Broadcast Committee reported on the inadequacies of farm reporting on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation stations. The committee blasted the CBC top brass for being out of touch with the real world.

Crap! I submit the top brass is in touch with the real world. Programming has been changed to exclude farm information simply because too few people are engaged in farming these days. No radio station can exist by trying to supply all the needs of six per cent of the population.

The CBC people are not out of touch. They know what grabs listeners and farm information does not grab listeners. Which isn't to say that the CBC should not present that information.

If, as Peter Hannam, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, says, the CBC has a responsibility to provide that information, good. Then, provide it. But don't castigate the CBC when the listening audience dwindles.

Don't call them 18 kinds of a dam fool when surveys indicate that only a handful of people are listening. And don't shout to the rooftops that public money is being squandered to provide that service.

Is the whole point of having a public broadcast system to fill the needs private stations cannot meet? Is this why we have a CBC, as Mr. Hannam asks?

If you agree, fine. Let's have it. Let's get some more professionals in the CBC to join some of the good men such as Laurie Jennings, George Adkins, Glen Powell and Don Barron.

Do farmers need a minimum of 30 minutes a day to provide the information about prices, technical improvements and national and international developments and analyses?

To improve the quality of farm broadcasts, the OFA strongly supports the recommendations that it (the new programming) operate outside the confines of CBC general news coverage; that an agricultural advisory council be established, provided there are farmer members of the council; that a full-time, well-qualified agriculture broadcaster be put in charge of farm broadcasting; and that a broadcast complaints commission be established," says Hannam.

He adds, too, that any changes will depend on the attitude with which they are carried out. It must be recognized that farmers require specific information...differentiated from food programming aimed at consumers.

All of which is quite true.

But the CBC brass and the lower echelon producers and directors have been giving the listening public just exactly what they want to hear: consumer-oriented programs because consumers make up the biggest part of the listening audience.

Who can fault them for giving listeners exactly what they want to hear?

The CBC has other obligations and the OFA executives along with the commons committee made those obligations abundantly clear.

But it will cost money and it will cost listeners to the CBC. So, don't scream like a wounded wart-hog if the changes are made.

Heaven knows, too much top-40 screeching, whining guitars, wire-news cliches, staccato newscasts and shallow reporting is heard on the private networks. Most of those so-called news reporters wouldn't know a good story if it hit them between the ears.

The CBC is the last hope for good farm broadcasting. The private networks are too hung up on making money and following traditional patterns to pay any attention to farming.

Local milk moustache spotters

Be on the look-out for these two Official Milk Spotters who will be searching for milk-drinkers in your area this summer.

Maureen and Teri Routliffe, sisters from the Toronto area, are very enthusiastic about their Spotter jobs. They would be pleased to give a milk or milkshake drinker in your area, one of 160,000 certificates offering 12,000 T-shirts, 3,000 L.P.'s and a chance at owning one of five British Leyland Minis.

Teri, 18, and Maureen, 19, are from a family of seven. They both love to meet people. Teri, who is fond of oil painting and arts and crafts, worked as a Junior Ranger based in Wawa last summer; Maureen, who prefers outdoor hobbies, was a cashier and waitress. They have both worked as playground supervisors in past summers.

Maureen is starting her first year in the Humber College Public Relations course this fall. Her sister is entering Grade 13 this year, and afterwards, hopes to go into a Civil Engineering course.

Part time studies popularity increasing

PETERBOROUGH - The pattern of summer school at Trent University is changing, reports the head of Trent's college for part-time students.

The number of summer evening courses has multiplied nearly five times in the past four years, says Erika Pipher, acting principal of Julian Blackburn College. In 1974, Trent offered four and a half evening courses while 22 are offered in the session that is just ending.

The number of courses being taken this summer by students is virtually unchanged from the total in the 1976 summer session (1113 this year, 1115 in 1976). In 1976, students took 840 summer day courses and 275 evening courses. In the current session, the split is almost even: 552 day courses and 561 evening courses.

One reason for the shift from daytime to evening courses, said Mrs. Pipher, is that part-time studies is becoming increasingly attractive to office workers and people working in small businesses in the city and region. The proportion of these as summer school students is rising, while that of teachers is diminishing.

Mrs. Pipher said, however, that she expects teachers to continue to make up a very substantial chunk of summer enrolment for quite a long while.

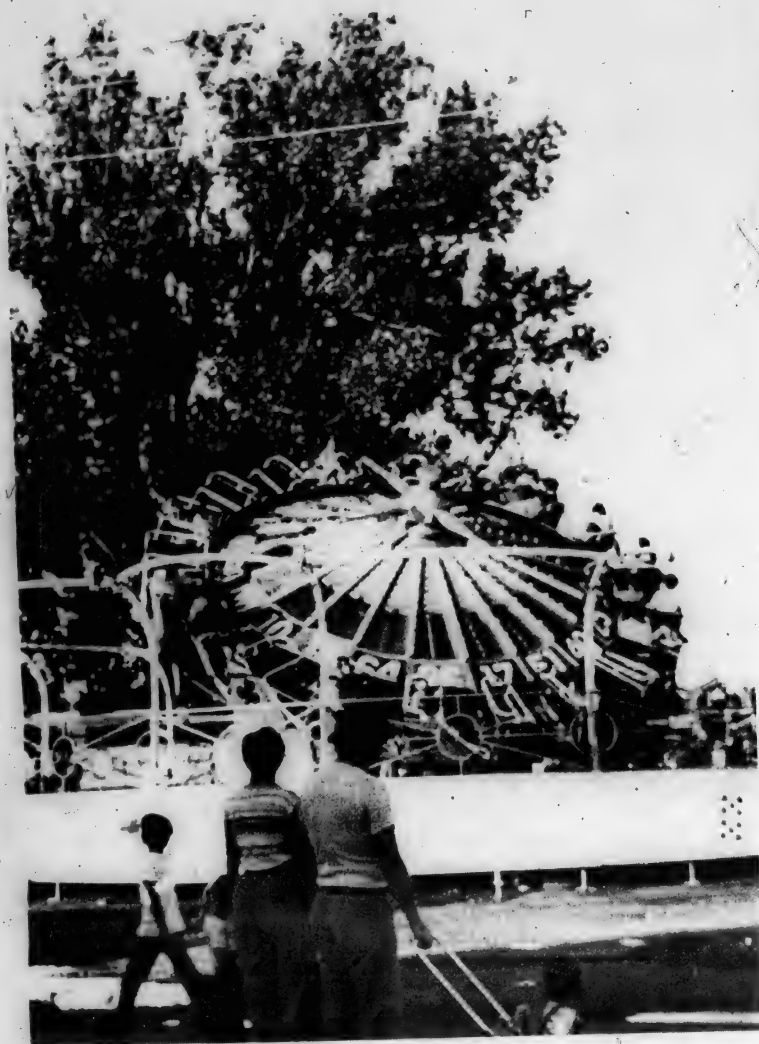

"For that reason, we'll retain the daytime course," she said. "Evening courses will probably continue to increase in popularity but we expect there will always be a place for the day session."

The day courses, offered over a six-week period from early July to mid-August, are particularly attractive to teachers. Evening courses run from mid-May to mid-August. Examinations for both are held at the conclusion of classes in August.

In 1978, Mrs. Pipher expects about the same number of daytime summer courses (20 to 22) with perhaps four or five more courses added to the evening program, raising offerings there to about 27 courses.

She expects the brief era of sharp shifts is past, that changes in summer school patterns will be slower in future. Teachers will continue to make up a substantial proportion of enrolment, either to improve certification or to delve into new areas, but a growing number of non-teachers will join the many engaged in part-time study.

Open House held at Madoc Review

Alvi Devolin (seated) and Ogle Devolin paid a visit to the offices of the Madoc Review Newspaper during our open house last Friday afternoon. They were among the more than 50 area residents who dropped by to wish the paper continued success in its expanded facilities.

One of the better known residents of this area, Phil Rivers, auctioneer and service station owner, dropped by the new offices of the Madoc Review Newspaper last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Rivers enjoyed a cup of coffee and a chat with the office manager, Pauline Harris, during his visit. The Madoc Review Newspaper moved its offices to 21 St. Lawrence Street East just over two weeks ago.

Delegates told

Ontario seatbelt law working

Traffic Injury Research Foundation: This medical-oriented Foundation was established in 1964 through the initiative of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons and with the active support of a number of other organizations concerned with the medical aspects of traffic accidents as a major health problem in Canada.

As their official research program states, automobile accidents today "clearly demonstrate major features characteristic of historic disease epidemics of the past."

Seat belts were a major topic of discussion at the 13th annual Conference of the Traffic Injury Research Foundation which was held in Ottawa.

Among the topics discussed were attitudes towards seat belt legislation, evaluation of the effect in Ontario, reduction in chest injuries and the question of medical exemptions.

The results of a Canada-wide survey of attitudes towards seat belts was reported on by Ruth Heron, Road and Motor Vehicle Traffic Safety Branch, Transport Canada.

This survey brought favourable response except in Nova Scotia. Main objections were associated with personal liberty and a fear that seat belts are dangerous.

Attitudes were also the feature of the study by C.J.S. Wilde and L. Cunningham of Queen's University. Their results indicated that 26 per cent were wearing seat belts before the Ontario announcement of proposed legislation. This rose to 46 per cent after the announcement and averaged 62 per cent after legislation was in effect.

They made two further observations: that while attitudes went down, compliance with the law went up, and that a study should be aimed at why people do not buckle up.

Effect of law in Ontario

The effect of the legislation in Ontario was outlined by Jan Pierce of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

The conclusions were that the legislation is working, more people are wearing seat belts and belted drivers and passengers are experiencing a lower fatality and injury rate.

This was backed by a report on chest injuries by J. Hardwicke and H. Sachs of the Ottawa Civic Hospital.

Chest injuries admitted to the Civic during the first five months of 1976 were compared with similar injuries during that period in 1974 and 1975.

Although a limited study, the authors concluded that there was a significant drop in the number and severity of chest injuries from vehicle accidents since seat belt legislation had been introduced.

Admissions decreased by over 50 per cent with a further 75 per cent decrease in the length of time spent in hospital. This resulted in a saving of more than $65,000 in hospital bed costs alone. If the trend continued, it could average out at $150,000 over the year at this one hospital alone.

Drs. Hardwicke and Sachs also noted that, although no studies have been carried out, the general impression from other medical departments is that they are also experiencing a downward trend in severity of injuries when seat belts are worn.

Medical exemptions

The question of medical exemption from the use of seat belts was discussed by a panel of three medical doctors and a lawyer. The consensus was that there are a few, if any, medical problems that warrant exemption from the seat belt law.

James Wiley, an Ottawa orthopaedic surgeon, pointed out that exemptions were a major dilemma for doctors because the grounds had to be acceptable in both a court of law and his medical peers.

Dr. Wiley suggested that a provincial committee of medical experts be set up to determine what medical conditions, if any, would warrant exemption.

W.R. Ghent, chief of surgery, Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston and chairman of the Canadian Medical Association's Committee on Emergency Medical Care, noted that he had a legal paper which his patients must sign before he will give them an exemption.

"Most of my patients who read the legal release suddenly find that they can struggle along and use the restraints," he added.

Dr. Ghent also suggested another deterrent to non-use would be to make all persons involved in an accident, and who are not wearing seat belts, financially responsible for their own medical costs.

James Mackenzie, a surgeon from Hamilton who is chairman of the Ontario Medical Association's Accidental Injury Committee, suggested that an alternative for doctors is to recommend that patients not drive or ride in cars until they have recovered sufficiently to wear seat belts.

Dr. MacKenzie also noted that he is on emergency call every Friday night and before the seat belt law, he was called in on two or three serious accident injuries each evening.

"After the introduction of the legislation," he continued, "I went for 15 straight Fridays without being called into the hospital."

Legal aspects

The legal aspects of the exemption question was presented by Peter New-combe, an Ottawa lawyer. He pointed out that the responsibility for medical exemptions lies with the medical profession because no one else is qualified to do so.

But, he continued, if a doctor has a valid medical reason for refusing or granting an exemption, he is not running much of a risk of legal action.

He urged doctors to record the refusal or granting of an exemption on the medical records of his patients with a carefully documented reason for doing so. This could be important evidence if legal action was taken at a later date following an accident.

When choosing tennis clothes for the family, you're certain to net the best value if you remember to combine superb appearance with long wearability and comfort.

One popular style features smart shorts with navy blue and white panels, made of 100 percent polyester. The shorts, which have a front zipper with hook closure and two front ball pockets, come in sizes for girls, women, men and boys - so the whole family can be decked out as a team.

ALL IN THE GAME - Fashionable tennis attire for the whole family - such as these popular shorts made for men, boys, women and girls - adds style to the game.

A white shirt and a visored hat top off the outfit. All these, fine fashions come from PRO-Keds, long known for tennis footwear, which has now come out with a line of tennis clothing for the fashionable sports-minded that's coordinated to mix and match for a love match on the court.

Among the best footwear to go with the tennis outfit is the PRO-Keds Trophy Deluxe fabric tennis shoes. With uppers of best-quality duck and terry cushioned insole, they come in five colors. They also boast a durable, molded anti-skid outsole; a protective rubber bumper on the toe and a nylon tricot foam-padded tongue for extra comfort.

It all adds up to family tennis attire as good-looking as it is serviceable.

CORTS discusses environment

PICTON, ONTARIO - An active public meeting of the Canada-Ontario Rideau-Trent-Severn (CORTS) Advisory Committee was held on August 10 in Picton, Ont. The audience discussed a number of topics, focussing on environmental issues and boating difficulties on the Bay of Quinte.

In introducing the meeting, the Chairman for the evening, Mr. Jim O'Brien, Committee Sector Member from Belleville, stated, "The Committee is concerned with who should make what use of the CORTS Corridor and how to balance uses. We will advise the Ministers responsible for your concerns."

The boating difficulties in the Quinte area expressed to the Committee most frequently were: impassable aquatic weed growth in Presqu'ile Bay; the operation of the causeway swing bridge across the Bay of Quinte at Belleville; the inavailability for local use of the Customs Wharf at Presqu'ile; and the lack of access to the harbour at Wellington.

Jack Evans, a Trenton boater, asked for "some leeway in the Belleville bridge operation so that boats under storm conditions didn't have to wait up to three-quarters of an hour for the bridge to open". Another boater thought the bridge could be opened on a half-hour schedule, rather than hourly.

A strong concern for the environment of West Lake was expressed by Ruth Armstrong of Wellington. There is little water circulation in the lake, resulting in weed problems and changes in the marshes. A possible solution was thought to be an improved entrance from Lake Ontario. This, it was said, would aid West Lake and also give a much needed boat access to Wellington Harbour from Lake Ontario. Mrs. Armstrong asked for CORTS help in getting a cost-benefit study done, which she was sure would prove the need for this opening.

Several boaters commented on the weeds in Presqu'ile Bay, with Mr. Harry Smith stating, "The weeds are bad, even after late chemical treatment of the channel, and numerous boaters coming into Picton are complaining about the Presqu'ile Bay weeds." "Boaters coming from the West are forced to make the dangerous detour around Prince Edward County rather than go into the sheltered waters of Presqu'ile Bay and the Bay of Quinte", said Walter White of Brighton.

A strange story of air pollution unfolded when a boater, Mr. Richard Hart, told of ducking rocks falling into the outer Picton Harbor. The rocks, he claimed, were due to careless dynamiting by the Lake Ontario Cement Plant. He felt the fumes from this plant's operation were also an environmental hazard. Others in the audience complained about this plant and air pollution at night; the cement dust; and the fog when lake freighters are loaded.

Henry Backer of Thunder Point probably summed up the audience's environmental concerns best with his comment, "Water quality is getting a little worse each year. The Bay of Quinte is probably one of the most polluted waters in Ontario".

The audience was brought back to the ground when Dr. Donald Misener of Bloomfield said, "It's fine to have agencies to look after these problems but we, the people are really responsible."

The Advisory Committee Chairman, Mrs. Lois Hastings, thanked the audience for their excellent participation and announced the next public meeting would be at Severn Falls on August 27 at 2:00 p.m.

Rent increase

Landlords limited one per year

Tenants and landlords should be aware that only one rent increase is permitted in any 12-month period, consumer and commercial relations minister Sidney Handelman said today in a statement aimed at clearing up any confusion that still exists over changes in the rent review legislation.

Even if the rent increase is under the eight per cent guideline it must stay in effect for a year the minister said.

"Landlords wishing to increase rents by more than eight per cent must continue to apply to rent review for permission to do so," Mr. Handelman said. "This figure will remain in effect until Oct. 14, 1977."

Written reasons justifying a rent increase must accompany the 90-day notice of increase which the landlord must give under The Landlord and Tenant Act.

A tenant or landlord now has 21 days instead of 15 in which to file an appeal against a rent review officer's decision. The other party to the appeal must be notified within seven days after the notice has been filed.

The minister urged landlords or tenants who have questions about their rights and protections under the Act to contact the nearest regional rent review office.

Check plants before returning them to house

Houseplants summering outdoors should be checked for insects before they are returned to the house, says R.A. Fleming, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

"Houseplants living outdoors during the summer are often exposed to unusual insect pests. Insects may cause problems when plants are brought indoors."

The most common insect pests are greenhouse whiteflies and aphids.

Aphids appear as tiny specks on plant leaves, while greenhouse whiteflies look like a snowflake cloud around plants.

"Both insects make plants look generally poor by sucking plant juices."

Prevent insect problems by spraying with malathion, diazinon or cygon about three weeks before moving houseplants indoors.

Because the greenhouse whitefly's life cycle is short, Mr. Fleming says spraying should be repeated every four to five days.

Spraying also controls aphids and greenhouse whiteflies affecting outdoor plants such as squash, tomatoes, peppers, zinnias, and petunias.

Canadians to know more about breakfast cereals

OTTAWA - National Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde and Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Tony Abbott recently made public a proposal that the labels on breakfast cereals declare the total amount of sugar and other sweeteners, as a percentage of the total weight of each cereal. The proposal is contained in a letter sent to all manufacturers of breakfast cereals by the Health Protection Branch (HPB), Department of National Health and Welfare. The letter also includes proposals for mandatory minimum content of vitamins and minerals that would be required in cereal products.

A survey of the sugar content of Canadian breakfast cereals was recently completed by HPB. Seventy-four cereals were analyzed and the results indicated that sugar represented up to approximately 56 per cent of the weight of some cereals. Certain foods which are mostly sugar, such as candies and soft drinks, are easily recognized but Canadians may not be aware of the large amount of sugar in some manufactured foods, such as certain breakfast cereals.

Mr. Lalonde noted that unwise use of sugar is linked to dental caries, a widespread health problem in Canada. The recently released Nutrition Canada

Dental report has drawn attention to the extent to which caries has affected the dental health of Canadians. Sucrose is of major importance in both the formation of dental plaque and the metabolic activity of oral bacteria which leads to dental caries. Sticky, sweet foods play a particularly undesirable role in this aspect.

Many adult Canadians are overweight, their intake of calories being greater than the calories they use. A general reduction in the intake of food and increased physical activity are usually advocated to prevent or treat this problem. When caloric intake are reduced, those foods which are good sources of nutrients take on increased importance. Foods that are mostly sugar are likely to be low in vitamins, minerals and protein; the intake of such foods should be limited.

Restrictions on saccharin recommended

OTTAWA - Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde today announced that he has received recommendations from an expert committee regarding the use of the artificial sweetener saccharin in drugs and cosmetics.

Members of the expert committee were chosen on the basis of consultation with professional associations of medicine and dentistry. The committee recently met in Ottawa and made the following major recommendations:

1) Saccharin has been shown to be carcinogenic in animals and must therefore be presumed to be a potential carcinogen in man. The degree of risk cannot be determined precisely but is considered to be of such a level that where use of saccharin is unavoidable in drugs used to treat serious diseases, its continued use should be allowed.

2) Saccharin should be permitted for use as a sweetening agent when used in minimal quantities in 'Prescription-only' drugs of significant therapeutic importance. This exemption will only apply where no acceptable alternative formulation has failed to produce a product of sufficient acceptability to ensure the compliance of patients in following the necessary dosage regimen. The only types of drug formulation likely to meet these requirements are those taken in liquid form or as chewable tablets. These are essentially formulations intended for young children who are unable to swallow tablets or capsules. Individual evaluation of each product would be made by the Health Protection Branch.

3) Those mouthwashes and toothpastes which are currently considered to be cosmetics under the Food and Drugs Act, should be considered as drugs for the purpose of determining the date of implementation of the restrictions on the use of saccharin.

4) The committee also strongly recommends that saccharin or saccharin-containing products should not be taken by pregnant or lactating women.

The Health Protection Branch has taken these recommendations under advisement for the development of regulations governing the use of saccharin in drugs and cosmetics.

Building compost heaps Recycle summer lawn clippings and kitchen scraps by building a compost heap, says D.B. McNeill, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

"Compost added to gardens next spring will improve soil texture, organic content, and water-holding capacity."

Compost can be made from leaves, lawn clippings, end-of-season flowers, and kitchen scraps. Microorganisms in the soil break organic matter into useful compost. Glass, metal, plastic, or synthetic fiber scraps should be avoided.

"Build the compost heap in a shady corner or under a tree to avoid direct sun and wind. Erect a brick, plastic, or wooden structure to hold the compost. Make sure walls can be expanded as the pile grows."

Spread compost, manure, or fertile soil at the bottom of the pile. Add six-inch layers of organic waste as it accumulates. Water each layer of organic wastes thoroughly to speed the decaying process.

Layers of manure or fertilizer can be alternated with organic material to increase the nitrogen content of the compost.

Compost should be covered with burlap or heavy-gauge plastic to prevent drying.

"Diseases and smells should not be a problem because compost becomes hot while decaying and almost sterilizes itself," says Mr. McNeill.

After two weeks, he suggests turning the compost to allow complete decay throughout the pile. This process aerates and mixes the raw compost.

"Turn the pile monthly until compost is dark brown, crumbly, and fails to heat when re-piled. This usually takes four months, but may take longer in cold weather."

Planning for the 1977 International Plowing Match began over five years ago when Frontenac County was awarded the event at the annual convention of the Ontario Plowman's Association. Now, with only two months to go, activities on the Greenlees Bros. farm near Kingston have picked up. Final touches will be completed on the site to make it ready for the almost overnight construction of tented city.

The Greenlees farm, located just a few miles north of Highway 401 via either Highway 15 or the Joyceville Road, was chosen as the 1977 site three years ago. Since that time, the tented city location and some of the competition plots have been in sod to ensure a solid area. Additional subsurface drainage has been added to keep the environment as dry as possible as well as encourage the sod cover to create a firm 'foundation' for the fully service community which will rise for the five day match from Tues., Sept. 27 to Sat., Oct. 1.

The International Plowing Match returns to Eastern Ontario for the first time since 1961 when Hastings County was host. Frontenac was the site 30 years ago in 1947.

This year's match will be officially opened by Miss Flora MacDonald, MP for Kingston and the Islands. 1977 marks the first time a woman has opened the match, recognizing the incalculable contribution which women have made to agriculture throughout history.

Beginning August 1, crews from Ontario Hydro, followed by Bell Canada installers, will service the tented city site with electricity and telephones. By September 8, OPA Headquarters and all exhibitors location stakes will be in place. Exhibitors are expected to start moving on September 12 onto the six street plans. Space must be booked with the Ontario Plowman's Association before August 1. Over 500 exhibitors are expected to snap up every inch of the 20,000 feet of available space in tented city.

The match itself will feature 300 expert plowman in 15 classes daily, vying for over $35,000 in prize money. Other highlights include daily parades, the Queen of the Furrow contest, midway rides from Canada's Conklin Shows, helicopter flights over tented city and the popular ladies' program. There is something for everyone at the plowing match.

Frontenac County is an area steeped in history and tradition. The host county exhibit is a show in itself, telling the story of the area.

The historic and antique displays are always interesting. This year, the city of Kingston and neighbouring counties are heavily involved in the plowing match; they have been promoting the show at every opportunity all year long and the city is co-sponsoring the awards banquet slated for Fri., Sept. 30.

Gates at the International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Show are open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, Sept. 27 to Oct. 1. Admissions remain the same: $2 for adults, 50 cents for elementary school children and $2 per car. Plan now to be among the 200,000 expected at the 1977 match.

Marijuana seized

OPP crack down on pushers, users

During the past three weeks the Ontario Provincial Police in Madoc have seized more than 117 pounds of marijuana and charged 11 people with possession of the narcotic.

On July 24 police checked a car on Highway 62 and found a garbage bag full of marijuana weighing 18 pounds in the vehicle's trunk. They charged William Stephen Anderson of Islington; Jeffrey Roy MacDonald of Toronto and Sandra Ann Thomson of Toronto with possession of marijuana for the purpose of trafficking.

Ninety-one pounds of marijuana were discovered in the trunk of an automobile which the police stopped on County Road 12 at 3:30 in the morning of July 28. Police said that the marijuana had been freshly cut and was still wet. Charged with possession for the purpose of trafficking were Daniel Poulin, Jerry Marcotte, Guy Lefebvre and Robert Gagnon of Sudbury, Ontario.

The next bust by the local police occurred on August 10 just after midnight when they checked a car in the village of Madoc and uncovered 15 grams of prepared marijuana. Charged with possession of marijuana was Edward Alvin Devolin of Madoc.

Later that same day, at approximately 5:10 p.m., the OPP stopped a car in Madoc Township and seized a small quantity of marijuana. Charged with possession in the seizure of the two ounces of pot were Robert Mitchell Huebschwerlen of Madoc and Dean Terry Croxall of Peterborough, Ontario.

In addition to the arrests made during the past three weeks, the police report that a farmer called in on August 1 to report that some marijuana had been found growing in his yard. The farmer cut his crop of pot and burned it, the police said.

Charges for the possession of marijuana are made under the Narcotic Control Act. Simple possession of the weed carries a maximum fine of $1,000 or a jail term of six months, or both, on first summary conviction. For subsequent summary convictions the fine is increased to a maximum of $2,000 or a jail term of one year, or both. For possession as an indictable offence, the maximum penalty under Section 3(1) of the Narcotic Control Act is 7 years imprisonment.

On the charge of possession of marijuana for the purpose of trafficking, the maximum penalty, according to Section 4(1) of the Narcotic Control Act, is imprisonment for life.

Despite rain

MD Carnival successful

Thanks to the availability of the Kiwanis Centre, in Madoc, the Carnival for Muscular Dystrophy, originally planned as an outdoor event, was able to be held last Tuesday afternoon.

While the rain pounded outside, 44 youngsters were warm and dry inside the large hall and enjoyed games, treats, and prizes. In all, $48 was raised during the afternoon for the fight against Muscular Dystrophy.

The winner of the door prize, a hamburger, french fries, and milk shake donated by Kramps Happy Hut, was Siobhan Harrop.

Among the others donating prizes for the afternoon's festivities, was the Land Of Lakes Radio Club.

The chairman of the carnival, Karen Bailey, expressed her appreciation to all who supported the event, particularly her helpers, Debbie Francis, David Nickle, Tammy Twiddy, Jeffrey Francis and Karen Reynolds.

Authority to investigate weed control

At the August 4 meeting of the Moira River Conservation Authority a motion was carried to have the Resources Manager, J. Johnston, obtain information from the Ministry of the Environment regarding chemical and mechanical means of weed control in lakes such as the Moira and Stoco.

Earlier during the meeting, held at the Authority's offices in Belleville, a delegation from the Moira Lake Cottager's Association made recommendations to the Authority.

Those in attendance from the Cottager's Association included Messrs. Ginges, Collier and Reid, as well as the Secretary-Treasurer of the Association.

Among the recommendations made by the Association to the Authority were the following:

1. That the summer level of Moira Lake be lowered four feet to allow equipment to be used to remove silt and weed beds from the shores of the lake;

2. That a permanent dam with control valves be constructed at the outlet of Moira Lake to replace the present seasonal dam;

3. That a high summer holding level be maintained on Moira Lake;

4. That in 1978 the Moira Rivers Conservation Authority construct a weir across the side channel beside the present seasonal dam to raise the summer level of the lake.

Kinsmen report profit

At a meeting held at the Madoc Hotel last Tuesday evening the President of the Madoc Kinsmen Club, Bob Bancroft, reported that $2,200 profit had been realized by the Service Club from its Summerfest, held in Madoc the weekend of July 8 to 10.

The nine members present for the impromptu meeting learned that the revenue from the sale of beer steins, which are still available from club members, will be in addition to the $2,200 reported.

The club's activities, curtailed during the summer months, will re-commence with the first general meeting of the season, slated for September 13.

Max Keeping to appear at Fall Fair

Max Keeping, the ever-popular television broadcaster, will once again be appearing at the Madoc Class B Fair, which gets underway September 23 at the Fair Grounds in Madoc. This will be the first year the new arena will be used for the Fair.

The three-day Fair, sponsored by the Madoc District Agricultural Society, gets underway Friday with the Drawing Match, consisting of heavy and light horse classes of horses.

Then on Saturday the Junior Fair, with the 4-H Clubs from Hastings County, will feature livestock displays as part of their Achievement Day. This Achievement Day will be in keeping with one of the objectives

Princess crowned

Tina Jongenotter of Foxboro is the new Dairy Princess of Hastings County.

At the opening of the Stirling 'Class C' Fair last Friday evening Miss Jongenotter won out over two other girls, Louise Lott of Roslin and Dayle Bateman of Eldorado, and was crowned Dairy Princess by last year's winner, Laurie Sills.

Miss Sills will go on to represent this county at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The Dairy Princess competition consisted of an interview with each of the girls by the panel of judges: Merv Naper for the Milk Industry Branch of the Provincial Government, Peterborough; Heather Baker, the Dairy Princess Co-ordinator of Lennox and Addington Counties; and Tom Heath, who is retired from the Milk Industries Branch. Following the interview each of the girls gave a short speech on some aspect of the milk industry.

The interview with the judges counted for 65 per cent of the judging with the speeches making up the other 35 per cent.

Following the speeches the girls gave a demonstration on milking.

In her speech before the more than 300 people on hand for the competition, Dayle Bateman, 17, talked of life on the farm when she was growing up. She spoke of the early hours and the necessity to forego some of the pleasures enjoyed by her town and city-raised counterparts. She concluded with a brief discussion of cheese-making, and said that she is proud of Hastings County's record for cheese production.

Louise Lott, 16 chose 'cleanliness in milk producing' as her topic. She said that TB and other diseases can be transmitted through the improper and unsanitary care of cows on dairy farms.

"It is important to keep cows and milking equipment clean and in good order," she said.

The new pipeline systems used on dairy farms are "the cleanest way to milk," she concluded.

For her speech Friday evening, Tina Jongenotter, 16, chose to talk about the nutrient value of milk.

"Milk is called Nature's most perfect food," she said. "And yet, not everyone is drinking it."

She said that most teenagers are not drinking milk because of the ready availability of soft drinks.

Other topics touched on by Miss Jongenotter included cheese-making in Hastings County and the production of yogurt as a by-product of milk. A heavy thunderstorm, accompanied by torrential rain beating on the tin barn in which the competition was held made it difficult for the candidates to make themselves heard.

While the judges were mulling over the interviews and speeches in order to decide a new Dairy Princess, the girls gave a milking demonstration. This demonstration was not part of the competition.

In announcing the winner of the competition, judge Heather Baker said that the threesome had had a "very difficult time" deciding on the best competitor. She said that all of the girls were excellent candidates for the title.

The way I see it

by VINCENT DURANT

I've never been big on Swan Songs or tearful farewells, so I promise not to get mushy in this, my last editorial.

Seven months ago I came to Madoc and a new career. Previously, I had been an accountant in Ottawa, Vancouver and Halifax. It was not without some trepidation that I entered upon a new career in a completely different environment!

Alas, my fears were quickly allayed. It's hard to feel like a stranger when the charm of Madoc gets a hold on you.

The people here quickly accepted me, with my earliest acquaintances: people like Jean Bailey, Maurice Goulah and Bob Bancroft - making sure I was introduced around the village.

And the office staff at the Review,
including Jean Asselstine, Pauline Harris, Carol Paraniuk and Karen Jones, filled in for my many inadequacies as an editor.

They gave me many news tips and story leads and made light of my obvious blunders. Like the time I called Jack Ellis the Liberal member for the Provincial riding twice in the same paper - I still cringe at the thought of that one!

Looking back over the seven months I have spent in this delightful village, my thoughts turn to such events as the Centennial Special we published for the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Review.

If it weren't for the many history buffs of Madoc who helped out that special edition couldn't have been produced. People like Jim Pitts, the late Mrs. Ken Bateman, Alma Moorcroft, Mrs. Ivor Hughes and many more gave so much information and time to the effort.

Another special occasion I shall long remember is the chartering of the Madoc Kinsmen Club in April. I am proud to have been one of the charter members of that club.

And who could forget the election? I found myself, within one week, being called a New Democrat, a Liberal, a Conservative, and a member of the P.E.P. following. It's good to see that things are now back to normal, with sports, the weather and the opposite sex once more the prime topics of conversation around the town.

So why am I leaving if I like it here so much?

Well, as a newcomer to newspapers, I find a need for the experience and exposure which a daily paper can offer.
That is why I applied to, and was fortunate enough to be accepted by, the Peterborough Examiner as their staff reporter in Lindsay, Ontario.

I only hope that the people of Lindsay are as friendly and open-hearted to this newcomer as have been the good people of Madoc.

If I were to sum up my experiences here,
I would have to agree with the happy face button being sold by the TOPS group:
"Happfness is Madoc Canada".

Senior Citizens enjoy corn roast

The Senior Citizens Club of Madoc enjoyed a Corn Roast Aug. 13 at Prices

Mrs. Jennie Broadworth conducted a women.

All enjoyed corn, hot dogs and buns and delicious watermelon. Mr. Burrell Bate-

George Thompson tops competition

George Thompson

George Thompson of RR3, Stirling was the top junior contestant at the Junior Day judging competition held at the Peterborough Exhibition recently.

George scored 428 points out of a possible 500, and beat out 190 contestants for his high honour. He received the Royal Bank trophy and a scholarship from the Peterborough Exhibition. George is the son of Joe and Margaret Thompson at RR3, Stirling.

Other high placing contestants from Hastings County included: 9th - Sandra
Bush 4 Stirling; 17th - Tony Lajoie, Tweed
3; 20th - Tom Whalen 4 Tweed; 26th -
Edward Huffman, Corbyville 1; 34th -
Nancy Bush 4 Stirling; 35th - Stephen
Yatsula, Corbyville 1; 37th - Shirley Ray, 2
Roslin; 39th - Mary Danford Springbrook 1; and 40th - Dale Martin, Tweed 2.

There were 60 contestants in the senior section, won by Ivan Dejong of Durham County. Barry Danford and Bob Ray were the highest Hastings contestants, and were tied for the 11th spot.

Others from Hastings included 15th -
Brian Kerby, Stirling 2; 17th - Bev Bush, Stirling 4; 25th - Leslie Martin, Tweed 2;
and 26th - Kendall Clare, Corbyville 1.

The 4-H members from an area of Durham on the West to Hastings and Prince Edward on the East, were required to judge dairy and beef cattle, and conduct a ration appraisal quiz and an identification exercise.

Fifty 4-H members from Hastings attended this educational day.

Holstein show large success

The show season in East Central Ontario was off to a good start, Saturday evening, July 30, 1977, as 66 purebred Holsteins were paraded by 11 exhibitors before judge
T. Robert Flett, Oshawa, at the annual Lennox and Addington Holstein Show held in conjunction with Napance Fair. A number of firsts were achieved.

The Oak Acres herd of Leland and Larry Wannamaker, Napance won Premier Exhibitor honors. The Premier Breeder was Leland Wannamaker.

The Vigh Farm entries of Gerald Hunt and Sons, Newburgh and Trekli Farm animals of son Paul Hunt also made an impressive contribution to the show. They won the Grand Champion trophy on the first prize four-year-old, Vigh Rag Apple Star. Sired by Reidson Allstar, she was described by judge Flett as exhibiting correctness of conformation, snugness of udder and ideal teat placement. Their second prize Aged Cow was the winner of the Inter-Breed Best Udder Class.

The Breeder's Herd trophy was also presented to Vigh Farms. Robert and Marabeth Trotter, Selby won their first rosette for the Reserve Grand Champion female, Green Top Winston Babe. This stylish female sired by Way Brook Sir Winston placed second in the four-year-old class.

The Junior-Champion female was found in the heifer calf class. Bakerholm Admiral Shirley won the Junior Champion rosette and was the first prize 4-H calf. This senior heifer calf, wired by A Northcroft Admiral Citation was exhibited by Mark Baker, son of Clarence Baker, Napance. This calf exhibited more stretch, upstandingness and dairy rib to place over the strong, powerful, deep ribbed senior yearling for George Harker, Napance. The winner in the
Gem, an A Dutch Croft Fury Lad daughter shown by Grant Huveck and Son, Bath.

Madoc COPE to spend another year in Tweed

Madoc COPE (Constructive Opportunities for Progressive Employment), the non-profit corporation established with the assistance of Canada Manpower's LEAP funding, will not be coming back to Madoc this year.

When the workshop moved to Tweed in January of 1977, in order to find more space in which to grow, it was hoped that within a year newer and larger facilities could be obtained for it here in Madoc.

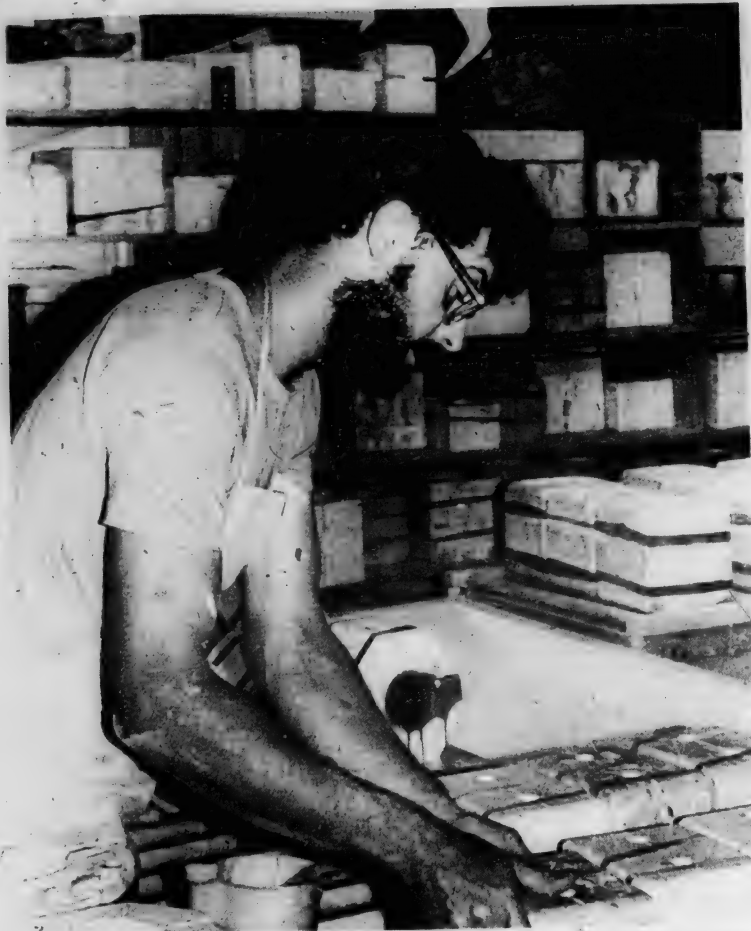

With the cessation of the LEAP (Local Employment Assistance Program) funding however, by the federal government, the board of directors of COPE have had to do some rethinking on the matter just to keep the workshop alive.

Now, as COPE's board of directors chairman Robert Henderson recently pointed out, the group has come up with some new arrangements with the provincial government in order to stave off any threats of closing out the workshop. It is hoped that suitable accommodation can be obtained in Madoc during the next year, he said.

Madoc COPE began operations on March 4, 1974 with four employees. Over the three years since that time it has grown substantially, and continues to manufacture high quality, hand-crafted ceramics which sell in both the wholesale and retail markets. To date, sales have been made to more than 500 retail outlets from New Brunswick to Manitoba, and through a wholesale distributor from coast to coast.

Many changes have taken place, points out plant manager Bob Hudson, especially in the designs used for the ceramic pieces made by COPE. Indeed, most of the moulds now used are patented for the exclusive use of COPE, he said.

Richard LaPalme prepares some of the moulds used in the casting operation at Madoc COPE's workshop in Tweed. The moulds are filled with liquid clay which hardens when in contact with the plaster-of-paris mould. When the mould is then taken apart, the formed ceramic piece is removed and fired in a kiln at more than 2,000 degrees, fahrenheit.

Ceramic making in a nutshell

by Robert, Hudson, Manager, COPE

Madoc C.O.P.E. manufactures its wares, technically known as low-fire earthenware, by pouring liquefied clay (slip) into plaster-of-paris moulds, where a coating of clay is deposited on the inner surface of the mould. The clay continues to dry and shrink as moisture is absorbed into the mould, and after a period of time a cast object is removed from the mould.

The formed article, in a very fragile state, is known as greenware, and has various seam lines and marks from the mould which must be removed by variously cutting, scraping, sanding and sponging in a process known as fettling.

When the greenware has been fettled, it is stamped and sent to the kiln room for firing. (some underglaze colour may be applied at this stage by spraying or hand-painting).

The finished greenware then passes through a bisque firing of up to six hours in a kiln where a physical change in the body of the ware takes place; clay becoming pottery. Kiln temperatures reach approximately 600 degrees, centigrade or 2020 degrees fahrenheit.

The ware, now known as bisque, has a coating of glaze applied by either brushing or dipping, and the ware is returned to the kiln room for a second firing.

Glost ware is fired in a kiln for approximately the same length of time and at the same temperature as bisque, but additional care has to be taken in placing the ware in the kiln-glaze, literally a glass, melts and flows during the firing and each piece must be very carefully separated from its neighbours, the kiln walls and the floor.

When the ware has cooled sufficiently for handling, each piece is carefully examined for flaws, and those which pass inspection go through the storage area for shipping.

Each item takes a minimum of five working days to pass through all the processes required to manufacture a finished item; and at each stage in manufacture it is carefully examined for quality.

Airbrushing a ceramic bear is Karen Adams, an employee at Madoc COPE. The airbrushing is done prior to the application of glaze on the article, and gives the base color to the work.

Gary Warren fettles the pieces of pottery as they come out of the moulds. This operation takes off the rough edges and seam lines left by the mould. It is an operation involving cutting, sanding, scraping and sponging the article.

Allen Brooks decorates an owl prior to the glazing operation at Madoc COPE.

BOTTLES, BOTTLES EVERYWHERE!

A reader has written to say that she has recently come across some old bottles and would like to know something about different types of bottles and how to clean them.

Bottle collecting is a specialized field in antiques. The bottle collector is as serious about his field as the art critic is about his. He classifies his bottles in many different ways according to his taste. There are no hard and fast rules to follow, as there are in many other areas of antique collecting.

Not many years ago the buying, selling, trading, and collecting of bottles was unheard of. Today the story is quite different. Someone estimated that there were over 100,000 bottle collectors in Canada in 1976. If this is true, it means that there are more collectors of bottles in Canada than any other one group, including the large number of Depression Glass collectors.

Perhaps one of the reasons for the large number of bottle bugs is that an interesting and extensive collection can be built collecting of Avon bottles. The fancy gavels, turtles, boots, etc., that contained various Avon products were made in limited numbers. The art work is excellent and a rainbow of colors can be had. More and more of these bottles are turning up in antique shops with price tags increasing every day.

The best answer on how to clean bottles is 'as little as possible'. If any part of a label remains, don't disturb it. It helps to authenticate the bottle and increases its value manifold. If you have a bottle that has been buried for a number of years and has begun to rot (i.e., the outside of the glass has discoloured and started to scale) DON'T WASH IT! Use a very soft brush to get rid of the dirt. No one will consider you an untidy collector if a bit of dirt remains.

The beauty of these old bottles is in the different colours they turn from natural exposure to the elements.

Remember, if you are new to bottle collecting, clean a bottle only when it is absolutely necessary, and then clean as little as possible.

As to how to class your bottles, let your imagination run wild. Class them by colour, closure type, original use, height, or any other way you choose. If you find a bottle that has a screw cap, don't toss it aside as being new until you check. Screw caps, although different from the ones used today, made their first appearance several hundred years ago.

Clock House Publications in Peterborough, Ontario publishes two books on bottles. One is Bottles in Canada and the other is Unlabeled Across Canada Bottle Price Guide. Many other books have been written about bottles. Check with your local library; they probably have some on the shelf.

Happy hunting ... or maybe that should be happy digging!

Deloro news

Visitors at the Centre Hastings Nursing Home in Deloro last week included: Dorothy and Dennis Denton of Guelph; Jean and Frank Woods of Sudbury; Clayton and Lena Burkitt of Belleville and John and Shirley Wilkes of Marmora.

A new resident, Mabel Edgar of Havelock, was welcomed to the nursing home last week.

Brian Courtney of Picton, a former Deloro resident until the closing of the plant there in 1961, called on former acquaintances in the village last Saturday. Brian has recently graduated from Trent University in Peterborough.

He has been visiting with the family of Carl Brady, shown with him in the above picture.

Have you ever imagined the problems you might encounter if you spent a week in a foreign country with a family who spoke a language quite unfamiliar to you? This has been the experience of Martin Tremblay in Ontario and he is just from our neighbouring province, Quebec.

Martin has spent a week with Carl Brady, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brady, Marmora, as a participant in the Canada Student Exchange Program.

With a very limited knowledge of the French language, the Brady felt apprehensive on their trip to Kingston to meet their 13-year-old guest from the town of Alma, in north eastern Quebec. Martin had travelled by bus to Bagotville, by plane to Montreal, then by bus again to Kingston.

Though Martin does not speak English, he managed very well with the host family. The two boys had an enjoyable, companionable week and both look forward to a further seven days together at the Tremblays', commencing today.

The Bradys became aware of the program when it was explained in our Village schools in the spring by Mr. Drayton Cousineau. The Cousineau's son, Glen, participated in the Exchange last summer.

A Board of Inquiry will investigate a complaint of discrimination filed by Heather Hawkes, of Marmora, against Brown's Ornamental Ironworks of Belleville Ltd.

Mrs. Hawkes, 51, alleges she was denied employment as a welder because of her age, contrary to Section 4(1) of the Ontario Human Rights Code.

Professor A.D. Soberman, Dean of Law of Queen's University, was appointed chairman of the Board of Inquiry, which begins on August 25 at 10:00 a.m. in the Provincial Court House, 234 Pinnacle Street, Belleville. Counsel for the Ontario Human Rights Commission and Mrs. Hawkes is Sydney L. Goldenberg of Toronto.

The Board of Inquiry was established by Labour Minister Bette Stephenson, M.D., on the advice of the Ontario Human Rights Commission.

Scientists treat sewage

Scientists at Agriculture Canada's Swift Current, Sask., Research Station may have discovered a means of economically treating raw sewage and using it to irrigate crops.

Research carried out on the possibilities of using sewage to irrigate farmland unexpectedly revealed that sudden pressure changes in water pumps killed up to 90 per cent of the coliform bacteria present in sewage.

without a large outlay of money. The favourite tools for the person hunting bottles (especially new collectors) are a shovel and a map showing the location of old dump sites.

By spending just a few hours on the weekends digging in old dumps, a bottle collection can be started. The rest of the week can be spent resting muscles that haven't been used for awhile, in order to get them ready for the next weekend's digging.

Cellars of old houses that have long vanished from the scene is another good source of bottles. Just be sure you are not poaching on the property of another bottle collector. Shotguns have been fired for loss reason. And while looking for places to dig, don't forget the little house with the round holes in the seat that used to be out behind the big house. With the advent of modern plumbing many of these pits were filled-in with whatever was at hand - especially old bottles.

The bottle addict is now ready to decide in which area of bottle collecting he wants to specialize. Now begins the fun and games of travelling all over the country to hunt in antique shops to find that missing bottle that he needs for his collection. Some of the rare bottles bring unheard of prices today, but nothing stands in the way of the addict.

One man in Canada gave up smoking so that he would have more money to spend for bottles. Maybe this is an idea for someone who wants to stop smoking!

CHSS student recounts trip to California

By JAN GRAHAM

California is a great place to spend a weekend, and courtesy of Rockwell-Admiral International I was able to soak up that California sun from July 16 to the 19. But this was much more than a sightseeing tour. Included in our itinerary were the B-1 bombers, the space shuttle and Rockwell Laboratories. But no trip to California is complete without Disneyland and, of course, Beverly Hills.

The Rockwell-Admiral trip was awarded to three projects at the Canada wide science fair in Victoria. Mike Farkouh was the junior winner, Alux Luft and Bill Baldrige won the intermediate division, and I was the senior recipient of the award.

The trip, although short, was extremely educational and a lot of fun. Friday afternoon after arriving at Los Angeles airport and checking in at the Marriot Hotel, we flew by helicopter to Anaheim for a tour of the Autonetics laboratories. Here we saw the manufacturing of a delicate instrument used for determining small horizontal shifts in an object's position. This device is invaluable in flying planes, setting targets and predicting earthquakes.

Saturday, we toured through the mountains by car to Palmdale Space Division in the desert. Here we saw the Space Shuttle Orbiter 102 which is currently under construction. We were allowed to walk through the fuselage area, which is the cargo depot for satellites and other payloads. The Orbiter will be the first shuttle to do deep space research.

Departing Palmdale, we were headed for NASA Dryden Flight Research Centre in Lancaster to view the space shuttle 101 (presently doing tests). Originally it had been planned that we could actually inspect the shuttle, however a change in the test schedule involved the refueling of the space shuttle while we were there. The shuttle is fuelled with liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen. When refuelling, a poisonous gas called hydrogen surrounded the shuttle, consequently we viewed the vehicle from a distance of 300 feet. But even at this distance the shuttle still look huge.

The testing of the space shuttle is done at the Dryden Flight Research Centre because it offers the largest air strip which is actually a dry lake bed. Also being in the desert reduces the risk if there was a flight malfunction. The dry heat at 110 degrees Fahrenheit is almost unbearable, but apparently the residents get used to it.

The B1 Bomber which was next on our agenda is an amazing piece of technology. It is able to cruise at 1350 miles per hour at 50,000 ft. It can also automatically follow the terrain at lower altitudes.

The last day was spent at Disneyland. Here Walt Disney's imaginative technology in animation and breathtaking rides seems on par with America's greatest achievements.

My attitudes towards the space shuttle and space research have evolved from ignorance to high interest as a result of this trip.

I would like to extend my thanks to those people who supported the local science fair which gave me the opportunity to receive this trip.

W.I. meets at Burnside home

by CAROL PARANUIK

Two visitors added to the good attendance at the regular monthly meeting of Hart's-Riggs' Women's Institute last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Vera Burnside.

Roll Call, "One product I wouldn't recommend and why", showed that there are several products on the market that are not as good as the advertisements would have the consumer believe.

Mrs. Elsie Franks gave the motto, "Good management is better than a good income", which was very well presented.

During the business portion a motion was made to proceed with plans to re-shingle the roof of the W.I. Hall. A delegation representing this Branch of the women's institute met with the local council regarding the possibility of receiving a grant to get some work done on improvements to the grounds at the hall. Mrs. Vera Burnside gave the report on the findings. Council is to contact the Branch when they have more information.

A discussion took place on plans for the hot supper to be served at the Madoc Fall Fir. The executive will meet at a later date to make final plans, after the fair board has been contacted for more details on the requirements of the event.

It was announced that a bridal shower will be held in September at the W.I. Hall for Lois Moorcroft, a bride-to-be.

The program was prepared by Mrs. Diane Harrison. A contest on garden vegetables was held. First and second prizes went to Vera Burnside and Barbara Rivers.

Lunch brought the meeting to a pleasant close.

Open Letter to the Citizens of Hastings and Prince Edward Counties

Over the past ten months, certain citizens interested in the provision of health care, both from the providers' and consumers' standpoint, have been meeting as a Steering Committee at the instigation of the Ministry of Health to determine if our area would benefit from the creation of a District Health Council as has already occurred in many areas of Ontario.

As a result of our deliberations and discussions, it has been agreed that this concept should be presented to the people of Hastings & Prince Edward Counties to examine the benefits in terms of possible improvement in the expenditures of health dollars with increased input from citizens, consumers, and providers alike. The Steering Committee members are prepared to meet groups of interested citizens to discuss the implications of the formation of a District Health Council, and to receive any information or provide any information requested.

Any such requests, for information, or personnel of the Steering Committee to attend meetings, are welcome.

It is intended to call general meetings of interested persons in the Fall of 1977 to finalize the work of the Steering Committee, and to nominate, if so indicated, members of an eventual District Health Council for this area.

Please address correspondence to:

Mrs. Bonnie L. Hickson
Secretary to Steering Committee

Belleville firm receives Council grant

Mika Publishing Company of Belleville, along with 45 other Ontario publishing houses and 72 magazines have been awarded grants worth $719,097 by the Ontario Arts Council for 1977-78.

The publishing houses will receive grants ranging from $1,500 to $20,000 and totalling $390,000.

The magazines share grants totalling $329,097 scaled from $350 up to $17,250.

In addition, the Arts Council announced it will award almost $400,000 in grants to authors in the next year, through a program in which book and magazine publishers recommend talented persons to receive assistance. Last year, more than 450 writers received grants totalling more than $334,000 from the Council.

Grants to publishing houses are awarded only to Canadian-owned firms based in Ontario and engaged in a full-time program of trade publishing, including books of fiction, verse, the arts or contemporary social concerns.

The grants are decided by the Arts Council on an assessment of the publishing houses' past year's performance. Each house receives a basic "block" grant to assist in production of new books by Canadian authors, as decided by the publishers. And, in addition, each house receives a smaller "marketing" grant, to assist with special efforts to advertise and promote sales of the books.

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Members of Council, Inhabitants and Ratepayers of the Corporation of the Village of Madoc

We have examined the 1976 financial statements of the Corporation of the Village of Madoc and its local boards, which are listed on the attached Index. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Corporation of the Village of Madoc and its local boards as at December 31, 1976 and the results of their operations for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted for Ontario municipalities applied, after giving retroactive effect to the changes referred to in Note 6 to the financial statements, on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Mosport sees revival of Can-Am race

California driver Elliot Forbes-Robinson in a Lola T-333 CS screams past the grandstand on the front straight.

The action in the pits rivalled that on the track as mechanics work on the Lola T-332 CS of George Follmer of California

Quebec driver Gilles Villeneuve talks over the race with a team-mate. Villeneuve had taken a slow car and had proven competitive, only being forced to drop out because of mechanical failure. He is being called a future champion.

The view of the starting position shows part of the front straight and the pits in front of the main grandstand.

A business column by Frank Kaplan

Viewing the news

Winds of enterprise

Some healthy new winds are clearing the cobwebs of dependency on big government that have been clouding our minds.

On the surface, Canada still appears to be wrapped in an atmosphere of passing the buck in such knee-jerk reactions as government blaming business and business blaming government.

Underneath the still difficult economic circumstances, actions of individuals remind one of the survival instinct described in "The Italians", a delightfully realistic book on how people make life go on successfully through the perpetual chaos and confusion of government and society in Italy.

As we all know, and the recent statistics confirmed, unemployment is at outrageously high levels in Canada. An 8% rate seasonally adjusted for June even represents a slight increase, worsening of the job conditions at a time of the year when unemployment should be dropping.

Times are tough -- especially for the young. Through all of last year and into this year, a visitor to Canada would have concluded the nation was made up of do-nothing cry-babies, so loudly did we complain of our troubles.

Yet, and despite the worsening statistics, I sense a lessening of the bleating. I sense a different and healthier attitude that I can only explain by a true-life example of how one Canadian, acting individually, settled into a do-it-yourself effort to confound the gloom of the unemployment figures.

We've heard a lot about young university graduates driving cabs, sweeping floors and other similar jobs while bemoaning their inability to be hired for functions they consider more appropriate to their new status.

I want to tell about one young man, probably typical of the silent many, who decided if this was a time to be concerned with survival, he was going to survive very nicely, thank you.

Bob graduated last year from a big eastern university. Job and opportunity prospects were dismal. Still the want ads contained many calls for jobs that few people wanted. Inco Ltd., the biggest nickel producer in the world, was one of such advertisers always looking for people to work at its mines, especially the mines at Thompson in northern Manitoba.

The pay is excellent, starting at a floor of $6.50 plus an hour and a training program that means experience isn't necessary.

Bob applied -- and was so determined to land a job that he did not reveal his university background. On Inco records, he shows as a high school dropout. Bob's reasoning was that he would run into the nonsense about being "over-qualified".

Good health, the intelligence to work with others and some experience in handling heavy construction equipment from summer work landed Bob a job at Thompson. An Inco training school introduced him to drills, explosives, muckers and the other tools and techniques of modern, mechanized mining.

These days, with production bonus and other incentives, Bob can gross $17,000 to $18,000 a year. He lives in subsidized accommodation paying about $45 a week for both room and board.

Bob has already been promoted to a higher-paying underground spot. Another year of reasonably prudent living and he will have accumulated the money to undertake studies for a law degree.

That is, if Inco management doesn't spot his full talents first and start making him the kind of offers that open even wider opportunities than law school.

This young man is a prize for any mining company, a rare instance of practical below-ground experience (four-fifths of a mile below) and a much broader background in the humanities than received by technically-trained engineers who run such mines. Combine these characteristics and experience with an eagerness to go where the work is and personal ambition to progress higher.

If I were Inco, I'd make him an offer he couldn't refuse -- maybe pay the cost of continuing education if he undertakes to stick with the organization.

Fortunately for Canada, there are many other "Bobs".

A diamond is considered flawless if no blemishes can be detected by a trained eye using a jeweler's 10-power magnifier.

There are about 100 billion stars in our galaxy, but only 6000 of them can be seen with the naked eye.

Speed limits are in kilometres per hour. It may be easy to forget, but don't.

Too much depends on your remembering. Keep on driving as carefully as you always have in school zones, hospital zones, on ramps and curves. Even though the speed limit number is higher than you're accustomed to—remember that they indicate kilometres per hour—not miles per hour. REMEMBER—DON'T FORGET.

Actual speed limits will be established in accordance with local regulations.

Overview on profit controls

The prices and profits controls imposed by the Anti-Inflation Board may not be perfect, but they certainly have been beneficial to the Canadian economy, according to Reed Scowen, former Director General of the Prices and Profits Branch of the AIB. In mid-July he was named executive director of the new study group on national unity. Looking back over his 13 months with the Board, he comments on what has been achieved:

"I continually hear complaints about the effectiveness and the fairness of the work of the Prices and Profits Program. This seems to me quite remarkable when one considers the complexity of the program, the speed with which it was put together, and the fact that no one in Canada had ever done anything like this before. From now on, those critics who have stated that price controls have never worked will be obliged to reconsider this opinion in the light of the Canadian experience.

The Prices and Profits Program is only part of a greater whole. The AIB compensation program is of great importance, which the prices and profits program must re-enforce and complement. Canadians are being asked to accept real restraint on the rate of growth in their incomes. In order to make this acceptable, they must believe at the same time that something is being done about the cost of living. Without this, public support for the compensation program and for the AIB will disappear.

This is an emergency program. The AIB is working on a project of immediate and vital national concern which has the highest priority. Sometimes choices must be made between desirable objectives and generally the AIB must choose the path which serves the overall objectives of the program.

The program is a net margin system employing a profit test as the basis for price control. This system (like any other which could be imagined) has weaknesses and leads to some inequalities.

The AIB must try with good judgement to face the difficult choices between reasonableness and consistency in the problems which are presented. Every case is a 'Special Case'. To deny all exceptions is to carry consistency to extremes which could permanently damage some firms and discredit the work of the Board.

Deflation Citation

The 35,000 construction workers in Alberta and Manitoba have earned a Deflation Citation for their contribution toward building an inflation-free economy with their latest compensation agreements. A total of 36 groups covering almost all the construction trades in both provinces has settled for increases of about six per cent in one year agreements. These settlements, ending in March or April next year, are all within the arithmetic guidelines of the Anti-Inflation Board.

There were no work stoppages during the negotiations with employer groups such as the Winnipeg Builders Exchange and the Alberta Construction Labour Relations Associations. The chairman of the AIB, Harold Renouf, has commended the workers and employers for keeping increases within the spirit of the restraint program.

MANAGING YOUR MONEY

Using Money And Credit Wisely And Well

It makes sound financial sense never to allow the amount of money you owe on a car loan, department store accounts, charge cards and personal loans to add up to more than 20 percent of your total take-home pay.

Few people realize how easy it can be to get a credit card. Regardless of your sex, marital status, race, color, religion, national origin or age, you qualify for a Master Charge credit card if you have a sufficiently steady income and are known to be able to repay.

Always tell a credit card issuer if you have not received a renewal card by the expiration date of your present card.

The average baby gets his first tooth at about seven months of age, but he has been teething for three or four months.

The longest cave in the world is in Kentucky. It is the Flint-Mammoth cave system, 144 miles long.

MEMORIAMs

COOK - In loving memory of a dear father & grandfather, Howard, who passed away Aug. 24, 1975. The blow was great, the shock severe. We little thought the end was near. And only those who have lost can tell. The pain of parting without farewell. Friends may think the wound is healed. But they little know the sorrow. That lies within our hearts concealed. Always remembered by Wayne, Linda & children. 11

DEADLINE - News, display ads, classified ads - 11 a.m. Mondays.

NICKLE - In loving memory of our father who passed away Aug. 23, 1972. Gone are the days we used to share. But in our hearts you are always there. The gate of memory will never close. We miss you more than anyone knows. Ever remembered by son & daughter-in-law, Grant & Nettie. 11

NOBES - In loving memory of a dear father & grandfather, Samuel Nobes, who passed away Aug. 21, 1960. In our hearts your memory lingers. Always tender, fond & true. There's not a day, dear Father, We do not think of you. Ever remembered by son Lorne and daughter-in-law Maureen & grandchildren. 11

PARKS - In loving memory of Phyllis Joyce, a dear mother, who passed away Aug. 26, 1970. We are thinking of you today. But that is nothing new. We thought about you yesterday. And the day before that too. We shall think of you tomorrow. And each day throughout the years. Though absent, you are ever near. Still loved, still missed & very dear. Cheryl, Donna, Marlene, Janine, Bonny, Johnny & Larry. 11

ROBINSON - In loving memory of Frank Robinson who passed away Aug. 28, 1973. Sadly missed along life's way. Quietly remembered every day. No longer in our lives to share. But in our hearts he's always there. Lovingly remembered by Irene & family. 11

ROUSHORN - In loving memory of Lena Roushorn, who passed away Aug. 24, 1973. A little tribute small but tender. Just to say we still remember. Always loved and missed by children and grandchildren. 11

GREAT SCOT!
By Jack House, The Director Teacher's Scotch Information Centre

GETTING THE CLAN TOGETHER

If you want to gather your clan today, you phone around your friends. In the days of the real Scottish Clans, you sent out the Fiery Cross.

That's to say, if you were Chief of the Clan. The Chief was the only man entitled to send the Fiery Cross out and, once he had decided, a relay of swift-footed messengers carried as many Fiery Crosses as were needed round the whole Clan territory.

When a Clansman saw the Fiery Cross he was in honor bound to rally to his Chief, prepared for battle. The usual reason for sending it out was a pending battle between two Clans, though sometimes it was to repel Sassenachs (foreigners) who had invaded the Clan territory.

Pictures of the carrying of the Fiery Cross are very dramatic, and always show a wild-eyed, short-kilted Highlander bounding over the heather or down the mountainside with a flaming cross above his head.

But the Fiery Cross didn't blaze at all. Teacher's Scotch Information Centre can tell you that the Fiery Cross ceremony consisted of the Chief of the Clan taking a cross made of wood, searing the ends of it in a fire, and then dipping it into the blood of a goat which the Chief himself had killed.

So, by the time the fleet-footed clansmen had reached even the nearest Clan settlement, the Fiery Cross was no longer aflame.

But it lit a torch in the hearts of the Clansmen and they gathered their battle gear, said goodbye to their wives, and ran to the aid of the Chief.

Clothing dollars stretching further

Of every $100 consumers spent in 1971, $11.25 went for family clothing. Today however, only $9.80 of every $100 consumer dollars spent is needed to buy the same clothing.

Small is beautiful in the clothing department, especially on the price tag. Shoppers seem under the impression that clothing is doing more than its share to squeeze the family budget. However, relative to the rise in wages, the clothing dollar actually has one-third more purchasing power than in 1971, according to the monthly Consumer Price Index (CPI).

There are more than 3000 companies in the "needle trade", most of them too small to be monitored by the Anti-Inflation Board. For these companies, competition provides some control. The profit margins and employees wages of larger companies (who employ more than 500) are monitored, but the Board allows them to pass along increased costs of manufacturing and wages to the retailer.

Retailer's costs are also on the rise. The larger chain stores underwent a period of rapid expansion from 1972 to 1975. This growth has slowed to some extent and efficiency is increasing. Most of the major retailers have seen their sales rising, but after-tax profits shrinking. The higher costs of doing business are all reflected in the price of your tee shirt and jeans. Higher costs such as energy to heat and light stores, construction costs of new facilities, wages of sales and other staff, increasing taxes on property, and the higher cost of carrying inventory, all add to the price the consumer pays.

In future, large retailers may have to make some choices in order to hold down prices. One possibility is reducing, or charging for such services as alterations, baby-sitting and delivery. The rising costs of fuel, vehicle maintenance, and driver's salaries make delivery of all but the larger items a luxury we may no longer be able to afford. The consumer pays for these services.

Large retailers frequently place special orders for clothing with overseas manufacturers. The costs of production are less, and the retailer can sell for a lower markup due to the large volume of purchase. Imports are a mixed blessing for the consumer, however. The price is lower, but garments created overseas don't put Canadians to

Domestic clothing manufacturers who sell styles with their own label also produce house brands for large retailers. Shoppers should keep in mind that these "house brand" garments are generally cheaper than national brands and the retailer sets standards for quality and style.

Smaller business can keep costs down by buying from jobbers, or wholesalers, who import garments in large quantities. Since many stores may buy from the same wholesaler, the same dress could appear in neighboring shops. The owners will have to price the merchandise very carefully in order not to lose sales to their competition.

One cost can be attributed to neither manufacturer nor retailer. A store must calculate losses from shoplifting in its markups and this too finds its way onto the price tag.

In 1836 there was a surplus in the United States Treasury of over $28 million!

OTTAWA and Small Business

An Academic Thinks Small

by JIM SMITH

In 1846, a fellow named Abraham Gesner developed a new fuel. He called it kerosene oil. Abraham Gesner, incidentally, lived and worked in Prince Edward Island.

In 1869, someone named George Desbarats developed the world's first half-tone method of reproducing photographs. George Desbarats, as it happened, lived and worked in Montreal.

In 1951, a Dr. Harold Johns developed the cobalt bomb method of treating cancer. Dr. Johns lived and worked in Saskatoon.

Gesner, Desbarats, and Johns were all social giants. Yet they represent only a small portion of the many Canadian entrepreneurs who have changed the world. Typically, they were small, independent businessmen.

Most of our great achievers have been independent businessmen. They worked without adequate funding or official encouragement. They turned out everything from Pabulum to snowmobiles under difficult conditions while big business was importing ideas from abroad.

Dr. Rein Peterson, a professor at Toronto's York University, is one of the first scholars to delve into the small business community. Peterson has travelled through Europe and Asia and from one end of Canada to the other during the past year. By now, he knows as much about Canadian business as any academic in the world.

Peterson's experiences and insights are now available in a newly released book titled "Small Business: Building A Balanced Economy". His conclusions are disturbing.

Advice On Radio Receivers
For Quality And Economy

Trust your ears. Don't be afraid to readjust your tone controls when listening to your FM radio. This is sometimes necessary to compensate for the vagaries of different records being played on the station you may be listening to.

Watch out for the numbers game. A stereo receiver may be advertised as having 100 watts of peak power yet only deliver 2 or 3 watts per channel. The experts at the Electronic Industries Association point out that the only meaningful power output rating is continuous power output per channel!

If you're shopping for a receiver and are unsure about power ratings or other technical specifications, discuss it with a knowledgeable and reputable dealer. Most of the people you will come into contact with love audio and will be only too happy to talk about or demonstrate any piece of equipment in their store.

Ontario's Peach Crop Is Here

The Ontario fresh peach crop is good this year. The peaches not only taste great, there are lots of them. Lots to eat fresh - lots to preserve.

The best peaches for preserving, according to food specialists at the Ontario Food Council, are the various freestone varieties. This year they'll be on the market from about August 8 to mid-September. Freestone peaches vary in color according to the variety. Some are golden, like the Golden Jubilee which will be plentiful this year. They are a flavorful peach, excellent for freezing and canning. Others are rosy red like the popular Redhaven and are also excellent for preserving.

How Do You Recognize A Ripe Peach?

Don't judge a peach by its blush. The way to determine if a peach is ripe is to check the ground color. With a Golden Jubilee it's easy. Check the color of the peach at the stem end. If it's golden, the peach is ripe. If it's green it isn't ripe. For a rosy peach, check for a yellow color behind the blush at the stem end just as you would for a Golden Jubilee.

Freezing Peaches?

Pick Your Method

If you want frozen peaches for pies or desserts use the dry sugar pack. Work with small batches, no more than 4 cups of peaches at a time.

Peel, then slice 4 cups of peaches into a bowl. Dissolve ¼ teaspoon of ascorbic acid in ¼ cup of cold water. Add to peaches. Toss. Measure ½ cup of sugar. Add to peaches. Toss gently, but thoroughly until the sugar is dissolved. Put the peaches in plastic freezer bags or freezer containers. Label the packages. Freeze immediately.

For a dessert on its own, freeze peaches in cold syrup. Dissolve 2 cups of sugar in 3 cups of water.

In this amount of cold syrup (4 cups) dissolve ¼ teaspoon of ascorbic acid. Then peel and slice the peaches into freezer containers. Pour the syrup over the peaches covering them completely. Leave 1-inch headspace. Seal the containers, label, freeze immediately.

Both of these procedures are easy. So freeze some beautiful Ontario peaches each way. Just think of how good they'll taste in February.

Prepare now. Buy lots of fresh Ontario peaches

4-H members going on field tour

4-H members will be participating in a field tour to the Pontypool area to view potato, corn and potato farms.

The first stop will be at the farm of Leonard and Roger Porter of RR1 Pontypool. This family farm grows 50 acres of potatoes for the local market. The Porters have their own packaging and storage facilities. They also have purebred Jersey herd.

After lunch, the farm of Ken Porter will be visited. Ken grows over 100 acres of potatoes, with the majority of them for seed. Registered seed grains and Hereford cows are also kept.

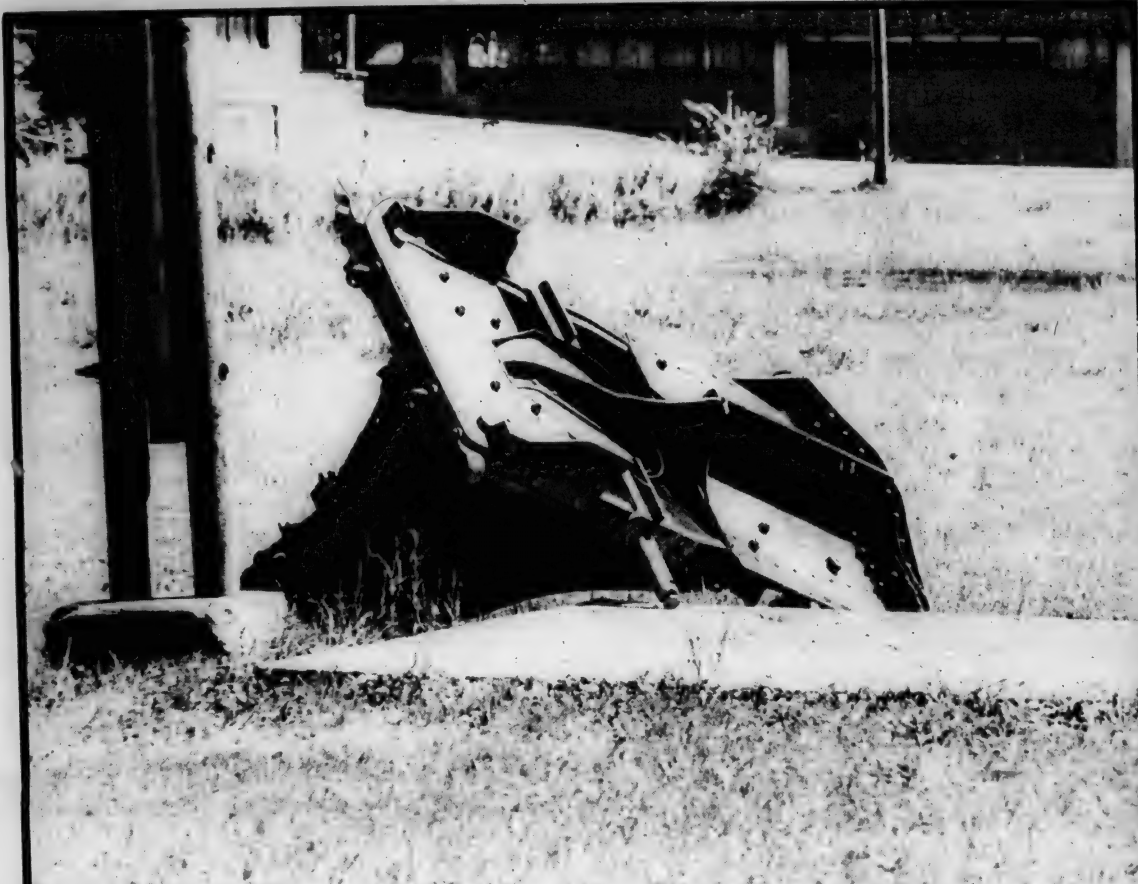

The final stop will be at the tobacco farm of Jim Fajt. They grow between 40 and 60 acres of tobacco annually, with corn as a cash crop.

The day should prove to be interesting and informative to the 4-H members attending.

Soil samples

If you are concerned about the longtime survival of your alfalfa fields or want to know what fertilizer your winter wheat fields will be requiring, now is the time for taking soil samples. Taking the samples now will ensure that the results are in your hands with lots of time for you to make decisions.

The Ministry of Agriculture and Food office in Stirling or Bancroft can supply you with the sample boxes and forms needed, upon request. All you need is a shovel and a pail. Mail the sample to Guelph, with the only cost to you being the postage - BUT DO IT NOW.

Vandalism appears to be on the rise in and around Madoc, with several people reporting acts such as the killing of pet cats and dogs, the tearing up of newly planted trees and bushes, and other senseless crimes. Recently the canon in the Memorial park beside the Kiwanis Centre was overturned by vandals.

Ken Andrews, advertising manager of the Madoc Review, accepts a citation on behalf of the newspaper from Rob Allison of the Canada Student Manpower Centre in Belleville. The award was given to the paper in recognition of coverage given to the student employment project launched in Madoc this summer by the Canada Manpower Centre.

No relaxation of regulations

TORONTO - Agriculture and Food Minister Bill Newman announced today that there will be no relaxation of regulations governing the health standards of industrial milk under the can-to-bulk conversion program.

Mr. Newman said he has had discussions with the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, the Ontario Dairy Council and producers over the last few weeks after receiving requests from a number of producer groups for exemptions from the conversion.

"My first concern has to be with health standards and the quality of milk," Mr. Newman said. "At the same time, we cannot legislate producers of quality milk out of business."

For producers who do not wish to convert to bulk tanks on their farms, there are two alternatives, the minister said. Producers can farm-separate cream or they can combine in groups to establish communal bulk tanks off the farm, subject to stringent quality control.

"I have just received assurances from the OMMB and the ODC of a virtually guaranteed market for all farmers who wish to produce cream," Mr. Newman said. "This will ensure that all producers will have some form of market for their milk."

The requirements for communal bulk tanks will be the same as for individual on-farm bulk tanks, and farmers using the communal tanks will be required to maintain their on-farm facilities at standards similar to those established for bulk shippers.

Mr. Newman said, "These measures will ensure that high quality milk standards will be maintained and that no one has to go out of milk production when the bulk shipment rules come into effect."

"There will be no more milk cans going into any plants when the new regulations come into effect," Mr. Newman said.

As more and more people collect Nippon, there are more questions concerning this beautiful china. Who produced it? Is it all hand painted? The items were made in it?

The name Nippon is simply the name of the country of origin. Before 1891 Japan was known as Nippon. Hence the name has nothing to do with the name of the maker. Large amounts were produced for export to the Western World to compete with R.S. Prussia, R.S. Germany, Limoge, etc. For the first time the Japanese began to use western themes for decorating. Being good business people, they made it their business to determine what was pleasing to the taste of the West. Nippon china is decorated with flowers, scenes, etc. in an effort to duplicate R.S. Prussia that was so popular at that time.

Not all Nippon used a western theme. There is some to be found that has oriental themes. Today it is highly prized by the collector and commands a high price. Many people build beautiful collections of nothing but pieces with oriental themes.

Someone asked how many patterns are to be found in Nippon. It would be as easy to answer how many stars are there in the sky. The possibilities of patterns are unlimited. Sometimes there are variations of patterns in the same set. Not long ago a creamer and sugar was on display at an antique show. They were painted with a sea scape in the finest tradition of Nippon. Together they were obviously a pair, but had they been separated they would have been seen as two different patterns. Many times the gravy boat and tray together complete a scene, but each is a complete pattern in its own right.

Evidently Nippon was made in anything that could be thought of. Although it is very difficult to find a complete table setting, they were made. One Los Angeles importer listed a complete table service in 270 pieces. Unfortunately for us, he did not list what the service consisted of.

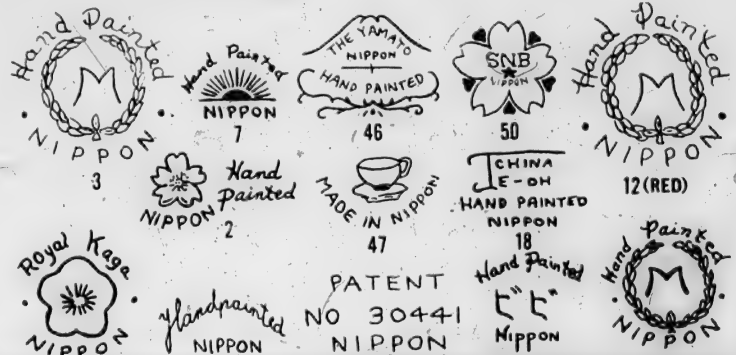

Many collectors find the marks used on Nippon confusing. There are almost as many different marks as pieces. There is still no explanation for all these many marks. It is believed by the majority of collectors that the different marks probably represents the family that painted the china.

Almost all Japanese industry was home industry during the time that Nippon was produced. A company or companies would make the blanks and distribute them to the various worker families to paint. Many time each member of the family would be involved in the painting. This fact has been offered as an explanation for the variations in the same pattern. All was free-hand work; no stencil was used. If son's flower petals were not quite as round as father's, we have a variant.

Evidently families were given complete freedom in artistic expression. It would appear that some families painted the same pattern over and over while others changed constantly trying to find new and different themes to use for expression.

Collectors are finding it more and more difficult to buy Nippon today. The prices have tripped during the past three years.

Nobes - Falls Wedding.

The Marmora Free Methodist Church was the setting for the pretty summer wedding of Judith Doreen Nobes of Marmora to Douglas Reginald Falls of Marmora, on Sat., July 16.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nobes of Marmora, and the groom is the son of the late Mr. Joseph Falls and Reta Falls of Marmora.

Rev. Gerald Kemp performed the double-ring ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Helen Mawer and soloist was Mrs. Clara Walker.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of nylon organza over taffeta. The empire waisted bodice featured a v-type neckline with long sheer sleeves and deep buttoned cuff. The overall bodice and sleeves were accented with Guipede lace. Her gown had a full length bouffant skirt with attached train. She wore a floor length two tier nylon lace edge veil caught at the crown type headpiece of lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of yellow roses and white daisies.

Matron of honor, Mary Ross, Madoc, friend of the bride, and bridesmaids Carolyn Jennings, Simcoe, sister of the groom and Sharon Phillips, Marmora, cousin of the bride, all wore similar gowns of turquoise nylon sheer over taffeta. Their gowns had a high neck line, long sheer sleeves, buttoned cuffs and front and back bodice featured lace inserts. The full length skirt had a ten inch flounce at the hemline. All wore matching turquoise picture hats and carried nosegays of pink roses and white and yellow daisies.

The flower girl was Tammy Falls, Marmora, niece of the groom. She wore a floor length turquoise flocked organza dress with short sleeves and a flounce at the hemline. She wore turquoise colored flowers in her hair and carried a white basket of white and yellow daisies, pink roses and baby's breath.

Best man was Allan Fluke, Thompson, Manitoba, friend of the groom, and cousin of the bride, and ushers were Richard Falls, Marmora, brother of the groom and Eugene Nobes, Edmonton, Alberta, brother of the bride.

Ring bearer was Cory Jennings, nephew of the groom.

All male attendants wore tuxedos of white jackets with black trimmed collar and lapels, white ruffled shirts trimmed with black, black bow ties and trousers. The groom wore a boutonniere of yellow roses to match the bride's bouquet and the attendants wore boutonnières of white carnations.

The soloist sang "The Wedding", as the bride and her father walked down the aisle towards the altar.

While the couple were signing the register, the soloist also sang "O Perfect Love".

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Marmora Legion hall. Receiving the guests, the bride's mother wore a full length pink gown of Antron nylon covered with a pink flowered nylon duster. She wore white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The groom's mother chose a pale blue flocked nylon over taffeta gown with a matching coat. She also wore a corsage of white carnations.

Eugene Nobes, brother of the bride, was master of ceremonies.

A wedding dance followed with many friends of the bride and groom attending.

The happy couple are now residing at 68 Murray St., Peterborough.

Out-of-town guests were from Cordova, Deloro, Bonarlaw, Millbrook, Peterborough, Oshawa, Kingston, Omamee, Warkworth, Trent Bridge, Thompson, Man.; Edmonton, Alta.; and Pulaski, N.Y.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was given showers by Carolyn Jennings at Marmora; Mary Ross and Clara Walker, at Marmora, and Irene Jennings in Peterborough.

Also, a dinner was given to the bride, in her honor, by the employees at the County Court House in Peterborough where she is employed.

Sweet corn cannery waste

by Carol Murphy

Many farmers in the Quinte area are taking advantage of the opportunity of purchasing sweet corn cannery waste. This is composed of the husks, cobs and immature kernels of sweet corn. This material is fibrous and will contain pieces up to six inches in length.

Traditionally cannery waste has been utilized in beef cattle rations. It can represent an economical source of feed, however the moisture content is high, which reduces the dry matter intake of the animal. There is also considerable seepage from the wastes, which makes it difficult to handle.

On an as fed basis, cannery waste will contain 2 percent protein, and approximately 13 percent total digestible nutrients. The moisture content will be about 80 percent.

Sweet corn cannery wastes will store well in a pile on a concrete pad, or in a horizontal silo with a concrete floor. Another alternative is to locate the silo on the side of a hill. Earthen banks will be satisfactory in clay soils, but a concrete floor should be installed to make removal by tractor easier.

Tower silos are not recommended because of the high moisture content.

Vegetable processing wastes can make useful feeds for beef cattle. The moisture contents are very high and adjustments to the ration may be required.

The Annual Municipal Enumeration Starts Next Week

The annual municipal enumeration will begin on Tuesday, September 6, 1977. During this month, an enumerator, carrying a proper identification card, will call at your residence for a few minutes to check basic information required in determining:

- the allocation of education property taxes between the public and separate school systems;
- the distribution of provincial grants to local governments to help reduce local tax bills;
- the preparation of jurors' lists; and
- population information needed for other municipal programs.

The enumerator must record such information as the name, age, property status (e.g. owner or tenant), school support and residency of all members of the household.

When the enumerator visits, please check that the information on the Enumeration Notice is correct. If it is not, revise it and verify the changes.

If you are not home, a Notice will be left for you. If changes are necessary, please make them and mail the Enumeration Notice, as soon as possible, in the self addressed postage prepaid envelope accompanying the Notice. For any additional information, please contact the local assessment office.

Held in Hastings
The Anglican Church Women of Hastings sponsored their third annual Arts, Crafts and Antiques Show and Sale in the Hastings arena on Saturday. The day-long event saw over 30 booths offering every kind of art and craft, ranging from toys to irons. This is the third show in four years, last year's having to be cancelled because of the demolition of the arena. The ACW themselves had their usual table in the arena. Another village entry was the Conqueror Worm Gallery. Other entries ranged from Renfrew to Buckhorn. A percentage of each table's take from the day, to a maximum of $10, is retained by the ACW for their projects.

A highlight of the arts and crafts show was a table filled with irons, most of them over 100 years old. The display, owned by Eric Watson of Renfrew, was part of a collection of more than 300 that took over 17 years to assemble.

Norma Miller and Jane Yoder, both from Ohio, found plenty to keep their attention at a table of homemade toys brought to the Anglican Church Women's antique show and sale on Saturday by Lloyd and Lucy Bailey of Buckhorn.

pinch pottery. The show featured all varieties of arts and crafts.

WOMEN on Wheels

HELPFUL SAFETY HINTS

By Carol Torres

I'm often asked by my cycling friends, "Will I be able to carry passengers on my motorcycle?"

I always point out that carrying friends on your motorcycle means you must make special considerations.

First, be sure that you have plenty of riding experience before you carry a passenger, and make sure your Carol Torres cycle is designed to carry that extra rider. It should be equipped with a saddle and footpegs for two people.

Your passenger should wear a helmet and face shield, or goggles. Check your passenger's clothing carefully before riding. Loose clothing (such as shoelaces and pant legs), can become tangled in the spokes.

Never allow the passenger to ride side-saddle. Your friend should always ride behind you and should hold firmly and securely onto your waist or midsection, keeping his or her feet on the passenger footpegs at all times.

Instruct your passenger to lean with you when turning, not against you. Caution your passenger not to lean except when you do. Know how to compensate when the passenger leans the wrong way.

Remember to ride at slower speeds, and give yourself extra time and distance to slow down and stop—added weight means longer stopping distances.

THE TRUTH ABOUT BREAST CANCER

About 5 o/o, or one in twenty women will develop breast cancer during her life time. Breast cancer is the most common type of cancer in women. It is less likely to occur in women who have been married and who have had, presumably more sexual activity. It is less common in women who have had children and those who have breast fed their children. Women who have no relatives with breast cancer and women who have no other types of breast disease are also less likely to have breast cancer.

Keep in mind that these statistics refer only to populations and not to specific individuals. Some women have breast cancer despite all of these factors in their favor and most women do not develop any abnormalities despite an apparently strong predilection.

The recent flurry of controversy and publicity surrounding breast cancer accentuates, regrettably, much of what we don't know about it, how best to detect it early, and which of a number of treatments is best.

Ninety-five percent of all breast cancers are found by women examining themselves. Only about 5 o/o go unnoticed until the doctor finds a suspicious lump on a routine examination. With more vigorous screening procedures and self-examination, breast lumps can be found sooner, and cancer, if it is present in the lump, can be detected earlier.

In breast clinics where large numbers of women are carefully screened, suspicious lumps are found in about 4 o/o of all women tested; about 1/4 of these lumps, in about 1 o/o of women entering the clinic, will be cancerous.

Most of these lumps which turn out to be cancerous will not have spread at the time of removal; that is the lymph nodes beneath the arm will be normal, and 85 o/o of the women with no evidence of spread to the lymph nodes will be alive in 5 years. In contrast, women who do not have the early screening procedures and who have the lump detected only when the cancer becomes too big to ignore will have evidence of spread in 60 o/o of the cases and less than 40 o/o will be alive in 5 years.

The statistics are alarming and make a convincing case for early screening and regular meticulous self examination. Careless women will wait, discover the lump only when it becomes large and hard to ignore and has probably spread, and when most of the miracles of modern medicine have less of an effect on the course of the cancer.

So much for what is known. Much of the rest is still controversial. Simply stated, it appears that with few exceptions life expectancy after discovery of the tumor does not depend upon the type of treatment, assuming the cancerous lump itself is removed.

Once the lump is gone, what happens appears to go on its inexorable course regardless of how much of the breast, the muscles beneath the breast or the lymph nodes under the arm are removed. The recent preliminary studies suggest that if cancer is present, the radical mastectomy (removal of the breast, the underlying muscles and the lymph nodes beneath the arm) is no better than a simple mastectomy (removal of the breast alone) regardless of what other treatment is given.

But the conclusions are not as simple or as unequivocal as these observations imply. These results are preliminary. Most surgeons still recommend a radical mastectomy, the Canadian Cancer Society still recommends it and the case is strong for error on the side of doing too much surgery rather than not enough. There will be much careful analysis, ambiguity, indecision and hand-wringing before there is some uniformity in conclusions and recommendations.

Meanwhile, we need not be too pessimistic. There is much in the way of hope and real progress, and the understanding of the disease should be more complete in a few years. A very interesting approach suggests that simply removing the lump alone with some of the surrounding tissue, cosmetically the least disfiguring operation, may be just as good as a simple mastectomy. Very encouraging results are reported with the use of anti-cancer drugs and radiation therapy, particularly in pre-menopausal women in whom the disease has already spread to the lymph nodes. Most encouraging of all is the development of good diagnostic tests which are simple, uncomplicated, painless and inexpensive and which will probably make it possible to detect the cancer before it has spread, when it can be removed safely and simply.

Peach Ice Takes The Sizzle Out Of Summer

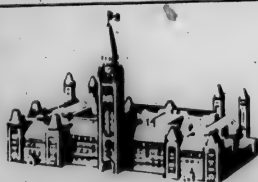

Catch the flavor of summer in frosty fruit desserts. Since corn syrup helps prevent sugar crystals from forming during freezer storage, desserts like this Peach Ice can be made ahead, stored in the freezer and enjoyed at the end of a light summer supper.

PEACH ICE

- 1/2 cup water
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 4 cups peeled, pitted, ripe peaches (about 2 lbs)
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 1/2 cups Karo light corn syrup

In small saucepan sprinkle gelatin over water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves. Place half of peaches and lemon juice in blender container; cover. Blend at high speed 1 minute or until liquefied. Add remaining peaches 1 at a time continuously blending until all are liquefied. With blender at low speed gradually add gelatin mixture and corn syrup until blended. Pour into 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Freeze 1 to 2 hours or until almost firm. Beat until smooth but still frozen. Cover and freeze 3 hours, or until firm. Makes 1 1/2 quarts.

OTTAWA and Small Business

Official Suicide

by JIM SMITH

Someday, somehow, the technicians of this world will devise a marvellous machine which will be so important that the rest of the world will be utterly unable to function without that machine.

The machine will be so efficiently designed that it will require only one human operator. Moreover, the operator will require absolutely no skills; any one of the billions of humans will be able to master the machine within a matter of seconds.

Then the politicians will get into the act, granting the operator the right to strike. The unions will insist on — and get — exclusive operating rights for that one individual. So, if the operator isn't happy with his working conditions, the entire world will grind to a halt.

Crazy? Of course. Impossible? Not at all; in fact, something similar has happened to our public services in the past decade. The air traffic controllers grounded the entire country — including hundreds of thousands of travellers and fantastic amounts of business mail. Even that is of little importance compared to what the inside postal workers are planning for Christmas.

There's incipient idiocy in our labour laws. Any block of workers, given responsibility for a function with enough economic or safety importance, can cripple the nation. In return for sacrificing a couple of weeks' pay, the postal workers can bring the economy to its knees.

This isn't to say that the workers' case is unjustified. However, there are options for seeing justice done — options which do not cost the workers lost wages or the economy lost opportunities. The most popular of the alternative suggestions has long been some form of arbitration with settlements related to private sector wage hikes.

For several years, the Canadian Federation of Independent Business, armed with a poll showing support by more than 90 per cent of its membership, has been urging the government to outlaw strikes in essential public services. The Federation believes that some form of arbitration is far more practical for all concerned. There is, in fact, justification for the belief that much of our labour strife exists because there is an institutional basis — the excessive power of public sector unions — for it to exist.

Unfortunately, the federal government has failed to recognize the common sense of eliminating essential service strikes. Labour Minister John Munro is on record as opposing removal of strike rights. The government may be in tune with the labour movement — but it doesn't appreciate the feelings of the vast majority of Canadians who are innocent victims in any disputes.

Surely the government has better things to do than to officially sanction Canada's economic suicide.

Hints For Homeowners

YOU CAN PREVENT RUST on your lawnmower.

Is your old lawnmower still trusty—or rusty? Now might be a good time to check to see that the blades aren't sticking, the pull starter is pulling and the wheels are rolling right.

cut trying to jar things loose.

Instead, spray with a multi-purpose lubricant and rust remover. One that cleans and lubricates at the same time, comes in a non-fluorocarbon aerosol spray that can be used for just about anything around the house, from lawnmowers to bicycles to zippers. A product of CRC Chemicals USA, it's called CRC spray. It can help the pull starter glide smoothly, keep the wheels turning without a squeak, unstick the blades and provide protection from rust caused by moisture. It might be a good idea to spray your mower before you put it away and after you take it out each season, as well as whenever it needs lubrication during the season. The best maintenance program is one that works toward preventing problems.

Beginning September 6, 1977 all Ontario speed and distance signs will go metric.

This is how to learn the system.

Speed signs

Distance sign (changeover already in effect)

It's a very easy system, and most countries around the world already use it. Ontario and other provinces are adopting it under a Canada-wide plan approved by Metric Commission Canada.

Speed limits are measured in kilometres per hour (km/h). Distances are measured in kilometres (km) and metres (m).

One metre is approximately the length of a long stride. One kilometre is 1000 metres or 5/8 mile (0.625). (One mile = 1.6 km)

An easy way to familiarize yourself with kilometres is to consider the time factors involved—for example, 80 km (50 miles) would take about 1 hour to drive at a speed of 80 km/h (50 mph).

Study the signs shown here and you'll get the picture quickly.

To learn the system faster, "think metric"—don't convert back to the old Imperial unit of miles. And to measure your gas consumption in kilometres per gallon, divide the number of kilometres travelled by the number of gallons used.

Dairy farmers get price increase Sept. 16

TORONTO - Ontario dairy farmers are to receive a price increase of just over three per cent or 42 cents per hundredweight for the milk they produce for table use, effective Sept. 16.

In announcing the increase, the Chairman of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, Kenneth G. McKinnon, stated that for several years the Board has determined the price to its producers for raw milk by using an economic formula as a guide.

"Recent available information," he said, "indicates that milk producers' incomes are lagging and they require an immediate but modest increase to help offset their cost increases."

Hastings area ball

NORWOOD - Hastings District Ball League started the playoffs Mon. Aug. 22 at the Norwood ball park. Havelock defeated Norwood 13-8 and Havelock defeated Norwood P.B.H. 9-8; Norwood on A.A. Wed. Aug. 24 defeated McCraes Juv. 15-0 and Hastings defeated Westwood 14-0. On Fri., Aug. 26 Hastings defeated Westwood 4-3 and Norwood P.B.H. defeated Havelock 10-8. On Sun., Aug. 18 McCraes Juv. defeated Norwood A.A. 6-5.

Play-offs continued on Monday with Norwood P.B.H. and Havelock an, in the Hastings park, Roseneath vs Hastings.

Mr. McKinnon noted certain increases in the cost of producing milk since the last increase to dairy farmers on April 1 of this year.

"Since April," he said, "significant increases have occurred in the cost of electricity and fuel, both commodities used extensively on dairy farms. In addition, equipment and repairs, labor, feed costs and property taxes have been increasing."

The increase in the producer price is in compliance with the Anti-Inflation Board guidelines.

Mr. McKinnon also pointed out that the Board is always concerned with the maintenance of an adequate supply of milk for the consuming public.

"The new price levels," he said, "should guarantee consumers adequate milk supplies for the months ahead and the low level of the increase was only possible because of the good job that producers are doing in managing their farms."

As there is no government regulation controlling the level of the consumer price for milk, the amount of the increase at retail outlets is dependent on the forces of competition.

"For this reason," Mr. McKinnon concluded, "we do not know what the final consumer price increase will be."

The 42 cents increase per hundredweight (38.7 quarts) raises the farm price for raw milk in Southern Ontario from $12.61 per hundredweight to $13.03 per hundredweight and in Northern Ontario, from $13.18 to $13.60 per hundredweight.

Eight Canadian police officers are being honored with gold medals by the Canadian Bankers' Association for their outstanding actions in combatting crimes against banks.

Three of the others are from Quebec and one from British Columbia. The incidents for which they are being honored cover a range of outstanding police action including several in which gunfire was exchanged; officers confronting armed suspects holding hostages — in one case 15 men and women — and police officers in hand-to-hand encounters with robbers.

The Canadian Banks' Law Enforcement Award, consisting of a gold medal and a framed citation, was established by the CBA in 1971 to recognize outstanding police action in bank-related crimes and devotion to duty, and is presented during the annual conferences of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police. Sixty-four officers have been honored so far, two of them posthumously.

Constable Brand struggled with an armed suspect in a Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branch in Toronto in March, eventually wounding and arresting him. S. Sgts. Donaldson and Peel were largely responsible for the surrender of an armed suspect who held 15 men and women hostages during a 12-hour siege at the downtown Toronto office of Bank Canadian National in March.

Constable Flynn captured an armed extortionist who had taken hostage the wife of a Toronto Dominion Bank branch manager in Omemee in May. The bandit was about to enter a car with both the manager and his wife when Flynn, armed with a riot gun, surprised and captured him.

By September, most of the road signs in the country will be changed from miles per hour to kilometres per hour.

It's the next step in Canada's gradual conversion to metric measurement which began in 1971 and should be completed by 1980.

the road sign changeover will see 30 mph replaced by 50 km-h and 60 mph by 100 km-h. School zone signs will dictate a 25 km-h speed limit, instead of the present 20 mph. The speeds will be about the same as they are now, only the symbols will be different.

Tired, after touring all that magnificence they can stop for a cold soft drink — a refreshing 300 ml of pop.

In Quebec one would simply not think of having a meal without a good bottle of wine which will now contain 700 ml of vintage liquid to complement the Chateaubriand for two.

While in Toronto, one might experience a heat wave with temperatures around 25 degrees Celsius or the high 80's in Fahrenheit. The heat won't bother anyone visiting the world-famous CN Tower. At 544m, there is a beautiful breeze to accompany the panoramic view at the metropolitan centre.

The Byward Market located in Ottawa, provides an excellent opportunity for tourists and local residents to test their metric knowledge as they price fruit and vegetables in grams and kilograms.

Fishing for bluefin tuna in the Atlantic Provinces will be fun when the catch is measured in metric units. The metric system gives you a choice. If you want to impress friends tell them your fish is 213.36 cm.
